BLUNDER MAY VOID LATEST EXPULSION OF THE SOCIALISTS

They Took Oath of Office Without Presenting Required Certificates of Election.

STATUS OF ALL IN DOUBT

Some Legal Authorities Hold Expelled Assemblymen May Again Demand Their Seats.

RESIGNATIONS NOT FINAL

Orr and De Witt to Follow Voters' Desire—Hughes Calls Expulsion Essence of Sovietism.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Sept. 22.—Some lawyers here believe that the action yesterday of the Assembly in expelling the three Socialists Waldman, Claessens and Solomon is not binding and that the question of the right of these Assemblymen to sit, in the extraordinary session, at least, may again confront the Assembly before it adjourns the present session. It was learned today that Speaker Sweet and other legislative leaders feel sufficient apprehension with regard to the situation to have sought legal advice which would make clear the status of the three expelled Socialists and of the other two, Orr and DeWitt, who resigned after their comrades had been ousted although their right to their seats had been sustained by vote of the Assembly. What they learned has convinced Speaker Sweet and his lieutenants that the Socialists are in a position to make more trouble if they so desire.

This uncertainty which has arisen to complicate the extra session is due to the fact that the five Socialists were permitted to take their oath of office before Secretary of State Hugo without presenting certificates of election to establish legally their status as Assemblymen-elect. No opinion could be obtained from the Attorney General's office in the absence of Attorney General Newton, who had gone to Syracuse to attend the ceremonies tonight at which ex-Judge Nathan L. Miller and other Republican candidates—of whom the Attorney General is one—are to be formally notified of their nominations. A legal authority, occupying an official position at Albany, who has given some study to the subject volunteered the opinion, however, that whether what the Assembly had done, in relation to the Socialist members, was legal or void involved a question that could not be regarded as settled until it had been passed on by the courts.

Referendum on Resignations.

"It would not be surprising," he said, "if the five Socialists, after they have come into possession of certificates of election to establish their status as Assemblymen-elect should present themselves again at the gates of the Assembly and demand admission on the ground that yesterday's proceedings was of no valid force in view of the fact that at the time they did not have proper credentials."

The five ousted Socialists, who do not contemplate returning to their homes in New York City until tomorrow, started early this afternoon for Schenectady to address a Socialist open-air meeting tonight. They said their future plans would be determined by the Governing Committee of the Socialist Party organization.

It now appears that the resignations of Orr and De Witt were not final. The law provides that such resignations must be filed in writing with the Secretary of State. Neither has complied with this requirement. Orr, in fact, asserted today when word came from New York that the Socialist leaders would not permit them to sit in the Assembly, although they had been upheld by that body in the tenure of their seats by a substantial majority, that he and his colleague from the Bronx before burning all bridges behind them would submit the question of whether they should continue to serve to their constituents at a mass-meeting referendum to be taken tomorrow in New York.

Blunder in Accepting Oaths.

While it appears that somebody blundered in swearing in the five Socialists before they had credentials to show that they had been elected, no one here is willing to assume the responsibility. Secretary of State Hugo is in Syracuse attending the notification ceremonies. In his absence it was said at his office that if perusal of the certificates of election had been waived it was merely in pursuance of the common practice.

Under Section 439 of the election law County Clerks have twenty days after a general and ten days after a special election in which to canvass the vote and certify the result, where the election of Assemblymen is involved, to the Secretary of State. So far only the election of the two Socialists in the Bronx has been certified to the Secretary of State.

The real trouble, according to officials here, is to be found in the fact that the special election was not held far enough in advance of the extraordinary session to permit the necessary action in the time the laws allows.

Premier Declares Tariff Leading Issue in Canada

SHERBROOKE, Quebec, Sept. 22.—A protective tariff for Canadian industries, as against free trade, will be the one big issue in the next election, Premier Meighen declared here.

Increased production and a decrease in purchases from the United States, he said, were the only means of wiping out the $110,000,000 lost last year by the Dominion through the adverse rate of exchange with the United States.

LEADERS AGREE ON HOUSING PROGRAM

Mortgage Exemption, Local Boards and Ban on Dispossession Are Included.

READY FOR HEARING TODAY

Federal Trade Commission May Be Asked to Investigate Building Material Combination at Once.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Sept. 22.—In an effort to get quick action on an investigation of an alleged price fixing combination among building material manufacturers, held responsible in large measure by legislative leaders for the serious housing shortage in the State, the special session of the Legislature tomorrow may adopt a proposal to request the Federal Trade Commission immediately to undertake an inquiry into the activities of the alleged combination instead of addressing a request to Congress, which will not meet until December.

This was declared tonight to be the plan under consideration following a conference which lasted all afternoon and at which it was agreed that the lawmakers will do everything in their power to protect the tenant from profiteering landlords and encourage new construction. The conference brought agreement between Republicans and Democrats that legislation carrying out the following measures should be enacted into law:

Prohibiting landlords from dispossessing tenants who refuse to submit to an unfair increase in rent. The details of this legislation are still to be mapped out, but the general scheme has met with the leaders' approval.

Stimulating building through exemption of mortgages from State and Federal income taxes and new dwellings from local taxation for at least a period of ten years.

Establishing municipal housing boards, a State agency to act as an advisory board, is being considered, but has not been definitely decided on as feasible.

Permitting the State and municipalities to invest sinking fund moneys in State Land Bank bonds and giving such bonds the status of State securities, so as to exempt them from Federal taxation.

Permitting the New York City Board of Appeals to let down some of the bars in the present tenement house law, so long as public health and safety are not imperilled.

The session is expected to continue the life of the joint legislative Housing Committee, so that the State may be benefited by further investigation of the housing problem. Senator Charles C. Lockwood of Brooklyn, Chairman of the committee, will ask that the committee not only receive additional life but that its powers be broadened. Investigation of some phases of the housing problem by the committee has shown the need for immediate action along this line, Senator Lockwood maintains. Inquiry by the committee into a combination said to exist among manufacturers and producers of building materials was halted by the fact that in several instances important clues led into other States.

The claim is made that the combination alleged is one of the most powerful in the United States, and that there are data existing to prove its existence.

Elaborate plans were completed today for the hearing tomorrow afternoon in the Assembly chamber, when all the housing measures submitted to the Legislature, including the committee's program and the bills offered by Mayor Hylan, as best fitted to bring relief to New York City will be discussed. Already there is in town a big force of representatives of the various interests affected by the proposed legislation, and every effort is being made by them to bring defeat to the bills. The hearing will be held before the Joint Cities Committee. A large delegation of New York City tenants is exected to demand legislative relief.

While the hearing probably will last all the afternoon, the legislative working day will not be sidetracked, as the leaders announced tonight that in all probability they will hold night sessions, so that the work of the session may be ended this week. It is deemed probable that adjournment can be taken Friday night. If not, it is planned to adjourn some time on Saturday.

The bill carrying an appropriation of $3,000,000 for a hospital containing a thousand beds to care for insane veterans of the World War in the State was introduced today in both houses.

DUBLIN, Sept. 22.—John Lynch, a Limerick County Councillor, who was also a republican leader and Sinn Fein Judge, was shot dead in a Dublin hotel early this morning.

An official report issued this evening says that Lynch was killed when he opened fire on twelve soldiers who had gone to the hotel to arrest him.

Local accounts of the affair said that a number of uniformed men entered the Royal Exchange Hotel in Parliament Street about 3 o'clock, inspected the register and proceeded to the room occupied by Lynch. They left ten minutes later and no one in the premises seems to have suspected that a tragedy occurred until the police arrived later, and said they had been informed by the military that a guest had been shot.

Lynch was found lying on the bed. He is now guarded by the police and no one is allowed to enter.

The hotel night porter's story is that a band of twelve men wearing khaki caps and trench coats arrived at the hotel and asked for accommodation. When told there was none they said: "We are military and demand admission."

On being admitted they leveled revolvers at him and, having taken possession of the register, they went up stairs. The porter heard them knock at a door, but no other sound was heard. Even the guests in the next room and opposite were unaware that anything unusual had occurred. This led to a report that Lynch was bayonetted.

The official report of the incident reads:

"In the early hours of this morning a military party, guided by members of the Royal Irish Constabulary, went to the Exchange Hotel, Parliament Street, for the purpose of arresting a man named Jack Lynch, who was occupying No. 6 bedroom on the third floor. When the officers entered the bedroom Lynch fired at them with a revolver, the bullet striking the wall at the foot of the bed, where it was afterward discovered. The fire was returned by a member of the party and Lynch was shot through the head. A six-chamber revolver with five chambers loaded and one recently discharged was found by the police at Lynch's right hand."

Lynch, who is about 40 years old and unmarried, belonged to Kilmallock and represented that town in the Limerick County Council.

Balbriggan Losses Set at £500,000.

An official inquiry is to be held into the sack of Balbriggan and will take place immediately. It is purposed that in addition to the police evidence statements shall be received from the inhabitants.

A tour of the destroyed town is like a visit to the devastated area in Belgium. So terrified are the inhabitants that the population spent last night on the hills.

Petrol was used to fire the houses and bombs are said to have been thrown during five hours, while the wretched people were in a state of absolute terror.

Among the places wrecked are houses belonging to relatives of de Valera. Altogether, it is contended that the damage will amount to £500,000, which, however, appears a generous estimate, as the town has less than 3,000 inhabitants. But, whatever the amount, a prosperous, peaceful town has been ruined and a year must elapse before it recovers.

As soon as information reached Dublin Castle of the police attack eight officials motored down. They addressed the police and used every effort to restrain them, and later confined them to barracks.

Attack Police in Lorry.

DUBLIN, Sept. 22 (Associated Press).—"Spies and Reformers Beware!" was the label pinned to the clothing of a man found dead in a field today in County Carlow.

A motor lorry containing six policemen was ambushed near Lahinch by a hundred men today. Four of the police were wounded. Two military lorries came to the rescue. The attacking party fired and two soldiers are reported to have been killed. Thirty arrests were made.

Two houses in an adjourning village were burned as a reprisal.

Eight armed and masked men entered the Camden Street branch of the Ulster Bank, Dublin, today and held up the staff. They decamped with a considerable sum of money.

The third soldier injured in the affray in Dublin on Monday died from his wounds today.

Italian Workers Refuse to Vacate Plants In Larger Cities; Want Pay for Idle Period

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MILAN, Sept. 22.—No decision has been reached yet regarding the evacuation by workmen of the iron and steel factories. When the Metal Workers' Federation met here last night to ratify the Rome agreement it found by a referendum that the workers were strongly averse to evacuation except after a revision of the terms relative to payment of wages during the occupation period. The federation therefore proceeded to vote upon three proposals. That put forward by the extremists for holding fast to the factories unconditionally obtained only 28 votes; another demanding full wages for the occupation period as a sine qua non for return to normal conditions scored 96 votes, but the majority of the delegates decided eventually that the order for evacuation should depend upon the result of further negotiations with the masters for due payment of work actually executed since the factories were seized.

In this there is said to be no breach of the Rome agreement, the validity of which is subject to approval of the Metal Workers' Executive much in the same way as international agreements on the part of the Italian Cabinet Ministers are conditional upon the ratification of the Italian Parliament.

ROME, Sept. 21 (Associated Press).—Italian metal workers who occupied factories in some of the larger cities last month, notably Turin and Florence, are refusing to evacuate the plants in accordance with the settlement agreement recently reached with the employers after Government intervention, according to dispatches to the Giornale d'Italia. In Turin, in fact, says a message from that city, three additional works were occupied by the men today.

In fifty other works in Turin, the dispatch states, the majority of the men decided not to abandon the plants unless they received ample guarantees against reprisals from the masters and the Government. They also are claiming payment of their wages for the entire period of their occupation of the works.

A Genoa message to the same newspaper reports that syndicalists and anarchists are distributing manifestoes to the workmen saying they have been betrayed by the Confederation of Labor in the settlement.

Hints that the Catholic party may pass to the Opposition if claims of workmen belonging to Catholic organizations are not regarded by the Government with the same consideration as those of Socialists are given by the Corriere d'Italia, organ of the party.

RESCUER DIES IN FIRE LIT BY PAPER BALL

Three Firemen Overcome or Cut Trying to Save Watchman Trapped by Blaze.

WOMAN AND CHILD ESCAPE

Burning Oil-Soaked Missile Thrown in Brooklyn Loft Building Hour After Midnight.

A burning paper ball cast through an open window in a tailor shop on the third floor of a four-story loft building at 963 Sackman Street, in the Brownsville section of Brooklyn, at 1 o'clock this morning, started a fire that cost the life of a watchman, overcame two firemen, injured a third, and swept through the entire structure before firemen could respond to the second alarm.

The police are investigating the circumstances of the origin of the fire, and, although no strikes have been reported in any of the five small factories occupying the loft building, it is their theory that the burning ball was thrown by some man who had a grudge against one of the firms.

In trying to save a woman who was working on the third floor of the building, while her small child slept on a pile of woolens in a corner, the watchman was burned to death. The only information the firemen could get about him last night was that his last name was Pashatsky, and that he was more than 60 years old. The woman, whom he was trying to warn when he was overcome by smoke, escaped by a back stairway while he was going up the front. She and her five-year-old child were uninjured.

Three firemen were overcome and cut by glass and falling timbers while trying to find the body of the watchman. They were Richard Dunn of Engine Company 290, who was taken to St. Mary's Hospital, and Fireman Alfred Miller of the same company, who had gone into the burning building to find his comrade. Jacob Metzger of Engine Company 231 also was injured while he was trying to aid the other firemen.

Mrs. Herman Godkovitz of 361 Christopher Street, Brooklyn, told the police she was cleaning up the rooms of Shatkofsky Brothers, tailors, on the third floor of the building when a paper ball, apparently saturated with oil, hurtled through the open window and fell into a pile of débris which she had just swept up and was about to take out of the room. This flared into a big blaze, she said, and she barely had time to snatch up the sleeping child before the fire filled the small chamber.

As she fled down the rear stairway, the watchman came up the front, was driven back to the second by the flames and there perished while the firemen were trying to find him. A man who had seen the fire from the street turned in the first alarm.

The woman was unable to develop the theory that the paper ball might have been hurled into the tailors' rooms from another open window on the same floor. In their investigation the police found the windows of all adjoining buildings apparently closely battened up for the night, and they were not able to find any signs of life around them. Three or four other women were working on other floors of the burning loft, and one or two of them said they had received the alarm from the watchman.

The building was occupied by several paper box manufacturers, with a few tailors and dress manufacturers, and the flames found easy progress through the piles of paper stored throughout the building. The building was old and was said to have been the property of the Royal Paper Box Company. Firemen said they believed the loss would run close to $50,000.

FLYNN ENCOURAGED IN HIS BOMB HUNT

CONFERS WITH HIS AGENTS

Fire Marshal Brophy Denies Report of Misdelivery of Explosives.

William J. Flynn, former head of the Secret Service and now chief of the Bureau of Investigation of the United States Department of Justice, said last midnight:

"Our unshaken conviction is that talk of the disaster in Wall Street last Thursday being an accident is plain bunk. We are not being diverted or deterred by rumors and reports of stray powder wagons in the neighborhood or anything of that sort. It was a criminal outrage. We are positive of that and we are going ahead on that theory.

"I cannot make prophecies, but I will say this much: The Government never sleeps and it never quits. Our job is to get those men, whether it takes a day or a lifetime. And, without making boastful predictions, I will go so far as to say that the developments thus far are positively encouraging."

These things Mr. Flynn said to a reporter for THE NEW YORK TIMES at the conclusion of a conference in his hotel with a dozen or more of the most trusted agents of the department—men who have been busy day and night since the explosion of a week ago today which killed thirty-five persons and wounded hundreds.

The Chief's words came reluctantly and only in response to urging that so far as possible, without disclosing anything that might be hurtful to the cause of justice, he clarify the situation, dispose of doubts and rumors and take the public as far as he might into his confidence concerning the present status of the case.

Supports Earlier Declarations.

His announcement not only supported earlier declarations to the same effect by his subordinates, but backed up the expressed opinion of Attorney General Palmer, who has reviewed much of the evidence thus far collected. While Flynn himself was not authority for any statement beyond the foregoing, it was learned that the general feeling among the Federal investigators was that the repeated outcropping of expressions of doubt that it was an infernal contrivance which caused such terrible destruction was traceable in part to the inspiration of radical sources anxious to have the affair forgotten.

If expressions heard generally among the Government's investigators are to be credited, it is not to be forgotten. They make no pretense that they expect to hunt down the criminals in a day or a week. But they are most emphatic in asserting that if terrorism was the motive of the perpetrators they reckoned without a true understanding of the temper of the American people and those charged with protecting them and avenging such crimes. Just as German air raids which spread death and destruction in London and other English cities served only to stiffen the resistance of the people, just so, it was said by men high in the Bureau of Investigation, have they been inspired with a grim determination to keep at their task until they win.

How Accident Theory Was Revived.

The chief support offered for a revival of the accident theory was a report by Ray Clark, construction foreman for Albert A. Volk & Co., contractors who are razing an old structure at the southwest corner of Broad and Wall Streets, where the extension of the Stock Exchange building is to be erected, had told officials a driver came to him just before the explosion, said he had a load of explosives to deliver and, when he learned it had not been ordered for that job went to a telephone to inquire from his employers as to its correct destination. While the man was telephoning in, so the story went, the material in the wagon he had left standing before the Assay Office a few hundred feet away on Wall Street exploded. Moreover it was asserted that three men

COX TRAIN WRECKED, NOMINEE AND PARTY ARE BADLY SHAKEN

Four Cars and an Engine Are Ditched Near Phoenix, Ariz., by Spreading Rails.

GOVERNOR'S CAR STAYS ON

Candidate Is Quickly Out to See if Friends Are Hurt—Engineer's Leg Broken.

TAFT ANSWERED IN SPEECH

Cox Challenges Ex-President to Show He Did Not Send Troops, Even When Needed.

Rumor That Man Ran Off Before Cox Train Was Ditched

PHOENIX, Ariz., Sept. 22.—A rumor was current among the farm people and others who gathered soon after the wreck of Governor Cox's train that a man had been seen running along the road beside the track just before the train left the track.

The rumor lacked confirmation and was not credited by Governor Cox, the members of his party or railroad operatives.

Special to The New York Times.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Sept. 22.—The train in which Governor James M. Cox and his party, with about fifty Democratic leaders of Arizona, among them Senator Ashurst, were traveling from Phoenix to Prescott was wrecked about 4:30 o'clock this afternoon near Peoria, on the Santa Fe Railroad, about fifteen miles north of this city.

By a miracle the Governor and the members of his party escaped serious injury.

The train had just passed through Glendale and was traveling about thirty-five miles an hour.

The Governor and the others on the train were badly shaken up, and some of the party who were in cars near the front of the train suffered severely from shock.

Apparently the wreck was caused by the spreading of the rails. The rails were light and the track was not firmly ballasted at the point where the wreck occurred.

The first of the two big oil-burning engines that were pulling the six cars of the train left the track and then climbed back on the rails after tearing out the rails for 200 feet or more. The second engine turned over, carrying the members of the crew with it. The baggage car behind was smashed to splinters.

Behind the baggage car were two steel Pullmans, they were pulled off the tracks and ditched, but did not overturn. The next car on the train was a compartment car occupied by press association writers, special correspondents and a few members of Governor Cox's party. This car was lifted partly off the rails and turned over at an angle of about forty-five degrees. That it did not overturn and go into the ditch was little short of a miracle.

Next behind was another compartment car, occupied by eight newspaper correspondents, and Wells Hawkes, who is in charge of publicity on the train. This car stuck to the rails, but the occupants were shaken and tossed about their rooms.

Governor Cox's car was the last of the train and it was swayed and tossed about by the accident like a chip on a heavy sea.

The Governor was sitting in the dining compartment talking to Senator Ashurst, who had dropped in to ask Governor Cox to go into one of the forward cars and talk with committeemen. Governor Cox was tossed to one side, but managed to save himself from a fall by grasping the table.

Governor Cox was one of the first to leave the train. He found clouds of smoke pouring from one of the engines and the wreckage of the baggage coach piled up behind it. Two Pullmans were in the ditch, and one compartment car appeared to be swaying and ready to overturn if the slightest shove was given.

The Governor's first inquiries were for the safety of members of his party. He has a number of old friends among the newspaper men who are traveling with him. When assured that all were safe he sought information about the engine crews and wanted to go ahead and investigate the wreckage personally.

As the Governor watched, Charles Nichols, one of the engineers, crawled out of the heap of debris which had been an engine. How he escaped death in the tangle of steel he could not tell.

Nichols, who had a broken leg, was carried away on a car door torn from a wrecked car.

Jesse Coratz, fireman in the engine which was overturned, received a bad laceration of the forearm.

F. C. Sutton, engineer of the first engine, escaped uninjured. He sought out the Governor and when he found the Governor walking about in the wreckage, he exclaimed, "I want to let you know that I wasn't trying to finish you." He was nervous and suffering from shock.

Several members of the local committee who were in the forward cars received severe bruises, but none was badly hurt. Judge E. E. Bollinger of the Superior Court of Arizona had his left leg badly bruised. Mitt Simms, Democratic candidate for Governor, was on the

Amoskeag Company Cuts Price of Cotton Goods One-Third

MANCHESTER, N. H., Sept. 22.—A reduction of 33 1-3 per cent. in the price of manufactured cotton goods was announced today by the Amoskeag Manufacturing Company of this city.

The present weekly production of the company, which employs 10,000 operatives in its cotton departments, is 4,000,000 yards.

Fear that the cotton market, already unsettled because of heavy cancellation of orders, might reach a condition similar to that which has forced the closing of the company's woolen department, is given in the announcement as the reason for the price reduction.

EDW. E. STOWELL DIES IN CLUB POOL

Lawyer Stricken Suddenly with Apoplexy After Swimming at the University.

FALLS BACK INTO WATER

War Worker for Three Years Was Prominent in New York Society.

Edward E. Stowell of 829 Park Avenue, a former member of the law firm of Greene, Hurd & Stowell, died suddenly of apoplexy late yesterday afternoon in the swimming pool of the University Club, Fifth Avenue and Fifty-fourth Street. According to club members and attendants who were present, Mr. Stowell had been swimming about for some time and had climbed up on the edge of the pool to rest. Leslie Buchtell, an attendant, saw him suddenly topple over into the water obviously unable to help himself. He hurried to his aid as did Alexander Gulick of 12 East Thirty-first Street, a member of the club.

The lawyer was unconscious when lifted from the water, and Dr. Hamilton of Flower Hospital, who arrived soon afterward, pronounced him dead of apoplexy. Dr. Charles H. Norris, chief medical examiner, later gave an opinion that death was due to natural causes. Mrs. Stowell, who had been spending the Summer with their two children at Cornwall, N. Y., had come to the city only yesterday for a brief visit, and she learned of her husband's death last night at their Park Avenue home.

Mr. Stowell was 40 years old, and had apparently been in excellent health recently. He had intended to resume his law practice this Winter, having interrupted it during the last three years while engaged in war work. He was born in Ithaca in 1880, graduated from Hamilton College in 1901 and from Columbia Law School in 1904. He married in 1911 Miss Alice Fellowes of this city, who survives him with their two sons, Edward E., Jr., and Londale Fellowes Stowell; a brother, Harley Lord Stowell of 13 West Eleventh Street, also a University Club member, and his sister, Mrs. A. R. Davidson of Staten Island. Mrs. Stowell is a cousin of William Fellowes Morgan. Other clubs to which Mr. Stowell belonged were the Union League, Metropolitan and India House.

NEW BRITISH MINE APPEAL.

Laborites Urge Lloyd George to Grant Rise and Avert Strike.

LONDON, Sept. 22 (Associated Press).—No progress was made today toward a settlement of the coal miners' dispute, although among the more optimistic hope had been aroused from the fact that a meeting of the labor triple alliance had been called for Thursday to hear the reply of Premier Lloyd George to the committee of the alliance which visited him late today.

The reply of the Premier was a reiteration of the proposal made to the miners' Executive Committee the previous day, that, there being a difference of opinion between the miners and the Government as to facts and figures, the question of the increase in wages should be referred to an impartial tribunal, or, alternatively, the miners should consent to work out with the colliery proprietors and the Government some scheme whereby in return for increased production the miners could get increased wages.

The Premier thought that by the alternative proposal the miners would get a greater increase than they demanded, while the country also would benefit.

To this Robert Smillie, the miners' leader, replied: "We are as anxious as you to increase the output, but you can only get that if you have the good will and desire to increase it."

In opening the conference with the Premier Mr. Smillie pressed the necessity of the increase being conceded, if the miners were to maintain the standard of life which all desired they should.

James Henry Thomas, for the Railwaymen, and Harry Gosling, for the transport workers, announced that their unions were in full sympathy with the miners, who they considered had made out their case for an increase.

In a further reply to the Premier, Mr. Smillie said that the colliery owners had expressed the view that the advance should be granted and that the committee's good will would set up every promise of an increased output, which they would work for. It was not in their power, however, to give a definite pledge for an increased output, as obstacles might be placed in their way.

Frank Hodges, another of the Miners' delegates, said that the proposition as it now stood was one which could not take the place of the application for an advance.

After the conference the Triple Alliance Committee met and decided to call a full meeting of the three organizations for Thursday.

The miners' strike is scheduled to begin on Monday next if a settlement is not reached in the mean time.

CLASH ON CHARGE THAT COX PROFITED IN WALL STREET

Col. Thompson Asserts Nominee Operated There, but Admits Lack of Evidence.

STIR AT FUND INVESTIGATION

DEMOCRATS WANT $1,000,000

Gerard Committee Has Raised $128,821—Liquor Chief and William Barnes Testify.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—A sharp interchange between Senator Reed and Colonel William Boyce Thompson of New York, following a charge by Colonel Thompson that Governor Cox had obtained part of his fortune in Wall Street operations, marked today's session of the Senate committee which is investigating campaign funds. Colonel Thompson finally admitted that he had no evidence of any kind to substantiate his charge.

The colloquy was started when Colonel Thompson, who is Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee of the Republican National Committee, declared to Senator Reed:

"Don't forget that your candidate has his millions, and he got it in Wall Street."

Senator Reed rejoined immediately with a fire of cross-questioning, in response to which Colonel Thompson said he had "heard rumors" that Governor Cox speculated in Wall Street and that he had also invested in the securities of some Ohio companies. He charged that "all the Wall Street crowd are supporting Cox, and so are the two big financial papers, THE TIMES and The World."

Colonel Thompson gave no backing for these rumors and finally said that he did not know "anything bad" about the Democratic nominee.

James W. Gerard, Chairman of the Finance Committee of the Democratic National Committee, testified that the total campaign fund collected to date by the National Committee was $128,821.29 and that the Democrats would be more than satisfied if between now and election day they were able to increase the amount to $1,000,000. However, the Democrats are not at all certain that they will be able to realize any such amount, which, according to Mr. Gerard, is probably $1,000,000 less than will be needed to finance the national campaign.

The total of the fund sought by the Republican national organization Mr. Gerard declared to be greatly in excess of any sum that should be expended for the election of a President.

Republicans Seek $2,000,000 Here.

Colonel Thompson, at the outset of his testimony, said that the Ways and Means Committee, of which he is Chairman, has sub-committees operating in practically every State in the Union.

In answer to a question as to what amount the Republicans now expect to raise, Colonel Thompson said that was a matter for Mr. Upham, the National Treasurer, to answer, since all the records were in Mr. Upham's keeping.

Colonel Thompson explained that the finance organization in New York is a combination national and State affair, the National Committee receiving 80 per cent. and the State organization 20 per cent. of all money collected. In New Jersey the National Committee gets 60 and the State and County Committees 40 per cent. of the fund, and there is also a division, the percentages not being given, in Maryland.

The amount which the National Committee hopes to raise in New York is $1,000,000 for the national campaign fund and about $375,000 for the State campaign, while the amount set for New Jersey is, according to ex-Governor Stokes, who also testified today, $300,000, of which amount $74,500 has been obtained.

"The fund we hope to raise in New York is roughly $2,000,000" said Colonel Thompson.

Charges "Barroom" Politics.

"It is very hard collecting now," he continued, "because of the $1,000 limitation which has been set for individual collections. We feel that there never was a more righteous cause than ours, and this slush fund talk is nothing but barroom politics."

"Let's see if it is" replied Senator Reed. "I think I am correct when I say you raised $1,800,000 before you nominated your candidate and then you made up an estimate for $3,000,000, which is approximately $5,000,000. Then Mr. Upham made a budget for $6,000,000 and allocated it to the States and then the State organizations proceeded to double the allocation, making the total about $12,000,000."

"That's pure bunk stuff," replied Colonel Thompson, "and your candidate now comes forward and says we are after a $30,000,000 fund. It is all rot. The National Committee hopes to raise $3,000,000 and no gifts in excess of $1,000 are being received. Where are the Democrats getting theirs? You will see Tom Chadbourne."

Brings Out Wall Street Charge.

"What's the matter with Chadbourne?" Senator Reed demanded before the witness could proceed any further.

"Nothing; he's a fine fellow," Colonel Thompson. "But he and Belmont and Ryan and Baruch and the others are all rich men, and there is no monopoly on either side of rich men. We have no Wall Street committee, but the Democrats have. Don't you forget that your candidate has his millions and he got it in Wall Street."

"Since you have mentioned Governor Cox in this connection, what do you know about this charge? Do you know how Governor Cox made his money?" Senator Reed demanded.

"I have understood that he made much of it out of securities. I have heard that he was interested in Ohio Cities Gas," replied the witness.

"How much stock did Governor Cox have in that company?"

"I don't know."

"Do you know that he ever had a dollar of that stock?"

"Not of my own knowledge," Colonel Thompson replied.

"You are under oath before this committee," continued Senator Reed, "and rumors should have no place here under such circumstances, especially from the lips of a man who is under oath. You say that Governor Cox is no stranger in Wall Street, thereby intimating that he is a speculator, that he operates in Wall Street. Now I want to know the details."

"I said that I had been informed that he dealt in securities," Colonel Thompson answered.

Doesn't Know of Speculation.

"Well, then, do you mean to say that Governor Cox speculated?"

"I do not."

"Do you know if Governor Cox ever made a crooked dollar in his life?" Senator Reed again demanded.

"I heard he was interested in various companies in Ohio."

"Now, as a matter of fact, don't you think you ought to withdraw that charge?"

"I understood that Governor Cox is worth several millions and that his house cost $500,000."

"I didn't ask you that."

"Well, I have heard rumors," continued Colonel Thompson, "that he speculated in Wall Street. I would not accuse him of it. I can't swear to it."

"Well, do you know anybody who will swear to it?" asked Senator Reed.

"No."

"And you know it is not true."

"I do not."

"All right. What else do you know about Governor Cox?"

"I don't know anything bad about him."

"I think the blood went to your head and that you don't know what you have been talking about," said Senator Reed.

Attitude of Newspapers.

"All the Wall Street crowd," said Colonel Thompson, "are supporting Cox, and so are the two big New York financial papers, THE TIMES and The World."

"What is the matter with THE TIMES and The World?"

"They are good, square, honest papers."

"Do you know anything about the financial interests behind The World?"

"No."

"What financial interests back THE TIMES?"

"I think Mr. Ochs is the head of that paper."

"Do you know whether it has connections with big moneyed interests?"

"It is the paper most of the moneyed people in New York read."

"That is, it is the great conservative paper?" Senator Reed asked.

"That is right," answered Colonel Thompson.

"What about your own financial interests?" asked Senator Reed.

Colonel Thompson replied that he had many interests, and among others named various copper interests, including the Magnai Company in Arizona and the Inspiration in Nevada. He also said that he had considerable interest in the Sinclair Oil Company and in another oil leasing corporation, as well as the Chase and Irving National banks in New York. He recalled that he was interested in the Ohio Cities Gas Corporation, in which he had previously testified he had heard Governor Cox was also interested.

Foreign Language Advertising.

Colonel Thompson admitted that he had subscribed to a fund used to purchase a foreign language newspaper advertising agency. This was right after the war, he said, and the agency was acquired in furtherance of an effort to use it in the work of Americanizing the foreign born population of the country.

"I can't see," remarked Senator Reed, "what the control of such an organization can do toward Americanizing our foreign born voters."

Colonel Thompson replied that Democrats as well as Republicans had been interested in the movement, and among others named Cleveland H. Dodge as having attended some of the meetings at which the scheme was discussed.

Colonel Thompson said he did not know George Sylvester Viereck and that if Viereck was in the employ of the Republican Committee he was not aware of it.

Gerard Hopes to Raise $1,000,000.

Mr. Gerard, in his testimony, replying to questions by Senator Kenyon, said that he had been the Chairman of the Finance Committee of the Democratic National Committee since Sept. 4 last and that he had accepted the position at the personal solicitation of Governor Cox. He read into the record the names of his committee associates, all of whom are New Yorkers. Mr. Gerard said he had requested Charles B. Alexander, Allan A. Ryan, John B. Stanchfield, Morgan J. O'Brien, Thomas L. Chadbourne, William Church Osborn, R. Thornton Wilson, Frank M. Patterson, Frank I. Crocker, George Gordon Battle, Mrs. Daniel O'Day, Gordon Auchincloss, Percy Strauss, Paul Fuller, Jr., and some others to assist him.

"How did you overlook Barney Baruch in making your list?" Chairman Kenyon asked.

"I asked Mr. Baruch if he would serve," Mr. Gerard said, "and he told me he did not care to do so."

Mr. Gerard added that at this time the committee was trying to organize a State Committee in every State in the Union. There was no question, he said, about the desperate financial straits of the Democratic campaign organization.

"Have you fixed a limit to the amount of a subscription that the committee will receive?" asked Senator Kenyon.

"We have not. I will take any amount I can get. There is no limit," Mr. Gerard answered.

"Would you take $15,000,000?" inquired Senator Kenyon.

"That would be a sum so huge that it would shock the conscience of the country and would lead to the defeat of the party," replied Mr. Gerard.

"How about a fund of $5,000,000?"

"That, too," replied Mr. Gerard, "is entirely too large a sum. I think that a total fund of $2,000,000 should be ample to finance any campaign. I hope to get $1,000,000. So far we have received about $128,000. You could, of course, spend more than $2,000,000 legitimately, but I do not think it would be necessary."

Mr. Gerard was next asked about various contributions so far received, and he handed to Senator Kenyon a list containing the names of all the contributors. The list showed the total amount collected to be $128,821.29. The largest single contribution listed was that of Edward L. Doheny of the Mexican Petroleum Company, who has given $6,500. August Belmont, F. T. Wilson, J. E. Willard, Ambassador to Spain, and Bernard M. Baruch have each given $5,000 to the Democratic fund, while William G. McAdoo has given $1,000. Only one subscription was missing from the list, said Mr. Gerard, and that was the donation of Secretary of War Baker.

"How much did Baker give?" asked Senator Reed.

"I think it was $50," said Mr. Gerard.

Cox's Tours to Cost $100,000.

Referring to the expenses which the Democratic National Committee would have to meet, Mr. Gerard estimated that the speaking tours of Governor Cox would cost for special trains and other expenses about $100,000. There is needed for advertising between $200,000 and $250,000, while the estimate for the speakers' bureau is $100,000. Franklin D. Roosevelt's expenses, which Mr. Gerard said the Vice Presidential candidate had asked the committee to pay, amount so far to about $10,000. Mr. Roosevelt has notified the committee that he will give $5,000 to the campaign fund.

"Where is Mr. Roosevelt's office in New York?" Senator Kenyon asked.

"I think it is in Wall Street," Mr. Gerard replied.

"Is it possible that his office is in Wall Street?" asked Senator Kenyon.

"Quite possible," rejoined Mr. Gerard, and those in the room laughed.

Mr. Gerard said that the Democrats were spending about $7,000 for the upkeep of their New York headquarters.

Senator Kenyon reverted at this point to the total of funds expected by the Democrats, and Mr. Gerard replied that, while he was after $1,000,000, he would be satisfied if he was able to raise as much as $800,000. He added that he had asked Allan A. Ryan and Cleveland H. Dodge for subscriptions and that he expected both of them to contribute in the near future.

Knows Nothing of Tammany Fund.

In answer to another question Mr. Gerard said that he knew nothing about a fund being raised by Tammany Hall and that up to the present time Tammany had contributed nothing to the National Committee.

"Tammany," he added, "contributed nothing, I understand, to the national fund in 1916, and I don't know that they will give anything this year."

"You mention as among your associates," said Senator Kenyon, "Gordon Auchincloss, a son-in-law of Colonel House. He assisted at the treaty conference in Paris, did he not?"

"I don't know that anybody assisted at Paris," Mr. Gerard replied, and the members of the committee joined in the laughter that followed.

Mr. Gerard vigorously denied that Thomas W. Lamont had contributed anything to the Democratic fund. Mr. Lamont, despite his ownership of The New York Evening Post, is a Republican, Mr. Gerard said.

"Why should your responses to appeals for financial support be less than they were four years ago?" asked Senator Kenyon.

"I imagine," replied Mr. Gerard, "that in 1916 they organized at a much earlier date. Then it is very difficult this year, because Mr. Harding was nominated by the big interests and they are almost without number."

"Do you know of any sinister influences that are helping to finance the Republican campaign?" Senator Kenyon asked.

"I do not," Mr. Gerard replied.

William Barnes, the Republican leader of Albany, was a witness near the close of the afternoon session. He was questioned regarding his book "Republicanism in 1920," a gilt-edged volume of large dimensions, containing, among other things, the biographies and photographs of prominent Republicans of this and other days.

Mr. Barnes, who will resume his testimony tomorrow, said that the book was published as a private business enterprise and that neither the Republican National Committee nor any other Republican organization was interested in the success of its circulation. None of the proceeds, he added, had gone into any fund to aid the Republican Party in the election.

Tells of Wet Appeal for Cox.

Another witness was George T. Carroll, President of the National Retail Liquor Dealers' Association of America, who testified that it was true that literature sent out in the name of that organization urged the election of Cox and Roosevelt. Two appeals for funds to be used in aiding the Democratic cause were offered in evidence, and in one of them it was stated that "the organized liquor dealers of New Jersey have set out to do their part to elect Governor James M. Cox."

Mr. Carroll said that the references to Cox were made without his knowledge, adding that the liquor dealers were not very much interested in the Presidential part of the campaign, but that they were deeply interested in efforts being made to elect Congressmen, regardless of their party affiliations, who would vote for a modification of the Volstead law.

In cross examination of Mr. Carroll, Senator Edge of New Jersey asked if any person identified with the Democratic national campaign had requested the liquor dealers' association to cease its activities in favor of the Democratic candidates.

"No, Sir, we have received no such requests," replied Carroll.

"And have you heard of any member of the Republican organization asking George Sylvester Viereck to stop working for the election of Harding?" asked Senator Reed.

"No, Sir, not so far as I know," replied the witness.

Mr. Carroll admitted that liquor men were jubilant when Cox was nominated, but denied that they were raising any huge fund to help elect him. He said that the total amount raised by the liquor dealers in New Jersey was less than $2,400, and that he doubted if they would be able to collect much more between now and Election Day.

At a recent convention of the retail liquor men, he said, neither Cox nor Harding was mentioned, but the Congressional situation was discussed and it was voted to do what they could to elect men who would vote to modify the prohibition laws.

Charles McDonald, Chairman of the New Jersey Democratic Committee, said that so far the Democrats in his State had raised less than $1,000, while former Governor Stokes, Chairman of the Republican Committee, who followed him, said that the New Jersey Republicans had raised $74,500 of their quota of $300,000. The Republican National Committee has turned over to the State Committee, said Governor Stokes, $5,900 of its share of the fund.

Barnes Challenges Reed.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22 (Associated Press).—William Barnes, in his testimony today before the Senate Investigating Committee, said of the book, "Republicanism in 1920":

"The subscriptions to the book were printed. It will be just as well for me to make a statement about it. I sold a controlling interest in the Albany Journal in 1916. In March, 1918, the management of The Journal entered upon a contract for the publication of what has developed into this book. It was in the nature of a special edition for the newspaper. They were to sell pages at so much a page.

"I was asked to write a monograph for the book. The matter went on, and, not being satisfied, I bought back control of the paper. There had been some solicitation of advertising patronage for this publication which I knew nothing about. I undertook to make it a worthy and valuable book. I had nothing to do with the National Committee. It was purely an enterprise of a newspaper management."

"Were any of the funds contributed used for campaign purposes?" Senator Edge asked.

"None at all," Mr. Barnes replied.

Only 200 copies of the book had so far been turned out, Mr. Barnes added. He repeated his assertion that it was "a business proposition pure and simple."

Senator Pomerene read the names of W. H. Taft, Charles E. Hughes, Elihu Root and other leading Republicans attached to subscription lists for the book. Mr. Barnes said that the names were all part of the equipment of professional solicitors who undertook the circulation of the work.

"You know that some men were down on this subscription list for sums as large as $2,500?" Senator Reed asked.

"Now, just a moment," Mr. Barnes returned. "Is it within the scope of this committee's inquiry if I choose to sell advertising in my newspaper or my book for $500 or $1,000 a page? I'd like to ask the chairman that. I am perfectly willing to tell, but I am not a member of any Republican committee or an officer in this campaign."

Senator Reed interjected that if the witness had lists of subscriptions or contracts showing the names of men who have subscribed money to help put out the book as a part of the Republican campaign, the committee ought to have them, but Mr. Barnes insisted that he wanted a ruling on the subject. The committee decided to wait until tomorrow for the preparation of its printed record and exhibits referring to the boom before ruling on the matter.

B. R. T. TO RUN ALL NIGHT.

Full Service Will Be Resumed This Evening.

A prediction that the B. R. T. strike would be all over within a week was made last night by B. R. T. officials in announcing that tonight would witness the resumption of all-night service on all lines. Policemen assigned to strike duty on the cars are to be taken off.

Four men arrested after the Labor Day disturbances in Prospect Park Southwest, Brooklyn, were fined $10 each and one day in jail by United States Judge Martin T. Manton. The men pleaded guilty to wearing the army uniform, although all had been out of service for months. They declared they had been instructed to don the army garb by union officials, who sought by the uniform display to refute allegations that the strikers "were Bolsheviki." The men were Louis Druber, Joseph Silver, Reuben Taer and Arthur Walker.

Stole Navy Plans to Sell.

TOKIO, Sept. 21.—Two Japanese have been sentenced to ten years' imprisonment on conviction of an attempt to sell documents, stolen from the Yokosuka naval station to Americans, according to newspapers here.

SENDS MESSAGE TO MAINE

Declares Victory There Should Bring a Sense of Responsibility Rather Than Power.

Special to The New York Times.

MARION, Ohio, Sept. 22.—Senator Harding motored to Mansfield this afternoon for what probably will be one of his last opportunities for a round of golf before Election Day. From tomorrow until the last week of the campaign virtually every day will be a full one for him.

The Republican victory in Maine should not be celebrated because of acquisition of power but with a sense of responsibility, Senator Harding said in a telegram sent today to A. R. Day, Chairman of the Committee on Arrangements of a Republican jubilation meeting at Bangor.

The Senator's message read:

> Congratulations to you all upon the occasion of your celebration of the victory in Maine. I believe that you are celebrating more than a partisan election; I believe you are celebrating an expression from the voters of a fine patriotism, which will unite Americans for America first.
> We will keep our national honor and our national conscience at home in the hearts of our people and not mortgage these, our most precious possessions, to super-government. We will strive to maintain an Americanism free from walls of class, race or creed separating one from the other. We will work together to build prosperity and avert the "no-hour day." We will devote ourselves to restore representative Government and to make the administration of our national affairs a guardian against the terrible wastes now still going on.
> Let us all remember that victory must not be celebrated because of the acquisition of power, but with a full sense of our responsibility to all the American people, and with a sense of devoted and loyal readiness to serve America in the tasks before us with deeds rather than with words.
> WARREN G. HARING.

Examination of the itineraries of his two short speaking trips early in October that Senator Harding approved today leads to the belief that the front porch will cease to be a factor in Republican political plans after next Saturday. When it was announced several weeks ago that the intensive front porch campaign would end Sept. 25 it was also said that delegations would continue to come to Marion in October, supplementing Senator Harding's speaking tours to large cities in the East and the Middle West. The present indications, in view of recent developments at Harding headquarters, are that the Senator will be on the road almost the whole of next month.

The three speaking tours now announced show that it is the Republican National Committee's intention to concentrate upon the winning of the border States. It is understood that the overwhelming result of the Maine election has strengthened the belief of Republican managers that the East is fairly sure for their national ticket. This, together with the assurances by Governor Stephens of California that Senator Harding is not needed on the Pacific Coast is understood to have led to the abandonment of tentative plans for a three weeks' tour of the West.

In the next three weeks Senator Harding will speak in five of the border States from Maryland to Oklahoma. He will also pass through the gateway to the South and speak in Chattanooga, Tenn. Senator Harding will return from his trip to Maryland, West Virginia and eastern Kentucky next Thursday. The following day he will speak to Marion women from his front porch. The next day he will deliver his first political speech in the Ohio campaign outside of Marion in a picnic grove between West Jefferson and Plain City.

The next week the Senator will make a short mid-Western trip. He has approved these dates for speeches: Oct. 7, Omaha; Oct. 8, Kansas City; Oct. 9, Oklahoma City. These will all be night meetings. On the way to Omaha the Senator will stop at Des Moines during the forenoon of Oct. 7.

Republican managers believe that Iowa is safe in their column, but Senator Harding insisted upon visiting that State as a compliment to his intimate friend, Senator Cummins. As for Oklahoma, there is a difference of opinion among Republicans on their chances. The State has been Democratic throughout its history, but Jake L. Hamon, the Republican National Committeeman for Oklahoma, has convinced Senator Harding that it may go Republican if the candidate can spare the time for a visit.

Senator Harding will have scarcely a day in Marion between this trip and another, which will take in Chattanooga on the night of Oct. 13; Louisville, Oct. 14; Indianapolis, Oct. 15, and St. Louis, Oct. 16. In the latter part of the following week, it is understood, Senator Harding will go to New York.

This leaves the final week of the campaign open for Senator Harding to concentrate upon Ohio. His campaign will close October 31, it is understood, with a night meeting in a large Ohio city, probably Cleveland. It is believed also that the Senator will visit Cincinnati in the final week, although reports from that city are encouraging to Republican State leaders.

COX TRAIN WRECKED; PARTY IS SHAKEN

train, but escaped with no worse experience than a bad shaking up.

While the Governor's plans were temporarily upset, the wreckers were able late tonight to salvage his car and the correspondents' car just ahead of it. Arrangements were made to route him out of here by a southern detour, which will land him in Albuquerque tomorrow in time to keep a speaking engagement. All intermediate stops are eliminated.

Governor Cox spent the day in Arizona. A feature of one of two addresses in Phoenix was an answer to William H. Taft, who in an article intimated that Governor Cox was partial to the labor interests in Ohio and had not taken the proper steps to maintain order there. Governor Cox said in reply to this:

"In a recent newspaper article ex-President Taft said: 'Governor Cox's indisposition to maintain order by use of the militia is well known to local union labor leaders and explains his popularity with them.'

"It has been apparent for some time that Judge Taft's newspaper articles, which were intended to be the reflections of a mature statesman, have been turned into a cheap political propaganda. He ought to be ashamed of himself for the statement that law and order have not been maintained in Ohio. I would like to have him tell me the instances in which he would have used troops where I did not.

"I challenge him to cite the opinion of a single member of the Supreme Court of Ohio, no matter what his politics might be, in support of his absurd accusation.

"I have no objection to Judge Taft becoming a water carrier around the Old Guard political camp. A great many people, however, in our State who have respected him throughout the years cannot but look with regret upon the ease with which reactionary politicians still make use of him."

Governor Cox also issued this statement today in reply to what the Republican National Committee published in the morning papers on the Newberry case and the lemon question:

"The point in the Newberry matter was this: Except for his membership the Senatorial oligarchy could not have organized the Senate, which means that Senator Lodge would not have been Chairman of the Committee on Foreign Relations nor could he have strangled the League of Nations. I am convinced the country feels that except for the one vote which Newberry supplied we would now be a member of the League.

"As to lemons: I called attention to the fact that while in Congress I had advocated by recorded speech and otherwise such tariff schedules as would provide the difference in cost at home and abroad. I did not mention lemons in the speech and made no such claims in California. I have hesitated to make response to these matters but the Republican Committee seems to be in a panic on the real issue and is doing everything it can to introduce other questions."

The day was scorching hot and crowds turned out everywhere to greet the candidate.

Governor Cox went at his task with vigor, taking a long automobile ride to greet crowds at Mesa and Tempe, near Phoenix. He also spoke at the High School and the Fair Grounds in Phoenix. Few persons in the crowd which met the Governor at the Phoenix station wore coats. Some of the members of the reception committee did at first, but they explained that it was because they felt it was the correct thing to do. Most of them took off their coats before the day was old.

Governor Cox was accompanied on his tour today by Senators Ashurst and Smith, both of whom have decided opinions in regard to Mexico, which is an issue of considerable importance here. They said that the people of the section had gained a favorable impression of Governor Cox as a result of his addresses.

The statements which Governor Cox has made in regard to the League of Nations and his attitude regarding reservations are being as widely discussed here as almost any other topic of the campaign. The Republicans here are said to feel that Governor Cox is making headway in convincing the people that he will settle the long struggle on a basis that will leave no doubt as to the protection of American interests.

Governor Cox is apparently very well satisfied with the results of his campaigning up to this point. He has been told by political observers of long experience that he has made it reasonably certain that he will carry some of the States, including California, Nevada and Idaho, which the Republican leaders had been claiming as certainly Republican. There seems no doubt that the situation in the Northwestern and Coast States and in this section is much more favorable to Cox than it was a few weeks ago.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Sept. 22 (Associated Press).—Application of the League of Nations argument to Western problems was emphasized by Governor Cox in addresses this morning at Mesa and Tempe. Readjustment of European conditions as a result of the League, the Governor said, would help to open the European market to cotton and livestock, which the West produces.

Governor Cox said the League would be a "remedy" to bring about the readjustment of prices as a result of readjustment of world conditions.

There were two definite conspiracies in the Senate, the candidate declared. One was to prevent approval of the League of Nations Covenant and the other to prevent reduction of war taxation. Both were for the purpose of creating unrest and feeling against the Administration, he asserted.

Governor Cox promised that if elected he would send engineers into the West to locate new reclamation projects. He said he favored the Smith-Fletcher bill for completing reclamation enterprises.

The Governor urged that Senators Smith and Ashurst of Arizona be returned to the Senate.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 22.—Governor Cox on the way to Phoenix spoke to the West this morning through The Los Angeles Times, which he asked to publish the following statement:

"The nation must look to the West for its food increase. You have got the acres and there is much larger opportunity for the development of that acreage in the West than in the East.

"I like your Western spirit. Your people are eager, they are progressive, they respond more quickly to the spoken word.

"I believe the Almighty realized that the task of reclaiming this Western country required a great people, for you people are doing that great work with a wonderful spirit."

BLUNDER MAY VOID VOTE ON SOCIALISTS

first expelled, declared that all five would again be candidates at the regular election and that a determined effort would be made to elect, in addition to them, Socialist Assemblymen from other New York City districts and industrial centres.

The final course of Assemblymen Samuel A. De Witt and Samuel Orr, who, after their three colleagues—Solomon, Waldman and Claessens—were ousted, announced their resignations, will not be decided upon until today, when the five Assemblymen are expected to arrive here for a conference with Mr. Hillquit. Mass meetings are being arranged in the districts from which De Witt and Orr were elected, and it was said that the two Socialists would probably carry out the wishes of their constituents with regard to making their resignations binding by placing them in writing in the hands of the Secretary of State.

"The Socialist Party is determined to force the New York Assembly to purge itself from the stain of lawlessness, and to recognize the fundamental principles of representative government," said Mr. Hillquit. "We shall renominate the ousted men year after year in general as well as in special elections, and we have no doubt they will be returned with increased majorities every time.

"The Socialist Party will not abandon political activity and become an anti-political, conspiratory movement. This would please our opponents too well. On the contrary, the Socialist Party will remain in politics to rescue the Government from the hands of the reckless element of know-nothingness and plutocracy and to restore it to the people of the country, particularly the workers of the country. Repeated expulsion of the Socialist Assemblymen has not weakened the Socialist Party, but has tremendously weakened its opponents. The Socialists can only gain from the errors and outrages committed by their political opponents."

David P. Berenberg, a member of the State Executive Committee of the Socialist Party, who conferred yesterday with Mr. Hillquit, said that a statement from the committee might be expected today.

Professor Loomis, who is Registrar and Assistant Professor of Government at New York University, issued a statement that the ousting of the Socialists "invited and lent color of justification to violent opposition to the Government."

"In refusing to seat three of the five Socialists re-elected," he said, "the State Legislature has merely emphasized the fundamental question which was raised when the five were originally expelled in the earlier part of the year. The question is, wether or not a political party composed of a minority of the people has a right to representation when it succeeds in electing legally one or more representatives.

"The Socialist Party stood the test, and replied to the denial of representation by the legal and orderly re-election of their candidates. The Legislature responds by reaffirming their expulsion. The only difference is that this time the Legislature departs from its expressed principle of opposition to Socialists as such (a principle that was consistent, however wrong and dangerous), and distinguishes between Socialists, seating two and denying three. Shorn of the cloak of principle, the Legislature is exercising power arbitrarily to exclude from participation in the Government a portion of the citizens of the State who are legally and constitutionally entitled to representation."

Dudley Field Malone, candidate for Governor on the Farmer-Labor ticket, said:

"If the outrageous expulsion of the five Socialist Assemblymen yesterday goes unrebuked by all the righteous citizens, representative government in New York State will be a delusion. This sinister attack on our constitutional guarantees by Sweet and McCue, the representatives of the State bipartisan machine, calls for the prompt protest of every red-blooded American. The leaders of the Democratic and Republican Parties responsible for yesterday's outrage are the real revolutionists who are upsetting our guaranteed civil liberties and inviting violence and revolution."

ACT OF FOLLY, SAYS HUGHES.

Calls Ousting of Socialists Essence of Sovietism.

Charles E. Hughes, who as a member of the Bar Association Committee opposed at the last regular session of the Legislature the expulsion of the five Socialist Assemblymen, yesterday expressed condemnation of the action of the Assembly on Tuesday in unseating at the extraordinary session the three Socialist Assemblymen, Waldman, Claessens and Solomon.

"The ousting of the Socialist members of the Assembly is an act of incredible folly and is in flagrant disregard of the fundamental principles of American institutions," said Mr. Hughes. "I am absolutely opposed to Socialism and it is because I wish to see our institutions preserved that I think this action, which is of the essence of Sovietism, should be denounced.

"It is the more flagrant because these members of the Assembly had just been re-elected in accordance with our laws and at a fair election, and because, so far as provisions of the Socialist Party gave any pretext for the previous ouster, these had been removed.

"The statement of Assemblyman Martin, Chairman of the Executive Committee, puts the matter very clearly. He says: 'There was no charge against any of them as individuals; no guilt was charged against them.' Since then their organization has complied with our Constitution and our laws. We have no right to exclude them. So far as Republicans voted to oust the Socialist members, they acted in direct violation of their party platform.

"It is fatuous to suppose that procedure of this sort is a protection against Socialism. It has just the opposite effect. The one consoling feature of the matter is that we may be assured that this ouster does not reflect the sentiment of the people of the State but it is merely the action of a few exercising a temporary power which has been sadly abused."

SOCIALIST MEETINGS BARRED IN MT. VERNON

Mayor Announces He Will Issue No More Permits for Outdoor Speakers.

MOUNT VERNON, N. Y., Sept. 22.—Socialist meetings on the streets of this city have been banned by Mayor Elmer L. Kincead. He issued an order to that effect today, after a conference with Police Commissioner Wynn, following numerous complaints of residents against the language used by some of the speakers at recent meetings in the centre of the city.

"I won't issue any more permits for Socialists for outdoor meetings while I am Mayor of this city," said the Mayor tonight. "I intend to stand on this decision, made only after careful thought, following the receipt of numerous complaints of the language used by some of the speakers.

"I feel it is to the best interests of the city not to permit these meetings by Socialists in the future, and I will request the police to arrest any Socialists speaking without a permit."

Last March a general permit was issued to the Socialists for meetings at South Fourth Avenue and Second Street, but last Saturday the Mayor canceled this permit. Thomas F. Doyle, leader of the Socialist movement in this city, was unsuccessful today in his attempt to obtain a permit for next Saturday night for an open-air meeting. Doyle intimated that he would carry the case to the courts.

VATICAN FEARS ATTACK ON CHURCH PROPERTY

Says Socialists Plan to Seize Lateran Palace, Catholic Club and Nunneries.

ROME, Sept. 21.—The Osservatore Romano, the Vatican organ, says that last night Socialists attempted to invade a church in a popular quarter, but did not succeed in breaking through the door. They postponed the undertaking to a later date, when, the paper asserts, they will attempt to occupy the Lateran Palace, which was once the residence of the Popes.

The Osservatore Romano recalls that the Lateran Palace is among the properties granted to the Pope by the Law of Guarantees of 1871, establishing the status of the Pontiff in Rome, and that, therefore, the palace enjoys the privilege of extraterritoriality. The newspaper expresses the hope that the authorities will intervene in time "to prevent a handful of desperadoes committing an act which could be tolerated only in a Bolshevist régime."

The Osservatore Romano also asserts that Socialists are threatening to invade the Catholic Club and two nunneries.

NEW BEDFORD HEAD CHOSEN

Mrs. Anna Talbot of Brooklyn Made Reformatory Superintendent.

BEDFORD, N. Y., Sept. 22.—Managers of the State Reformatory for Women in Bedford tonight appointed Mrs. Anna Hedges Talbot of 185 Emerson Place, Brooklyn, to be permanent superintendent of the Reformatory. Mrs. Talbot is to continue the policy of gentle firmness which was successfully established by Mrs. Frank L. Christian, the acting superintendent, after the big race riot of July 24. Mrs. Christian, who is one of the managers, helped to name her successor. Other managers present were Mrs. Haley Fiske, the Rev. Father Thomas Kelly, Dr. Menas S. Gregory and George R. Robinson.

Mrs. Talbot, who has had a varied educational and some institutional experience, expects to take up her duties as superintendent a week from Friday.

WOULD CLOSE LIVERPOOL.

Shipping Will Cease if Strike Comes, British Passengers Say.

English business men arriving yesterday from Liverpool on the Cunard liner Carmania were eager to hear the latest cable news from London concerning the threatened coal strike. They said it would be fought by the whole population of England outside certain sections of union labor, who would be forced out by the strike.

They added that J. H. Thomas, the labor leader, was not firm enough, and was dominated by Robert Smillie, whose object was to overthrow the established form of Government.

Business men from Lancashire stated that the Mersey Dock Board had decided to close the Port of Liverpool during the period of the coal strike if the miners went out and to allow no shipping to come in or go out. There would be no fuel for the vessels, and this action would prevent trouble with the Sinn Fein element among the workers along the waterfront.

MILLER NOTIFIED OF NOMINATION

Hughes, as Party Spokesman, Attacks Washington Administration and Gov. Cox.

HITS ARTICLE X. AGAIN

Nominee for Governor Criticises the Conduct of State and National Affairs.

Special to The New York Times.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 22.—Republican leaders from all parts of the State, men and women high in the councils of the party, and a large number of Democrats, former Progressives and Prohibitionists witnessed tonight the formal ceremony of notification of Judge Nathan L. Miller of this city of his nomination as Republican candidate for Governor of New York State. They heard former Governor Charles Evans Hughes denounce the Democratic Administration and "inexcusable blunders" of the Wilson régime. They heard Senator James W. Wadsworth, Jr., on the same subject and his prediction of a victory for the Republicans in November and they heard Judge Miller outline the platform on which he will make his campaign for election.

In the spacious lawn of Judge Miller's residence, in the glare of large floodlights the crowd applauded the speakers.

Among the first to arrive were Mrs. Douglas Robinson, sister of the late Theodore Roosevelt; Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., Mrs. Theodore Douglas Robinson, Senator Wadsworth, Jeremiah Wood, Republican nominee for Lieuteant Governor; Frank H. Hiscock, Chief Judge of the Court of Appeals, and Mrs. Hiscock; Mrs. Florence E. S. Knapp, Vice Chairman of the Onondaga County Committee; Senator William M. Calder, George A. Glynn, State Chairman; Mrs. Arthur Livermore, Representative Luther M. Mott of Oswego, Jecob Livingston, Republican leader of Brooklyn; Frederick M. Calder, candidate for Supreme Court Justice in the Fifth Judicial District; William A. Glenn, Albany County Chairman; Francis M. Hugo, Secretary of State, and Representative W. H. Hill of Binghamton.

Then came a large delegation led by Former Justice Hughes, who was promptly introduced as speaker to make the formal notification to Judge Miller and the rest of the State nominees, all of whom had places on a platform erected in front of the Miller home.

Justice Hughes's address was marked by an arraignment of the policies carried out in Washington by the Wilson Administration, after which he paid individual tribute to those who had been selected to run for State offices: Justice Hughes said:

Mr. Hughes's Address.

Beginning his notification address with the declaration that it was impossible to separate the State from the national campaign in a presidential election, Mr. Hughes said:

"The Democratic National Administration, at the highest point of responsibility and with unparalleled opportunity, has forfeited the confidence of the country. By inexcusable blunders, it has seriously impaired the nation's prestige and influence. Instead of seeking a swift peace conformable to the plain demands of American interests, it pursued not the vision of a sound statesmanship, intent upon plans wisely conceived, but a policy of delusion bringing together good and bad in an unwholesome union which the Administration was determined should be indissoluble. The distinctive policy of the Democratic Administration thus became one of surrender of American principles and interests, and upon that policy it has demanded and unquestionably will receive the verdict of the American people.

"There now is but one plain course to rectify the mischief and assure the future, and that is to put in a Republican Administration which will be able readily to arrange for a salutary international co-operation and the full discharge of American duty to mankind, without fatuously committing ourselves to a broad undertaking pledging the use of national arms in unknown contingencies regardless of our opinion at the time of the merits of the controversy.

"The President was unwilling to make his mixture palatable by taking out the noxious ingredients which had been introduced. The ill-advised and fatal Article X. the President declared to be 'the heart of the Covenant' and thus a guaranty, which should not have appeared at all as a feature of an association of nations in which we were to have a share in accordance with American principles and aspirations, was made a vital part in an extraordinary confusion of purposes.

"From the position thus definitely taken and the issue thus framed our opponents cannot escape. The Democratic platform ratified the stand of the President. It gave specific indorsement to what it termed 'the President's view of our international obligations and his firm stand against reservations' designed to remove what were called the 'vital provisions' of the treaty. What were these 'vital provisions?' Obviously this referred to what the President had termed the 'heart of the Covenant.' For what is more 'vital' than the heart?

"When the vicious character of Article X. is exposed, and the serious mistake that would be made in accepting tne covenant as it has been proffered is clearly shown, our opponents utter cries of protest and distress. But the voices are conflicting. Some able advocates of the opposition, without attempting to defend the 'heart of the covenant,' say that certain other provisions of the covenant that have admirable purposes are ignored. But this is to attempt to avoid the issue. If other articles of the covenant with respect to the means of conciliation, and the opportunities for investigation and advice in order to allay irritation and prevent war, are deemed to be acceptable and sufficient, then why was Article X. added and demanded? Why is it retained? Why was it to be the occasion of a great and solemn referendum? It is plain that it is impossible to ignore the crux of the controversy. Other able defenders are sure, as they have a right to be, that Article X. is still the cherished treasure of Democratic policy, and they urge this troublebreeder as the hope of the world.

"We must have a new leadership which is cognizant of the right way to promote peace, which eschews injurious and unnecessary commitments and, while pledging international justice according to international law, and international conference and wise co-operation, definitely and unmistakably reserves the right of this country to determine its duty as to matters of international policy according to its conception of that duty in future exigencies as they arise and without any blind undertaking in advance. We need an enlightened foreign policy which will insure the extension of our aid to the suffering and disabled and the doing of our full share in promoting recuperation and stability, and which will at once support practicable plans for peace while maintaining the principle of democracies that they can promise justice and conference but not alliances for war.

"We are glad to give our support to the national candidate of the Republican Party, who will bring to his office the resources of experience, eminent ability, sincerity and sagacity, who will be devoted to the aims of constitutional government and to the securing of prosperity, peace and progress by rational and practicable means. We need the security of steadiness, and that will be assured under Warren G. Harding."

After asserting that "the problems of state are essentially those of sound business administration," and that New York State needed a skilled business management, Mr. Hughes said the selection of Judge Miller for Gubernatorial nominee was "a happy augury."

After summing up and eulogizing Judge Miller's services to the State, Mr. Hughes turned to Senator Wadsworth and said:

"In your conduct as Senator, you have exhibited a candor and manliness which have made you beloved by those with whom you have worked and respected by those whom you have opposed. You have had an honorable regard for every official obligation and have shown untiring industry and great skill in the difficult work of your high office. Your nomination is a deserved tribute to your discharge of duty."

He also addressed other candidates for State offices.

Judge Miller Gives His Views.

Creation of a "sound business administration through full co-operation of all State departments," solution of the State's problem of food production and distribution, and establishment of industrial relations on a basis of justice were promised by Judge Nathan L. Miller in his speech accepting the nomination for Governor.

Judge Miller asserted that "legislation approved by members of the present Assembly increasing the term of the gubernatorial office to four years, with the arbitrary and uncontrolled power of appointment and removal of all heads of departments, and further reorganization of the State Government would not solve the problem of ever mounting Government costs." He expressed himself as "having no opposition" to Governor Smith's executive budget plan, but added that he did not favor one in New York State "until it can be ascertained what can be accomplished under the present plan by thorough co-operation between the Governor and the Legislature."

"I do not favor attempts at price-fixing," said Judge Miller, "nor incursions by the State into the realms of private industry, but I do favor the most energetic effort in every legitimate way to promote a sane solution of this problem."

Praising former Republican legislatures for legislation bettering industrial and social conditions in the State, Judge Miller said his ideas along this line were to remove impediments to progress and contentment by bringing labor and capital together through justice, which alone would secure confidence, respect and co-operation between employer and employe."

The Republican nominee concluded with an announcement of "advocacy of the full enforcement of the law," and pledged himself to suport, in its entirety, the Constitution of the United States.

Senator Wadsworth Praises Congress.

Senator James W. Wadsworth, Jr., in his acceptance speech, reviewed at length America's participation in the World War, and declared that the Republicans in the House and Senate "constituted in a very genuine sense the war party while the country was at war." The Senator reviewed the formation of the League of Nations and told what he had accomplished while in the Senate.

"During the trying period of our neutrality," Senator Wadsworth said, "during the stress and strain of our participation in the great conflict, and during the long discussion of the treaty and many other legislative matters of importance in this reconstruction period, I have done my best to serve my country. And as the fateful years have passed, marked by events of staggering import, problems presented with bewildering rapidity, decisions made which may well govern the destiny of this people, I have had impressed upon me more and more the instinctive and imperishable patriotism of the Republicans in both the House and Senate. They are but human beings, and, therefore, liable to err in their judgment, but I know I am justified in saying that in everything they have done they have tried to uphold the rights, the honor, the traditions and the ideals of the great Republic."

Senator Wadsworth declared the powers and privileges which the people surrendered to the Chief Executive for the winning of the war must be returned to the people and government must be restored under the Constitution.

Says People Want Representation.

Regarding the situation in the State Senator Wadsworth said:

"The people of the State of New York are intent upon establishing a Government at Albany, executive and legislative, which will represent the people of the entire State, which will conduct the business of the State econmically and free from those elements and influences whose only thought is to exploit the State Government for the advantage of the Tammany organization. The undertakings of the Government of the State are of immense importance to 11,000,000 people, and to the people of New York are quite comparable with the undertakings of the Federal Government.

"New Yorkers are welcoming the chance of intrusting their Government to the men of fine records and high character who have been nominated upon the Republican ticket and who are led by so distinguished and high minded a public servant as Judge Miller."

TIRE PRICE ADVANCE STIRS UP OFFICIALS

Department of Justice Inquiring Whether Makers Have Violated Anti-Trust Laws.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The Department of Justice is conducting an investigation to determine if the leading automobile tire manufacturers of the United States have conspired to increase the price of their commodity, in violation of the Clayton act, the food control law and war legislation enacted by Congress to prevent profiteering.

This became known today in connection with the nation-wide investigation by the department into the recent increase in the price of practically every leading automobile tire on the market in Washington and other cities. The investigation is being conducted by the anti-trust machinery of the Department of Justice, of which Judge Ames is the head.

The Federal Grand Jury of Washington has been asked to take cognizance of recent price advances and to make a careful survey of local conditions to determine if there is foundation for the reports that have reached the department that certain manufacturers of tires have recently boosted the price of their commodity, with an agreement between them on a uniform price standard to prevent legitimate competition.

SEEK PARENTS OF LOST BOY.

Blue-eyed Stranger, 2, Is at Children's Society.

The New York Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, 297 Fourth Avenue, yesterday issued an appeal for help in identifying a two-year-old boy listed as an unknown at the society's shelter since last Thursday. He was found wandering at midnight in West 125th Street by Policeman John Stoffers of the West 123d Street Station.

The boy has flaxen hair, deep blue eyes, is chubby and healthy looking. When turned over to the organization the baby was dressed in blue rompers, a brown sweater, white half-hose, black button shoes and had lost his hat.

Airplane Campaign Starts Today.

Joseph Flanagan, Democratic candidate for Sheriff of Queens, will begin his campaign by airplane today. He will leave Central Park Field in an all metal airplane and visit the Mineola Fair, where he will make a speech and distribute folders. He will then fly at a low altitude over the borough, dropping campaign literature.

WILSON TO AID COX FROM WHITE HOUSE

White Says President Will Confine Himself to a Few Speeches and Statements.

GIBES AT G. O. P. COUNCIL

Declares Conference Place Cards Will Have to be Carefully Arranged in Advance.

President Wilson's participation in the Presidential campaign will be confined to making a few speeches at the White House and issuing statements from time to time, according to George White, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee. In reply to a question whether Mr. Wilson, who recently was asked to take an active part in the campaign, would make any platform speeches, Mr. White said he did not think the President "would go outside the White House." He added that he believed the condition of the President's health would permit him to issue statements and he believed he would do so.

Chairman White declared he would take steps to familiarize the voters of the country with the names of the newly appointed advisory committee of forty announced on Tuesday by Chairman Will H. Hays of the Republican National Committee.

"To prove that the great party of the Union is a unit, as Chairman Hays says, he has appointed an advisory committee of forty," commented Chairman White. "Whether this advisory committee is to assemble for a conference with the Republican National Chairman is not stated, but I greatly fear that sparks will fly if these men and women gather under one roof, even in the mollifying presence of Mr. Hays.

Derides G. O. P. Council.

"At any rate, place cards will have to be prepared carefully in advance. Joe Dixon, who organized the Republican vote of 1912, should be at another end of the council table from Judge Taft.

"One word might lead to another between Major Knox and Senator Poindexter over the late convention contest at Chicago. Oscar Straus and Herbert Hoover should sit apart from Mr. Beveridge, lest the League of Nations be discussed. Charles E. Hughes should not be compelled to gaze upon Representative Nolan of 1916 California days, and the personnel of the committee would be full of unkind memories for Governor Lowden of Illinois. Of course, one fortunate thing is Colonel William Cooper Procter of the committee could easily pay its bills. He is used to that."

Richard S. Folsom, law partner of former United States Senator J. Hamilton Lewis of Illinois, called on Chairman White yesterday and predicted the election of Senator Lewis, the Democratic candidate for Governor of Illinois, and added that the State would give Governor Cox its electoral vote.

E. T. Niles of Akron, Ohio, representing one of the largest rubber manufacturing plants in the country, who is in the city, gave it as his opinion yesterday that the employes of the thirty-three rubber manufacturing plants in Akron would vote for Governor Cox. He said Governor Cox would carry Ohio by a good sized majority. Chairman White issued this statement replying to an attack upon Governor Cox by the Republican National Committee:

Reply to Republican Denial.

"The Republican National Committee rushes into print to deny a statement attributed to Governor Cox that Mr. Newberry, at present a ward of the Federal Law against corrupt practice, is a member of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations. The burden of Governor Cox's remark was that Newberry's presence in the Senate prevented ratification of the Treaty of Versailles because he supplied the vote which organized the Senate and made possible the packing of the Committee on Foreign Relations against the treaty.

"Will the Republican National Committee deny that? Will it deny that its Senate leaders used his vote for that purpose despite the shadow of the criminal law upon him? Will it deny that, had the Senate proceeded against him on charges later sustained in the courts, the Democrats would have been able to organize the Senate and the committee could not have been packed? Will it deny that Newberry was encouraged by the Senate leaders to exercise his vote in the upper house to the very last moment it was needed? The public has not forgotten the sullen and belated action whereby Newberry finally refrained from voting nor has it failed to note that this was after his vote had accomplished all that was needed.

"Newberry was not on the Foreign Relations Committee, that is true. But his vote named the committee, packed the committee and enabled it to set back the world. Instead of the taint being confined to a mere committee it stains the whole party."

COOLIDGE HERE ON OCT. 28.

Republicans Also Announce an Eastern Tour by Johnson.

Senator Hiram Johnson of California will invade the East on a whirlwind speaking tour in behalf of the Harding-Coolidge ticket the third week in October, it was announced last night at Republican National Headquarters. The announcement stated that Senator Johnson's services would be used in the Seventh Congressional District of Alabama and in North Carolina, Western Maryland, New Jersey, New York, Connecticut and New Hampshire.

It was also announced that Governor Coolidge, the Republican Vice Presidential nominee, would speak in Philadelphia Oct. 15, under the auspices of the Union League Club at Carnegie Hall in New York Oct. 28 at a meeting to be arranged by the Young Men's Republican Club.

Senator Medill McCormick of Illinois called at Republican National Headquarters yesterday on his way to New Hampshire, where he is to address voters of French-Canadian extraction in their own dialect.

"All signs promise a crushing Republican victory," declared Senator McCormick. "Chicago headquarters count Missouri and Kentucky, no less than Indiana and Ohio as Republican States. Oklahoma and Tennessee are doubtful. There is a general bitterness against the President and revulsion from the Wilson policies, domestic as well as foreign, manifest among all elements of our population."

BOYS MUST ENROLL TODAY.

Officer Explains Military Training Proclamation.

Major J. Wesley Lyon, supervising officer of the New York zone of the State Military Training Commission, made clear in a statement yesterday the terms of the Governor's proclamation for the enrollment of boys subject to the State training. He said that all boys who have reached their sixteenth birthday and have not passed their nineteenth birthday are required to register in the school houses today. This applies whether or not the boy has previously registered.

The school houses will be open from 9 in the morning until 9 in the evening, as will be the headquarters of the Training Commission in the 71st Regiment Armory, Park Avenue and Thirty-fourth Street, where information will be furnished to any one who is doubtful as to his status.

Miller to Speak in Richmond.

Former Judge Nathan L. Miller, Republican candidate for Governor, will address the Queens County Republican Committee in the Richmond Hill Republican clubhouse next Monday evening at a special meeting at which several other State candidates also will speak.

DRY CANDIDATE OFFERS TO RETIRE ON CONDITION

Watkins Asks That Cox or Harding Give Pledge to Defend Dry Regime.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Aaron S. Watkins, Prohibition Presidential nominee, declared in an address today before the Fifteenth International Congress Against Alcoholism that he would withdraw from the Presidential race if a pledge of support for the dry program could be obtained from any one of the other candidates.

"I ask only two things of the other two candidates," Mr. Watkins said. "Whenever one of them pledges himself to enforce the Eighteenth Amendment and enforce the Volstead Act, if elected, and to use all of his power and influence to retain them as a part of the nation's law, I will agree to ask our National Committee to release me from the ticket."

The assertion of the Prohibition nominee followed a series of inferential as well as direct statements by speakers at the congress that the Prohibition Party might be the cause for overturning the dry majority in Congress through defection of sufficient votes from "known" dry candidates.

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, former chief chemist of the Department of Agriculture, in a speech earlier in the session expressed the belief that the Prohibition Party should not have nominated a national ticket. He believd its work was practically finished when the Eighteenth Amendment was adopted, he said.

Dr. Wiley also declared that the prohibition amendment never would be repealed or softened, because the "country's business would stand like a rock against it," since it had found that "prohibition pays."

REFUSES ARNSTEIN'S PLEA.

Brandeis Won't Act Until Case Passes Federal Court Here.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Associate Justice Brandeis today declined, for the present at least, to order the release on a writ of habeas corpus of Jules W. ("Nicky") Arnstein, accused by the New York police of being the master mind in the New York bond thefts. Justice Brandeis refused to act until counsel for Arnstein had exhausted all means of obtaining Arnstein's release through the Federal District Court in New York.

William J. Fallon, counsel for Arnstein, announced that petitions asking for the prisoner's release would be presented tomorrow to various District Judges in New York. Should these efforts to obtain Arnstein's release fail, Mr. Fallon said, the matter would again be brought before Justice Brandeis.

Arnstein's detention grows out of contempt proceedings instituted against him in New York in connection with bankruptcy proceedings involving him which are now pending in the Federal Court.

To Nominate Denis O'Leary.

District Attorney Denis O'Leary will be placed in nomination for that office by the Farmer-Labor Party in Queens County, and Joseph Nebin will be the party's candidate for Sheriff, according to an announcement made yesterday by Thomas F. Dwyer, leader of the party in the borough.

MINERS VOTE TO RETURN.

Department of Labor Sends Conciliatory Reply to Grievances.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Sept. 22. — Encouraged by a prompt and conciliatory reply from the Department of Labor to District President C. J. Golden's appeal for intercession in behalf of certain classes of men, who he said had been discriminated against, the General Mine Workers Committee, at a meeting here tonight, voted to return to work Friday.

There were some members of the committee who opposed the return until positive assurance was given that every man would be taken back. However, the conservatives on the committee were in the majority and decided that the proper procedure would be to return and in the event of any discrimination call for a tri-district convention for action.

News of the committee's action was bulletined throughout the Shamokin district and it is expected that there will be a full response when colliery whistles blow Friday.

TESTIFIES BERGDOLL BRIBED SOLDIER GUARD

Witness Declares Grover Planned Escape from Governors Island by Boat.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 22. — Grover C. Bergdoll, while confined in the military prison on Governors Island, bribed his guards and plotted to escape in a motor boat, according to testimony given by Thomas E. Furey, a Baltimore automobile salesman, today in the trial of Mrs. Emma Bergdoll and four defendants, who are charged in the United States District Court with conspiring to assist Irwin and Grover Bergdoll to evade the draft. Furey declared that Grover had summoned him to Governors Island, told him that he had "fixed" two guards and asked him to get a motor boat and assist him to escape.

The witness described how he had come to this city with Erwin Bergdoll and how the latter had hid in a stone quarry near the home of Charles Braun, brother of the draft evaders and a defendant in the present proceedings, while a new automobile was bought for him here.

Lieut. Col. Cresson testified that Mrs. Bergdoll had demanded Grover's effects after the later escaped from his guards in this city and had told him that she sent money and other articles to her son regularly.

Furey and Charles Krause, another witness, described automobile trips with the Bergdolls while they were being sought by the authorities. Agents of the Department of Justice and policemen told of the raid on Mrs. Bergdoll's home when Grover was captured and how they had missed Erwin, who, they now declare, was in hiding in Braun's home.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Sept. 22.—Mrs. Clara M. Brown, a Republican, of Roselle Park, today threw her hat into the political ring as a candidate for Mayor. She will be compelled to run as an independent candidate, as it is now too late to file a petition. She is a member of the Contemporary Club of Newark and of many suffrage organizations. Mrs. Brown studied law at the La Salle University of Chicago.

ROOSEVELT CHARGES PLAY TO ALIEN VOTE

Accuses Republican Managers of Appealing to Element Not Loyal During the War.

CITES VIERECK'S SUPPORT

Calls on Harding to Repudiate Hyphenated Societies—He Asks Only American Votes.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 22.—Republican campaign managers are making every effort to " secure the hyphenated vote " and are " making special appeals to the small but very dangerous element which was not loyal during the war," Franklin D. Roosevelt declared here tonight before a mass meeting of Syracuse Democrats.

Scoring Senator Harding for " seeking the support of un-American elements in the electorate," he charged that the " support of Senator Harding by men like George Sylvester Viereck is an evidence of the object to be gained."

The Court House assembly room was thronged when Mr. Roosevelt and his party arrived. Sharing the rostrum with him were Miss Harriett May Mills, candidate for Secretary of State of New York on the Democratic ticket, and Robert S. Marx, Superior Court Judge of Cincinnati, Ohio, who is touring the country as a member of the Roosevelt party.

A noisy and prolonged demonstration followed the introduction of Mr. Roosevelt as the principal speaker of the meeting.

He launched immediately into a denunciation of what he called " seeking votes by encouraging divided allegiance —placing the interest of a foreign land above that of the United States."

" Republican leaders are making open solicitation for the Italian-American vote—doing deliberately the things which Theodore Roosevelt gave the last years of his life to stamp out,'" he charged.

" When the solid American people of the Republic see the hyphen brought back into national affairs and witness the attempt to divide our people in the interest of foreign aspiration and allegiance, they may well beware.

" Speaking for myself and for Governor Cox as well, I say quite frankly that we want all-American votes only."

He demanded that Republican leaders abjure support of voters whose Americanism was a secondary attribute only.

" I call upon Senator Harding and other Republican leaders to repudiate hyphenated allegiance and hyphenated policies," said Mr. Roosevelt, " and especially the organizations formed in his behalf with hyphenated names. These organizations have the effrontery to place the name of some other country first and the name of America second.

" It was the pledge of American honor to help create an association of nations to maintain the principles which we have stood for through all history which called into being a League of Nations. That League was written in fulfillment of a great ideal, and that it lives today is abundantly proved by the events of the past week, when one war was stopped and another averted by its instrumentality.

" Contrast this with the statement of Senator Harding before the veterans of the G. A. R., that the League of Nations is a ' stupendous fraud.' If it is a stupendous fraud, why have thirty-nine nations of the world joined the League? Why was it that among those which have recently entered was Switzerland, a nation held up through history as the exemplification of the love of liberty and complete independence?

" The issue on the League and on the hyphenated vote is becoming more and more definite as the days go by. Senator Harding is opposed to the position taken by thirty-nine other nations of the world. He is on record as repudiating his own vote in the United States Senate. He talks vaguely about international goodwill—about some new effort to create some new associations. Nobody who is conversant with the war-weariness of the world—no one who knows of the horrors and destruction of the present war—can have the temerity to suggest that the thirty-nine nations now in the League will cast it aside and sit down on the orders of the United States Government at a new peace table and try to work out some wholly undefined new plan."

In an address in Utica today before women of the Civic League, Mr. Roosevelt declared that Harding's plan for an international tribunal was, " merely a hospital at the foot of the cliff of international relations."

"The League of Nations, on the other hand," he said, " is something I much prefer. It is a fence around the edge of the precipice, designed to prevent nations from tumbling over into the abyss of war."

COX GAINS IN MIDDLE WEST.

Mrs. Bass Tells of Improved Outlook in Illinois and Wisconsin.

Mrs. George Bass, Chairman of the Woman's Bureau of the Democratic National Committee, returned to New York yesterday from a tour of the West, during which she conferred with Democratic leaders and made a number of speeches for Governor Cox. She addressed a meeting of 3,500 men and women in Louisville, Ky.

" Republican managers in Illinois and Wisconsin," said Mrs. Bass, " are unhappy over the internal differences arising from the primary elections. In Chicago the Republican Party seems to be in a bad way through factional bitterness aroused in the primary campaign and which bids fair to make the State election more uncertain than the Republican managers enjoy.

" Wisconsin is in somewhat the same condition owing to the nomination of a LaFollette candidate for Governor. This has aroused the resentment of different factions whose quarrels may make possible the election of the Democratic nominee, McCoy."

MRS. RODGERS WON'T SERVE

Declines Vice Chairmanship Because She Opposes Wadsworth.

Mrs. Clara Rodgers of Richmond Hill, the most prominent woman political leader in Queens, yesterday refused to act as Vice Chairman of the Queens County Republican Committee and as a member of the County Committee from the Fifth Assembly District because of her opposition to Senator James W. Wadsworth, Jr.

" There is no use in my opposing part of the candidates of the organization and supporting others," she said. " I am going to get out completely and have a free hand."

Mrs. Rodgers was appointed County Clerk of Queens by Governor Whitman three years ago. For the last two years she has been at the head of the Republican Women's Bureau in Queens.

McAdoo Tour Starts Tonight.

William G. McAdoo will start his speaking campaign in the interest of Governor Cox and Franklin D. Roosevelt this evening, when he will address an audience in Huntington, L. I., his home town. On Saturday he will go to Yonkers. The rest of his itinerary has not yet been announced.

The New Blouses

are among the most important and attractive features of the season's opening display on the Second Floor.

Extremely striking are the decorations in batik that distinguish many of the newest and smartest models; and not less so are the embroidered effects, wrought in metal threads, in beads, in silk or in wool. Sometimes the decoration covers virtually the entire blouse; sometimes it takes the form of a border; but in all cases it definitely enhances the character of the blouse and emphasizes its attractiveness.

An interesting feature of the exhibit is the unusually large collection of costume blouses, designed to harmonize with the fashionable tailored suit. These are shown in duvetyn, chiffon velvet, satin, tricolette, and the always popular chiffon and georgette. Many vivid color effects and color accentuations are in evidence, but there is also a generous selection of the more conservative tones.

DECLARES HARDING FOE OF BOLSHEVISM

Washburn, Silent on "Recognition" Letter, Defends the Republican Nominee.

SEES CAMPAIGN STRATEGY

Charges Democratic Attempt "to Manoeuvre Senator Into a False Position."

Emphatic denial that Senator Harding, the Republican Presidential nominee, favors recognition of the defacto Government in Russia was made yesterday by Major Stanley Washburn of Lakewood, N. J. The denial of Major Washburn was made through the Republican National Committee which prefaced it with this statement:

"THE NEW YORK TIMES of the 21st published a dispatch from Marion with the text of a letter alleged to have been written April 10 by Senator Harding to Stanley Washburn of Lakewood, N. J. In this letter the Senator is reported to have said that he then saw no course but the recognition of the defacto Government of Russia. Senator Harding is quoted as saying: 'Ask Major Washburn for verification of this letter.' This is Mr. Washburn's statement:

"'Democratic influences are simply endeavoring at this time to manoeuver Senator Harding into a false position on public questions. I had a conference with Senator Harding in Washington shortly after his nomination, at which time I had a long discussion with him as to the Russian situation and the menace of Bolshevism. He agreed with me categorically that the system of philosophy originated by Soviet Russia and directed against the stability of established Governments throughout the world was a menace to society and civilization, and that he would never at any time be a party to the recognition of any Government which was based on a reign of terror and whose avowed objective was the creation of world unrest.

"'The Democratic Party will find it futile to attack Senator Harding as favoring the recognition of Russian anarchy, which in a large measure became possible through vacillation and lack of decision of the Wilson Administration.

"'I have been fighting Bolshevism and radical propaganda for the last three years, and obviously I would not at this time be devoting my entire energy to the support of Senator Harding for President unless I was perfectly certain that his Administration would be absolutely sound in its policy in regard to dangerous radicalism.

"'Bolshevism and its creed has become a moral question here. Never since 1861 has the Republican Party evaded, repudiated or been neutral on a moral issue. It is futile for the party whose leaders conceived in a world crisis for the first time in American history a policy of "neutrality" in thought as well as in deed, to endeavor to transfer this cynical slogan to the Republican Party, whose record on moral questions needs no vindication.'"

PLAN DRIVE ON WADSWORTH

Senatorial Non-Partisans Will Support Walker and Mrs. Boole.

The so-called Senatorial Nonpartisan Committee, which is an anti-Wadsworth organization, in a statement yesterday declared it would immediately begin a campaign in every county in the State against the re-election of Senator Wadsworth and in support of Harry Walker, Democrat, and Mrs. Ella Boole, Prohibitionist. The committee, which has adopted the campaign slogan "Wadsworth's place is in the home," includes Mrs. Frank A. Vanderlip, Miss Mary Garrett Hay, Mrs. Gordon Norrie, Mrs. [illegible], Dr. Katharine B. Davis, Mrs. V. Everit Macey, Mrs. Maud Ingersoll Probasco and Mrs. H. Edward Dreier.

Mrs. Raymond Brown, who has charge of the New York County organization, said speakers have already been scattered through the State to urge support of Mr. Walker and Mrs. Boole.

COLUMBIA AND N.Y.U. OPEN FOR THE YEAR

Estimates Indicate Record Enrollments for Both Institutions.

NEW COURSES ARE PLANNED

Problems of Unrest and Progress Form Principal Themes of Addresses.

Opening exercises were held at Columbia and New York universities yesterday with the prospect that present academic year would see record enrollments at both institutions. Estimates on the early figures of registration at Columbia indicated that the university would retain its place as the largest educational institution in the world with about 20,000, w [illegible] New York University and the Col [illegible] the City of New York not fa [illegible] n numbers.

With the [illegible] f the College of Liberal Arts [illegible] most of the schools of the City College already in session, as well as the minor institutions of higher education in the city, the opening of the two larger universities brings back to the city all the year's school and college population. In point of foreign students, and in every other way, this population is a record number in the individual institutions and in the aggregate. Expanded facilities and new schools and courses have been planned in all institutions to make the year profitable for these students.

"We are here to prepare ourselves for progress," said President Nicholas Murray Butler in his address opening the 167th year at Columbia. "We are here to move steadily toward the accomplishment of high purposes and high ideals.

"Our world is a changing world. It may be questioned whether there are not more new ideas afloat among men than has often happened in centuries passed, but the distinguishing characteristic of our time is that the number of those who are competent by reason of education, training and opportunity to have some comprehension of these new ideas is many, many times greater than has ever been the case before. We are now understanding, perhaps for the first time, what it means to find new ideas, new desires, new ideals set afloat in an intelligent world, not numbered by the hundred of thousand of selected and highly trained few, but literally in a world of hundreds of millions."

Would Eradicate "Poison Centres."

The honor of delivering the annual address of the Columbia Faculty this year was given to Dr. Henry Parker Willis, professor of banking, who said in part:

"We have defeated German armies: have we defeated German thought? It was William Graham Sumner who, after the war with Spain, wrote the caustic rebuke to national egotism which he called 'The Conquest of the United States by Spain.' We need another Sumner to satirize the acceptance of those German notions and German ideas against which we first took up arms.

"Are there not left in almost all of the leading nations of the world today, including our own, poison centres, the remnants of a conception of economic development which was in no small measure responsible for German imperialism and for its effort to apply a materialistic conception of history to the world at large?

"Answer these questions as we choose, we must admit that the finding of a correct answer is perhaps the most important problem before the world as a whole. This in the last analysis refers the issue to the academic community of the world, since from it emanate those formative influences which in due time shape the thought of the generation. It will be answered in due time through our system of education for business."

Speaking at the opening exercises of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Dr. J. A. Fordyce yesterday declared it was one of the missions of the medical profession to try to determine whether present social unrest and the growth of dangerous radical ideas might not be traced to curable ailments. He continued:

"Bodily ills are often less dangerous than the fancies and bizarre theories of minds distressed or diseased. The one affects the individual: the other may imperil the integrity of the nation. Knowledge of the fundamental facts of science, correct economic ideals and logical methods of thinking can do more to correct false theories of life than the delusions and quack remedies of so-called reformers."

At the opening exercises of New York University Chancellor Elmer Ellsworth Brown delivered one speech to the Faculty on behalf of the students and another to the students on behalf of the Faculty.

"The Faculty has confidence that in the management of your own affairs, social, athletic and 'non-athletic,' you are laboring with us toward a common end, toward a great ideal of university achievement," he said. "In this, our reply to the throne, or to the Commons, we should like to emphasize that the only sure foundation for high ideals is bedrock honesty. It is our great ambition for New York University that, so far as our part of its activities is concerned, it is to be characterized to a conspicuous degree by sheer loyalty to truth."

EIGHT-CENT FARES STIR STATEN ISLAND

Committee Will Protest to Estimate Board Against New Charges.

SAY RECEIVERS ARE UNITED

Brenner Has Turned Over Midland Line to Kuhn, They Declare.

A committee of Staten Islanders will appear before the Board of Estimate tomorrow and demand that measures be taken to protect the people against a movement to compel passengers to pay an eight-cent fare on the island's two trolley systems. The Richmond Light and Railroad Company, which is in the hands of Receiver John J. Kuhn, is charging an eight-cent fare by virtue of an order of the Public Service Commission.

The Staten Island Midland Railway Company, which is in the hands of Receiver Jacob A. Brenner, ceased operating last January on the plea that it could not pay expenses on a five-cent fare. Several days ago it resumed operation. One of its lines reaches the ferry at St. George by running a short distance over the tracks of the Richmond Company. For riding over these tracks Midland passengers are charged an extra 3 cents. Practically all of the passengers go to or from the ferry, with the result that the Midland receiver, as well as the Richmond receiver, gets an eight-cent fare.

In addition to this charge, Richmond residents say the two receivers are acting as one, and that Brenner has turned over to Kuhn the Midland property.

The Board of Estimate has declared the franchise of the Midland Company forfeited because of its failure to operate cars, and the citizen committee will ask the board to enforce this order or compel the Midland Company to continue operation at the five-cent rate. In May Brenner stated that he would make no effort to operate the lines of the Midland Company until he saw how the Richmond Company got on at the eight-cent rate. The Midland Company also applied to the Public Service Commission for authority to charge an eight-cent fare, but the commission was prevented from acting by a writ of prohibition obtained by the city.

KNABE PIANOS

You Cannot Judge the Ampico
By Looking at it—
You Must Hear It

UNTIL you have heard the Ampico, nothing we can say will convince you how truly marvelous is this instrument that reproduces the art of the great pianists.

You will see only the beautiful Knabe piano, with its rich simplicity of case design and perfection of line—but what a flood of golden melody comes forth from its case! Invisible fingers sweep the keys. Godowsky is playing a Chopin Etude, and the sparkling tide of melody is reproduced by the Ampico just as vividly as if the artist himself were seated at the keyboard.

IN TURN we hear Ornstein, Levitzki, Moiseiwitsch — the great Russian composer-pianist Sergei Rachmaninoff, plays his own C♯ Minor Prelude. It is delightful and wonderful beyond description — hearing the playing of the famous pianists who have selected the Ampico as the exclusive means of perpetuating their genius.

Then we turn to lighter music and choose from the playing of a hundred talented artists. Gems from Grand Opera, charming Salon classics, snappy dance music, favorite home songs and hymns — all await your hearing. The Ampico brings the supreme pleasure of music to your home.

The AMPICO

It is this wonderful instrument that we invite you to hear. For hearing the Ampico will convince you that such music, heard in the quiet of your own home, will mean more to you than any music you ever heard before. THE SATURDAY EVENING POST

depend on operating economies

THE PROFITS EARNED by your truck are the sole basis of judging its performance value.

They depend on operating economy—economy in fuel, oil, care, service, strain, and repairs. A truck unable to economize in these respects steals profits out of your pocket. Upon ignition largely depend many truck economies.

Magneto ignition means many economies.

Fuel economy—because its fat, sure spark explodes every bit of the gas in the combustion chamber into all possible power.

Lubricating economy—because it adjusts itself to all engine speeds and so reduces motor-strains.

Cylinder economy—because it means less carbon and reduces the danger of fouling.

All of these mean less repairs, fewer overhaulings, less time away from work—beside the time saved on the road.

Ignition by magneto adds power when power is needed most. It may often avert stalling in holes and on hills, costly delays, late deliveries, damage to the load.

Never a slave to the service station. The magneto requires no renewal, labor or tinkering. It is self-contained, independent of starting and lighting systems and it lasts as long as your engine.

Pay for a magneto—the predominant truck ignition—at the start. Then forget it. It costs the truck maker more to put it on. But it economizes for you in a multitude of different ways.

employed on the job with Clark had backed up his story.

Fire Marshal Brophy and other investigators were quick to deny that Clark had told any such story and to assert that in talking with officials he had stuck closely to the text of the narrative he gave both to officials and to newspaper men a few minutes after the disaster. This story was that after the explosion—not before it—a well-dressed man was among a number of persons who clambered to the roof of the customary wooden structure erected to protect pedestrians on the sidewalk in front of the excavation job at Broad and Wall Streets and that when this man was asked with the others to get down and move away he demurred on the ground that he had lost a horse and wanted to look for it. Clark even thought the man said something to the effect that "that is my horse," pointing to the dead and mangled animal lying in the street. At any rate the individual maintained his place some minutes, then either left or was shooed away when the police arrived.

Grand Jury to Examine Clark.

Clark is to be examined before the September Grand Jury tomorrow, but according to all officials who would discuss it there was nothing new or startling in his story. That body, as a matter of fact, in pursuance of the inquiry into the disaster which it was instructed to make by Judge William H. Wadhams, happens to be hearing first the testimony of all witnesses or near witnesses who could or might offer anything to support the accident theory. It was explained in the Criminal Courts Building that that course of procedure was a necessary one which had to be got out of the way at some stage, and that in no sense could it be interpreted as meaning that either the jurors or the District Attorney were committed to or inclined toward the accident theory.

The jurors yesterday examined Patrick McGee of 434 West Sixteenth Street, who told the police he saw a du Pont wagon in Wall Street just before the explosion. Other witnesses, all of whose stories, it was said, tended in so far as they were credible to support in some way the hypothesis of an accident, were Irving Levy, of 400 Grand Street; Irving Kennedy of 24 Grove Street, Brooklyn; William J. Bryn, 479 Brook Avenue, the Bronx; Andrew Milne, 38 Hitchcock Street, the Bronx; Cornelius Brosner of 401 East Seventy-ninth Street, and John Mutch of 214 Main Street, Astoria, whose automobile stood across the street from the wagon on which stood the infernal contrivance.

Among the witnesses supoenaed for today are John Coleman and Paul Kruger of the Dittmar Powder Works and John Mulstay who drives the only horse used by the E. I. du Pont de Nemours Company to haul explosives in New York and George Gerhardt, a superintendent for the du Pont concern. The Dittmar and du Pont companies are the only ones licensed to transport explosives in this city.

Debris Is Being Examined.

Alfred J. Talley, Chief Assistant District Attorney, who is examining all witnesses before the Grand Jury, denied a published report that sweepings of débris from the vicinity of the explosion had been sent by the Street Cleaning Department to Barren Island and there destroyed. He said seventeen cartloads of broken glass and miscellaneous material were gathered and all of this was held under police guard at the Street Cleaning Department's stables at 44 Hamilton Street, where every ounce of it was being sifted and examined.

Mr. Talley also told of a whitish powder which had been found in the cracks and crevices of the iron slugs, apparently broken pieces of cheap window sash weights with which the bomb was loaded. He did not know whether this was material which had adhered to some of the slugs which had struck stone walls or ripped through plaster partitions and could say only that it was being examined by chemists in the hope of determining whether it might have been part of the composition of the bomb itself.

So far as the police investigation into the disaster was concerned, absolutely nothing new was learned yesterday. They still, it appeared, were concentrating their best energies on efforts to trace the horse and wagon. In pursuance of this object it was said a number of detectives armed with hoofs and shoes of the horse, had gone to Paterson, N. J., long known as a hotbed of some of the most virulent schools of Italian anarchists, and to other nearby New Jersey towns, in the hope of getting some clue as to the driver or owner of the vehicle. They did not take the Paterson police into their confidence, and the authorities there knew nothing of their presence.

Hunt for Horse in Jersey.

The horse and wagon hunt likewise was continued in Manhattan, with special attention to the members of Journeymen Horseshoers' Local No. 1, to whom new "J. H. U." dies had been furnished in the last nine months, since expert farriers believed one of these might have stamped the very clear impression of the union mark on the hind shoes.

In this connection it was pointed out that as the front shoes were older than the hind ones and had been put in place by a non-union blacksmith, it was more than probable that the union man who shod the rear hoofs had done a chance job and might not have the faintest recollection of the man who brought the horse to him. It its owner were in the habit of going to the same blacksmith this man, it was said, would have been either a union or a non-union man and the work would not have been divided between them.

Police officials held several long conferences with Fire Commissioner Drennan and his investigators again, but, as on previous days, the Commissioner referred inquirers to the police, insisting that he would not disclose the faintest hint of their nature. The police, in turn, persisted in the policy of silence which they adopted on Tuesday.

Two More Warnings Received.

George F. Lamb, local division Superintendent of the Department of Justice, made public yesterday afternoon two post cards which had been turned over to him by the Post Office Department.

One of these, addressed to the Post Office, Washington Street, Brooklyn, read: "Clear the building at 12:15 A. M. Saturday for me, TNT. Thank you."

It was mailed at 1 A. M. on Monday in the Brooklyn Post Office.

Another mailed to Madison Square station at noon on Monday was addressed to "Masonic Fraternity, Providence, R. I.," and was inscribed: "The stunt you tried to have pulled off at the shop today with the police did not work. Shame on you, and give me my liberty forever. Have exposed today's trick. W. C. 21."

Mr. Lamb did not attach much importance to either card; nevertheless, the department would investigate them, he said.

"If this epidemic of warnings continues," said Mr. Lamb, jokingly, "I hate to think what will happen during the world series period. I should not wonder if every business house will get some kind of warning. You know, there are thousands of fans who want to see those games."

Two members of the Captain John Drum Post, 273, of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, were lost in the Wall Street explosion and the organization now offers a reward of $100 for the apprehension of those who committed the bomb outrage. The post members were Charles A. Lindroth and Ludolph Portong, both employed by the National City Bank.

The former was a member of the 106th Machine Gun Battalion, which was old Squadron C of Brooklyn, and the latter of the 102d Ammunition Train, the two units being part of the 27th Division. Thomas Jerome V. Mulligan is Senior Commander of the post, which has headquarters at 10 Greenwich Avenue.

FISCHER LETTERS OF 1916-17

Briton Says He Received Many Anti-English Prophecies from 'E. Fischer.'

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—The Daily Mail publishes a letter signed with the initials "C. F. R.," in which the writer, referring to Edwin P. Fischer, the "prophet" of the New York bomb outrage, says:

"It may be of some interest that an E. Fischer during 1916 and 1917, when I was lecturing in the United States, was continually writing me from Toronto letters of a pro-revolutionary and anti-British nature. These letters were for the most part couched in a prophetic vein, forecasting various great disasters to the British arms and to the present structure of society, and they were evidently written by a man of deranged mind. These facts considered, it would be a remarkably odd coincidence if the man who wrote to me and this Edwin Fischer were not one and the same person.

"If they are the same, it may be useful information that four years ago Fischer was sufficiently unhinged to write a long series of letters to a person he had never seen—and from whom he received no reply—letters dealing in calamitous and fantastic prophecy. I wish now I had kept some of them, but I destroyed them as soon as read, or, when their tenor had become familiar, as soon as opened. One sentence I remember very clearly: 'The Allies, even with American aid, can never defeat Germany.'"

LET THEIR INSURANCE LAPSE

Only 2 of 12 Ex-Service Men Slain by Bomb Carried War Policies.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The Treasury Department announced today that only two of the twelve former service men who were killed by the explosion in Wall Street had maintained their Government war risk life insurance after being discharged.

One of these was Colonel Charles Neville, until recently in the Quartermaster Corps, and the other William T. Joyce, an employe of J. P. Morgan & Co., and a former member of the United States Signal Corps. Colonel Neville and Joyce each carried a $10,000 policy. The former officer named his wife as beneficiary, and Joyce, who lived at 1,806 Ditman Avenue, Brooklyn, made his mother, Mrs. Esther Payne Joyce, his beneficiary. Joyce entered the service March 8, 1918.

TO AID 2,500,000 CHILDREN.

Hoover and Charities Bodies Confer on European Sufferers.

Conferences are in progress, it was announced here yesterday, between Herbert Hoover, Chairman of the American Relief Administration, and officials of the Red Cross, Jewish Joint Distribution Committee, Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A. and various church bodies, both Catholic and Protestant, with a view to "joint and co-operative action in the effective organization of American charity toward 2,500,000 destitute children in Europe the coming Winter."

Mr. Hoover, it was said, has just received reports from a conference of sectional managers of child-feeding operations abroad which indicate that approximately 2,500,000 children of Austria, Czechoslovakia, Poland and the Baltic States and other parts of Central Europe, must be fed until the next harvest "to avert an unthinkable tragedy." The children are largely war orphans.

The American Relief Administration, it was said, fed 6,000,000 children during the Winter of 1919. With the gradual improvement in some countries the number of hungry waifs decreased to about 3,250,000 last Winter. This year's crops have still further reduced the juvenile dependents by about 1,000,000. The funds of the Hoover organization, it was stated, will be exhausted about next Jan. 1, at which time, unless there is support on a large scale, the work will cease or operations will have to be so curtailed that "deaths from starvation will rival any casualty lists of the Great War."

The Red Cross, it was said, also "faces the desperate need of holding back the sweep of disease over vast territories."

The Telephone Crisis

Our net revenue for the month of January 1920 in New York City amounted to $751,000. That figure indicated an annual return of about 8% upon the lowest conservative estimate of the value of the property in public use in the City.

February net revenue dropped $213,000 below January.
March net revenue dropped 362,000 below January.
April net revenue dropped 456,000 below January.
May net revenue dropped 702,000 below January.
June net revenue dropped 571,000 below January.

For July there was no net revenue. We had a deficit of more than $73,000.

This decline in net revenue is due to the impossibility of maintaining with present rates a proper relation between gross revenue and necessary costs of operation under the abnormal economic conditions that exist today.

Based upon operating results during the first seven months of 1920 we would earn this year less than 2% upon the most conservative valuation of our property in the Metropolis.

The protection of the service in the public interest demands that prompt action be taken to relieve this situation.

"LOAFING" RANGE "SPORTING" RANGE

THE RACE BY VIGOR, NOT BY VAUNTS, IS WON

WHETHER it be the race of life itself, or of a runner on the road, or of motor cars, victory comes to courage, strength and endurance.

Here at the Peerless factory we have tried to avoid a boasting and vaunting spirit. Driven by certain ideals of accomplishment, we have dug deep into the realms of mechanics, of chemistry, of physics, so that we might bring together in a motor car the qualities of vigor.

These lines of Lowell's:

"Endurance is the crowning quality,
And patience all the passion of great hearts."

Great, then, the heart of a motor car if into it have been built the gentleness of patience and the ruggedness of courage and fighting power.

Many years of work and waiting produced the Peerless Two-power-range Eight—too many years, indeed, to risk the disaster that comes from superlative talk, however warranted it may be in our own minds.

We believe in the Peerless Car. That others believe in it, also, is shown by the large percentage of owners who return to us for new cars and are glad to find that in the past five years we have not seen fit to change the fundamental principle upon which the first Two-power-range Eight was built.

These are the real rewards we have worked for. They are the real measure of our accomplishment.

P.P.C. Printing Facts

THE love of ornament, which is more or less a universal human attribute, inspired some ingenious designer to invent the mortised initial for the benefit of those who cannot afford to have a special initial drawn for the particular job. Here we have sentiment with economy. But the result is hardly alluring. Much better to use a plain capital than attempt to gain distinction by the use of a stock ornamental initial, which never seems entirely appropriate.

legislators during the special session at Albany in an effort to obtain suitable housing legislation.

The Mayor's letter to Corporation Counsel O'Brien yesterday follows:

City of New York, Office of the Mayor,
Sept. 22, 1920.
John P. O'Brien, Esq., Corporation Counsel:

Dear Mr. O'Brien: I wish you and as many of your staff as is necessary would go to Albany to aid in every possible way in securing proper legislation for housing relief in this city. You will find Tenement House Commissioner Frank Mann, who is Chairman of the Mayor's Housing Conference Committee, and Arthur J. W. Hilly, Chairman of the Mayor's Committee on Rent Profiteering, there also to give every possible assistance to relieve and protect the hundreds of thousands of tenants who are liable to be dispossessed unless some relief legislation is enacted at the special session of the Legislature at Albany.

Also give every possible atttention to bus legislation, in accordance with the message of his Excellency Governor Smith, so that the municipality will be able to appropriate money to purchase buses and operate them in the streets of the City of New York, to the end that the people may be accommodated and not be at the mercy of the traction interests. Very truly yours,
JOHN F. HYLAN.

Instructions to Mann and Hilly.

In his letter to Mr. Mann, the Mayor said:

"I hope you will go to Albany and give every possible attention to the legislation necessary to relieve, in so far as possible, the housing conditions in the city, and protect the tenants from being deliberately evicted. Take whatever assistance you deem advisable to this end."

The Mayor directed Mr. Hilly to render assistance in obtaining "legislation to protect the rights of the hundreds of thousands of people who have received notice of eviction on Oct. 1." Before he left for Albany last night Mr. Hilly said he would urge upon the Legislature the enactment of the measures set forth in the Lockwood recommendations. He said he was confident that these would become laws.

"I will appear before the Legislature," he said, "to make a special plea for the enactment of those provisions of the proposed bills which eliminate the 25 per cent. clause and cast the burden of proof on the landlord to establish the reasonableness of further increases in rent.

"Another bill whose passage I will strongly urge is that providing for the elimination of holdover proceedings for at least two years. The passage of this measure is more important than any of the others. The right to dispossess tenants must be curtailed if wholesale evictions this October are to be stopped.

"The proposed legislation is not intended to improve housing, as that is another matter entirely. Landlords who cry out that the proposed rent laws will prevent the building of houses never built a house in their lives and have no intention of building. The housing situation is a matter which readily can be taken care of. For the present the question is, How are landlords to be prevented from gouging their tenants or from putting them out into the street because they refuse to be gouged?"

"Bankers, depositors and investors generally are interested in the action to be taken by the Legislature," said Leo Day Woodworth, Secretary of the Savings Bank Section, American Bankers' Association. "Our public officials are dealing with more than housing. The bills introduced, other than a few revisions of the legal relations of landlord and tenant, both directly and indirectly relate to our whole body of private finance more than is generally appreciated.

Sees Danger in Proposed Laws.

"A well-organized lobby is using the 'emergency' of Oct. 1 to obtain tax exemptions for mortgage loans, both old and new, which is not only admittedly vicious in principle but a particularly dangerous precedent.

"Although the 'emergency' which warranted the special session is predicted for this coming Oct. 1, the Governor's message relates largely to matters which can have no immediate effect, and which cannot be determined quickly. Bankers and financiers are especially interested in the second phase—how to stimulate building. The Governor finds that building is unprofitable, and then makes the astonishing statement that 'loaning institutions' apparently have not kept in step with the times and have spent their energy in securing investments bringing a larger return than real estate mortgages, but neither of these statements is substantiated.

"The blame, so far as capital is concerned, is not placed where it clearly belongs—in the first place, with governmental interference with normal economic processes, and in the second place upon the price-fixing principle involved in New York's unscientific usury law. Temporary relief is urged through various forms of tax exemption and through placing millions of tax funds in the hands of political appointees for loans to individuals."

The Bulletin of the American Acceptance Council today will comment upon the proposal to prohibit New York savings banks from investing in bankers' acceptances, so that these institutions may have more funds to invest in real estate. The Bulletin will say in part:

"The savings banks use acceptances for the investment of temporary funds in much the same way as the large interior banks, prior to the organization of the Federal Reserve system, invested their temporary funds in the call loans of Wall Street. It is safe to say, therefore, that even if the savings banks should be prohibited from continuing such investments, no additional funds would be available for employment in real estate loans or other long-term obligations."

Tenants of Aeolian Hall have been called to meet next Tuesday night to consider action to be taken on a reported large increase in rent, according to Mrs. Lelia M. Tinsley of the Tinsley Company, whose offices are in Aeolian Hall. Mrs. Tinsley announced last night that she would preside at the meeting, called for 8 o'clock in her office, Rooms 1 544-45.

BOSTON LOSES TO RUSHING DODGERS

Sherrod Smith Tames Braves and Brooklyn Wins Game by a Score of 3 to 1.

ANOTHER HOMER FOR KONEY

Big First Baseman Makes Circuit Hit—Strikeout Tallies Run for Hub Clan.

The Dodgers drove another spike into the pennant pole yesterday by feasting on the lowly Braves at Ebbets Field, winning by a 3 to 1 score, and thereby grabbing one of the three victories that are needed before Squire Ebbets can begin selling tickets for the world's series. With two more victories on the right side of the ledger, the Squire of Flatbush expects a considerable increase in his correspondence, which has been comparatively light up to this time.

The Robins weren't extended much in winning. They packed away a run off Fillingim in the third inning and added another in the fifth on a double, a sacrifice and a single. In the sixth the Hub clan uprose temporarily and pushed a tally across, their lone marker of the engagement, and then relapsed again into a pleasant state of submission. For good measure Koney whaled a home run into the far corner of left field in the eighth. It bounded past the corner of the temporary bleachers, and Umpire Harrison allowed the big first baseman to trot home from third base, where he had stopped when the ball was relayed back to the infield.

Rabbit Maranville was one of those disturbed by the decision. The diminutive infielder began to spill conversation all around the home plate, just to relieve the tedium of a quiet and chilly afternoon. After the side had been retired the Rabbit again took up the chat, and when he came to bat a few minutes later he was still talking about it, illustrating the lecture with gesticulations in the direction of left field in an effort to impress Umpire Harrison.

Aside from this slight diversion, the afternoon was as quiet and peaceful as a tea party. Sherrod Smith, Robbie's nomination for the mound duty, southpawed the Braves into submission in every inning but the sixth, when two singles and a questionable decision by Harrison were merged to produce the only Hub tally of the pastime. Smith yielded only six hits and played his position so effectively as to cut down a number of Boston hits. The left-hander had seven assists and was on the front end of two fast double plays. He yielded four bingles in the first three innings and allowed only two more in the remaining five.

Strikeout Scores Run.

The lone Boston tally resulted from a strikeout by Rabbit Maranville. With runners on second and third in the sixth and two out, the Boston shortfielder swung heavily after he had accumulated two strikes. To the innocent and casual observer it seemed that the bat had tipped the ball slightly enough to send it skipping past Otto Miller. But Umpire Harrison had different ideas about it. He called it a third strike, while Maranville scampered to first after a short hesitation and Sullivan checked in at the plate. Manager Robinson, Miller, Olson and Smith gathered around the arbiter after the decision and argued vainly that it had been a foul tip. The play was scored as a passed ball for Miller and Smith, of course, got a strike-out to his credit.

Fillingim was enough of a puzzle to the Robins to keep the battle close all the way. He allowed a solitary hit in the first and two in the third, this pair being manufactured into Brooklyn's first run. Three more were combined in the fifth to produce a tally, and Koney's homer in the eighth completed both the hitting and run scoring of the home clan. Of the nine hits amassed by the Robins, Otto Miller took unto himself three, two singles and a double. Koney backed up his home run with a double to left in the third, and also scored two of Brooklyn's trio of counters.

Boeckel contributed the fielding gem of the game when he snared Smith's torrid grounder with his gloved hand in the seventh canto and threw the pitcher out at first. The play choked off a Brooklyn run, Miller being on second as a result of a single and Sullivan's error.

Powell started the Braves' half of the first inning by singling past Johnston. When Mann hit to Smith the southpaw threw to Olson and stopped Powell at the middle bag. Smith also tossed Sullivan out at first, and Holke skied to Koney for the third out. In the Brooklyn half, Olson shot a single to left and was sacrificed to second by Johnston. Griffith and Wheat, however, were eay for Ford, who retired them at first.

The Braves kept right after Smith in the second. Sergeant Hank Gowdy singled to left with two down, and Ford sent a single to the same territory, Gowdy romping to third on the hit. Fillingim fanned, ending the inning.

Squeeze Play Works.

After going out in order in the second, the Superbas broke the ice in the third. Miller poked a long double to centre to start the ball rolling and was pushed along to third on Olson's out, Ford to Holke, a strikeout by Smith being inserted between these plays. Robbie then called for the squeeze play and Johnston replied with a perfect bunt down the third base line which he beat out at first, Miller meanwhile racing across the dish.

Koney started the fifth by doubling to left centre. Kilduff sacrificed him to third, and Miller completed the job by punching a single over second base, Koney scoring. Smith also rolled a single across the keystone station, but Olson grounded to Fillingim and Powell took care of Johnston's fly.

The Braves picked up their only run in the next frame, the sixth. With one out, Sullivan singled to left and Holke beat out a frail tap to Johnston. Both runners advanced a base when Miller let a pitch roll off the end of his mit. Boeckel fanned on three swings and Maranville seemed to be in the same fix with two strikes against him. At this juncture the Rabbit swung at the third pitch and the ball rolled past Miller to the stand while Sullivan scored; the umpire ruling that it was a third strike instead of a foul tip. On the double steal, Maranville was cut down at second, Miller to Smith to Kilduff.

Koney's four-base slam in the eighth restored the run. The first baseman's drive came with two down. It was his second successive homer in two games, he having punched a drive into the left field bleachers on Monday that rescued the Pittsburgh game in the ninth inning. In the last three frames the Braves went out in one-two-three order.

Reds Eliminated, Robins Need 2 Games, Indians Hold Edge

The Cincinnati Reds, winners of the world's baseball championship last October, passed out of the pennant picture yesterday as a result of two defeats at the hands of the Pirates. If the Robins lose all their remaining six games and the Reds win their remaining ten Brooklyn still would be ahead of the Reds. With Cincinnati eliminated only the Giants remain to dispute the right of the Robins to represent the National League in the world's series. The Giants have eight more games to play—five with the Robins, two with the Braves and one with the Phillies. Brooklyn has five with New York and one with Boston.

Two victories by Brooklyn in the remaining six games will put the Robins beyond the reach of the Giants. The Giants, necessarily, would lose one game since Brooklyn cannot win two without taking one from New York. Allowing Brooklyn two victories in the six games, while the Giants win all except one game of the Brooklyn series, the standing would be:

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Brooklyn	91	63	.591
New York	90	64	.584

If Brooklyn wins but one of the five games with New York and loses the remaining five games on its schedule the best New York can do, with victories in all contests except one of the Brooklyn series, would be to tie the Robins. The standing then would be:

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Brooklyn	90	64	.584
New York	90	64	.584

In other words, Brooklyn has only to win two of its five games with the Giants or take one from the Giants and one from the Braves to clinch the pennant.

In the American League all teams rested yesterday. Today the Indians and the White Sox open a three-game series and Chicago must take three straight to go into first place. Two victories would tighten the race considerably without changing the relative positions. A clean sweep would almost mean the pennant for the successful team, but the advantage now rests all with the Indians.

CARDINALS BEAT PHILLIES.

Stengel's Homer Saves Quakers from Shutout—Score Is 4 to 2.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 22.—Stengel's home run over the right field wall with Williams on base in the ninth saved Philadelphia from a shut-out at the hands of Lyons, St. Louis recruit pitcher from Sioux City, the visitors winning, 4 to 2.

Lyons also drove home his team's first run. Clever bunting by Williams and Causey featured, the latter getting two safe hits by this method.

Indianapolis Scores Three Runs in Ninth and Wins, 7 to 6.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 22.—The Indianapolis team of the American Association defeated the New York team of the American League in an exhibition contest here today, 7 to 6. The locals won by hitting Rip Collins hard in the ninth inning, scoring three men after two were out. Fifteen thousand people turned out to see Babe Ruth perform. The monarch played first base, but failed to add to his home run collection. However, he landed a double and two singles in three trips to the plate.

Curves and Bingles

The Robins have one more engagement with the Braves, the Boston troupe being scheduled to bring the Ebbets Field season to a close on Oct. 3.

Fillingim was evidently in some fear of Koney's prowess with the stick, for after the big Bohemian had doubled in the fifth he received what was suspiciously like an intentional pass in the sixth. Myers was on first at the time and there were two down.

In the same inning Hy Myers threw a run away with a piece of reckless base running. He was on second and Koney on first when Kilduff grounded to Maranville, who made an unsuccessful attempt to force Koney at second. Myers in the meantime rounded third and tried for home, but was out by several yards when Ford tossed to Gowdy.

Sherrod Smith would have had a shut-out but for the peculiar way Maranville has of fanning. All told, the Brooklyn southpaw whiffed six of the Boston batters.

The Robins will rest for two days before encountering the Giants at Ebbets Field on Saturday and Sunday. The three other games of the important series will be played on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week at the Polo Grounds.

The straw hat crop is slowly being exhausted. When Koney smashed his homer in the eighth, one solitary piece of straw headgear was tossed on to the field.

Powell made two of Boston's six hits, and both of them came in his first two times at bat. The first started the opening frame and the second inaugurated the third chapter, in each case the Braves' centre fielder being forced at second.

GIANTS DOWN CUBS IN FINAL CONTEST

Tyler Fails to Puzzle McGraw's Team and Chicago Drops Free-Hitting Game, 7-2.

BANCROFT'S BAT IS BUSY

Shortstop Contributes Four Bingles and Two Runs—Douglas in Form After Early Innings.

The Giants continued their chase after the fast-stepping Robins yesterday and moved along just as fast as the schedule permitted by scoring a decisive victory over the Chicago Cubs at the Polo Grounds. In spite of their good work the McGrawmen failed to gain, however, as the Robins, some distance ahead, were moving along just as fast as the Giants. The Cubs, making their final appearance of the year at the Harlem arena, furnished weak opposition and were buried under a 7 to 2 score.

Fred Mitchell made two poor guesses before he picked a pitcher who could cause the McGrawmen any real trouble and while the Cub chief was doing his experimenting Davy Bancroft socked the Giants along to an impressive lead. The little shortstop grabbed off four hits during the afternoon, scored two runs and helped considerably in the compilation of four other markers. A run which Snyder carried over in the fourth inning was the lone counter of the Giants which was not driven over the plate or helped along by one of Bancroft's hits.

George Tyler, who did some fancy flinging when the Cubs last appeared in Harlem, was the first to feel the ferocity of the New York attack. The veteran side-wheeler drew the opening nomination but he was allowed to drift to the clubhouse after two innings of very ineffective pitching. Bill Bailey followed and a flock of New York hits in the fourth inning sent him along to join Tyler. Speed Martin followed Bailey and he put a check on the batting activity of the Giants, but his good pitching arrived too late to have any effect on the result of the game. The Giants had more than enough runs before Speed came into the picture.

Douglas in no Danger.

All the time Phil Douglas was following the fast pace that had been set by other McGraw regulars in recent games. The Shuffler got away to a poor start, being nicked for a run in the opening frame, the result of two hits, with a sacrifice sandwiched in, and in the second chapter O'Farrell belted a ball into the left field bleachers. The home run tied things up and caused Philip some uneasiness until Bancroft came to the rescue in New York's half and added two more runs to the Giants' side of the ledger. That was all that Douglas needed, and he breezed along for the remainder of the route without being in any danger.

Mitchell introduced a pair of newcomers for the inspection of the 15,000 fans in the persons of Leathers, a shortstop, and Mariott, a second baseman. The newcomers made a good impression, particularly Leathers. He had several chances to boot one during the afternoon, but he proved that there is nothing in a name. Mariott did the only booting that was noticeable around second base.

In defeating the Cubs the McGrawmen achieved the ambition which has been theirs persistently since the Robins jumped away several days ago to a lead of five games. They wanted to remain close enough to tie Uncle Robbie's crowd or take the lead in this string of five games. If McGraw's men can take all five games to be played with Brooklyn, they can pass the Robins before the curtain is rung down on the pennant race, but taking five straight from a league leader is akin to keeping a bird in an open lot. The party of the second part has to fall dead. The Giants still are hopeful, but when they talk about a series they mention Ruth and Mays and Shawkey. Even optimism has its limits.

Cubs Get Away in Front.

The Cubs jumped on Douglas in the first frame as if Phil was not destined to remain long in public view. Flack greeted the Shuffler with a slap to right field for two cushions, and Leathers, the bootless shortstop, sacrificed Max along to third. Robertson beat out a roller to Doyle, and here was a run over the plate before some of the fans had reached their seats. Further danger was averted when Barber bounded to Douglas and into a double play.

The Giants did not trail very long. Burns drove a single to left and hurried along to third when Bancroft delivered the first of four successive hits, a double to right. Young got a hit because there was nobody to cover first on his infield roller, and Burns brought over the tieing run, Bancroft going to third. Frisch's fly to Flack was too short for scoring purposes, so Kelly hit one to Paskert that was long enough for Bancroft to make the plate safely.

With one gone in the Cubs' second inning, O'Farrell lifted a ball into the left field bleachers and turned the game into a real argument again. The next two batsmen passed out quickly, and then the Giants stepped on the gas and jumped into a lead that never was threatened.

Grimes had been retired in New York's second when Frank Snyder hit to right field and hobbled all the way to second base. The big catcher was badly bruised while tagging a runner at the plate in Monday's game, and he limped through yesterday's battle. Douglas's out advanced Snyder; Burns walked and Bancroft again came through with a hit. It was a single to right which sent Snyder home and Burns to third. A double steal was tried, and it developed into a success, Burns scoring.

More Runs for the Giants.

Bill Bailey was on the hill when the Giants took up the cudgels in the third inning, which passed quietly without a runner reaching first base. In the fourth it was a different story. Snyder carried his game leg all the way to second on a drive along the left-field line and again went to third while Leathers was throwing Douglas out, as he had done in the second inning. Burns singled to centre and the run was over. A great stop by Paskert held the hit down to a single, though it was ticketed for extra bases. Bancroft again chased Burns to third with a single to right, also repeating on the second inning, and Young's single to right delivered the run. Young's hit put a sudden end to Bailey's activities and Martin came into the game.

Frisch was the first to face Martin, and he welcomed him with a smack to right for two bases, Bancroft scoring and Young reaching third. Then Martin put on the breaks and the scoring ended through Kelly's strike-out and King's roller to Leathers.

EBBETS STILL HOLDING OFF.

Will Not Answer Ticket Applications Until Race Is Settled.

Letters containing applications for tickets for the world's series games at Ebbets Field will not be answered until the National League pennant race has been settled, President Charles H. Ebbets announced yesterday. Just how many such communications have been received the Brooklyn President did not say, but the statement said that all box seats on the lower tier have been applied for. No decision will be made on press passes also until the pennant race has been decided.

The statement follows:

"President Ebbets has received a number of letters making application for tickets, also for press passes for the world's series. He has not answered these letters, preferring to wait until the National League race is decided.

"He trusts the correspondents will appreciate the fact that failure to reply to communications relative to the world's series is due to the conditions as above.

"All box seats on the lower tier have been spoken for in communications received thus far."

O'DOWD AND LEWIS READY.

Finish Training for 12-Round Bout Tonight at Jersey City.

Mike O'Dowd of St. Paul, former world's middleweight champion, and Ted (Kid) Lewis, erstwhile leader of the welterweight class, will clash in their twelve-round bout this evening at the Jersey City Baseball Park, under the auspices of The Arena. The two boxers, together with the remainder of the competitors in other bouts on the card, were reported in excellent condition last night, after completing their training.

According to a time schedule the stellar attraction between O'Dowd and Lewis will begin at 10:15 o'clock. The first bout, bringing together Jimmy Sullivan and Joe Stacey, is scheduled for 8:30 o'clock. The principals in the second contest, Frankie Burns and Charley Beecher, will enter the ring thirty-five minutes later, and Willie Jackson of the Bronx, and Ned Fitzgerald, Australian lightweight, are scheduled to fight in the semi-final at 9:40 o'clock. Harry Ertle and Charlie Rosen will alternate as referees. The prices of tickets for the bouts range from $2 to $10. The scene of the contests can be reached either by taking the tube to Summit Avenue and then jitneys or trolleys direct to the park, or by way of the Central Railroad ferry at the foot of Liberty Street to West Side Avenue.

INCOGNITI PILE UP RUNS AT CRICKET

Britons Collect 377 Against All-New York, Jardine's 133 Being Feature of Day's Play.

Maintaining the fine form shown earlier in Philadelphia and piling up their second largest total in the eighth match of their tour in this country, but with all of the eleven batsmen put out, the Incogniti cricketers of England yesterday made a good start against the picked team representing All-New York in the international match on the grounds of the Staten Island Cricket and Tennis Club.

The tourists, who won the toss, elected to bat first, and succeeded in amassing the huge total of 377 runs, batting from 11:30 in the morning until 4:30 in the afternoon, with an hour's intermission for luncheon. The remainder of the day was utilized by the metropolitan batsmen, who put together a total of 54 runs for the loss of three wickets. They will resume their innings at 11 o'clock this morning and will endeavor to make a little more headway against the skillful bowling of the Britons than they were able to do yesterday.

The fourth century of the Incogniti's tour was amassed by D. R. Jardine, last year's Oxford University captain, who gave a most brilliant exhibition, scoring at will off every one of the New York trundlers sent out against him. His individual total reached 133, of which he had gathered 115 before luncheon. All told, he was at the wicket for two hours and twenty-five minutes and, in company with Captain M. B. Burrows, carried the score from 71 to 227 for the second wicket.

DEMPSEY-SANCHEZ BOUT IS LOOMING

Cuban Offers to Put $100,000 in New York Bank for Champion for Fight on Jan. 9.

Negotiations for the proposed championship bout between Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, and John Sanchez, the so-called Spanish heavyweight champion, are beginning to assume concrete form, and there is reason to believe that the match may be arranged within the next couple of weeks.

Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, announced last night that he had received another cablegram from Señor Ordapal the Cuban sportsman, reiterating his offer of a $100,000 guarantee, with the privilege of 50 per cent. of the gate receipts, for Dempsey. He also stated that he was preparing to leave Havana to come to this city for a conference which, if successful, would lead to his depositing the full amount of the guarantee in a bank in this city. Ordapal stated that this money would be so deposited that Dempsey would be able to collect it twenty-four hours after the bout was over. The cablegram follows:

"Your expenses will be paid by you. Money placed in any New York bank to be paid in cash twenty-four hours after fight. Fight to be held in Havana on second Sunday in January. Am leaving for New York soon."

"That sounds like business," said Kearns last evening. "I am willing to arrange the bout if all the terms and conditions are satisfactory. I do not know who Sanchez is, but that doesn't make any difference to Dempsey. Jack is willing to fight any one in the world in defense of his title."

Kearns declined to make any comment on the action of the Massachusetts Boxing Commission in officially declaring against the proposed bout between Dempsey and Frank Moran, which Boston promoters were trying to arrange for Revere on Oct. 12.

BAYVIEW HANDICAP WON BY ON WATCH

Loft's Three-Year-Old Racer Leads Hildreth's Cirrus Home by 3 Lengths.

SEA MINT IS WELL RIDDEN

Ensor Brings His Mount Over Finish Line First in Glorifier Highweight Handicap.

Sam C. Hildreth's Cirrus, which was ranked among the topnotchers of the handicap division after his victory in the Brooklyn Handicap, is finding it difficult to handle his three-year-old opponents. Following closely upon his defeat by John P. Grier last week, this son of Tracery and Morningside bowed to another three-year-old at Aqueduct yesterday, when G. W. Loft's On Watch beat him decisively in the Bayview Handicap at a mile and a sixteenth, and in doing so set a new track record. With an advantage of but four pounds in the weights on the scale, On Watch led home the Hildreth racer by three lengths, covering the distance in 1:43 4-5, one-fifth of a second better than the mark established earlier in the season by Exterminator.

On Watch has been none too consistent a performer this year, but he was at his very best yesterday and never left the issue in doubt. He raced Cirrus until the latter was leg weary in the stretch and then drew away, to win very easily. Cirrus displayed good speed for a part of the distance, but it was quite evident that he could not concede weight to his young rival. H. P. Whitney's Damask was third and J. E. Widener's Fair Gain, the only other starter, was a bad last.

The defeat of Cirrus was a hard blow to the form players, for the Hildreth horse had been made a strong favorite. After opening at 6 to 5 he was so heavily backed that he went to the post quoted at 13 to 20, while On Watch was at 18 to 5.

Two Other Horses Trail.

It was practically a two-horse race all the way, for Damask and Fair Gain appeared to be outclassed. Cirrus left the barrier in front, but had gone but a few strides when On Watch came up beside him and soon took the lead. The two drew away from the others, but raced within half a length of each other all the way through the back stretch and half way around the turn. At this point Ensor attempted to move up with Cirrus and got within a nose of the leader, but On Watch needed but one nudge to send him into a lead of a length, and once in the stretch he was practically without opposition. Cirrus did his best, but On Watch continued to draw away, and Davies was looking back confidently at the finish.

Cirrus was easily the best of the others, and was second, four lengths in front of Damask. The Hildreth racer had no excuse for his defeat except that he was not good enough to concede four pounds to the Loft colt. Damask raced with Fair Gain for half the distance and then disposed of the latter to get third by five lengths. Fair Gain ran a surprisingly dull race for a horse that had never been out of the money all season.

The Glorifier Highweight Handicap for all ages at six and a half furlongs saw the undoing of another well played favorite when the Oak Ridge Stable's Sea Mint got up under a good ride by Ensor to beat the heavily supported Sennings Park a length. Major Parke was third among eight starters.

Sea Mint Is Ridden Out.

Sea Mint ran to improved form, but had to be ridden out to last, and it appeared as though Ensor kept him going for fifty yards after the colt had given evidence of tiring badly. Sea Mint was away with a rush, while Sennings Park was off in a tangle. The winner led all the way. Sennings Park was rushed up into a contending position at once and this effort seemed to tell on him at the end, for he weakened badly at the end of the stretch drive.

The Quincy Stable's Playfellow, full brother to Man o' War, has yet to do anything to distinguish himself. This youngster was again made the choice in a field of two-year-olds in a dash at six furlongs, and was again defeated. The race went to the Foreign Stable's Maiden's Ballet, which took the track at the start and led her field a merry chase to win by six lengths. Black Knight was third.

Playfellow has had many trials and yesterday was dropped in with what appeared to be the weakest opposition he had yet faced. Maiden's Ballet got a flying start and, gaining a lead of four lengths in a few jumps, was never threatened. Playfellow was forced to do his best to take second, and quite evidently lacks all the qualities which have made his big brother famous.

Vanderbilt Stable Sold to A. K. Macomber, Paris Hears

PARIS, Sept. 22.—The stable of the late W. K. Vanderbilt has been sold to A. K. Macomber, the millionaire American horseman, it is understood here. The price named is 12,000,000f., the first installment of which, 5,000,000f., was paid today. The sale, the reports state, includes the contract of Jockey Frank O'Neill, the complete stable of thirty-eight brood mares, four stallions, thirty-two yearlings, twenty foals and all horses in training, as well as the Poissy estate and the Deauville property. Negotiations over the contract with William Duke, the Vanderbilt trainer, are understood to be still pending.

MILKMAID BEATEN BY HEAVY IMPOST

Ross Filly, Carrying 128 Pounds, Loses Suffragette Handicap to Pen Rose.

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., Sept. 22.—Although Commander J. K. L. Ross's Milkmaid has established herself as the best and most consistent filly in the country there is a limit to the weight she can concede, as was in evidence today when she was again the victim of a heavy impost. Attempting to carry 128 pounds in the Suffragette Handicap at a mile and a sixteenth she was beaten by the Triple Springs Farm's fleet Pen Rose with but 107 pounds up. Rubidium was the only other starter and came near to getting the place from Milkmaid.

This was the third time this year that Pen Rose had defeated Milkmaid under weight advantages. Despite the difference in the imposts the Ross filly was a 3 to 10 favorite. Pen Rose assumed the lead at once and was kept under slight restraint to the head of the stretch, where she drew away and won as her rider pleased. Milkmaid made her usual game effort and followed the pace closely until Pen Rose began to open up the gap. The weight told so plainly on Milkmaid in the last furlong that she could not finish with her usual rush and the lightly weighted Rubidium got within a neck for second place.

UNDER FIRE WINS CUP.

Captures Trophy at Lexington and Sets New Track Record.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 22.—Pat Dunne's four-year-old colt, Under Fire, today won the Lexington Cup at a mile and a half and set a new track record for the distance with a mark of 2:29 4-5. Against a field of good distance performers he led home Minto 2d by two lengths, while Best Pal was third, eight lengths further back. There were six starters for the race, which had an added value of $5,000.

Under Fire was restrained during the early running and had the most speed for the final furlong. Best Pal set a very fast pace for a mile, closely attended by Minto 2d, but the effort told on him and when it came to the final drive he weakened badly. Under Fire moved up and, assuming the lead, drew away easily. Minto 2d managed to dispose of Best Pal when the latter tired but did not have enough speed left to withstand the rush of Under Fire.

WORLD'S RECORD IS SET IN MILE PACE

Frisco June Establishes Mark of 2:03¼ for Three-Year-Old Colts at Columbus.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 22. — A new world's record for three-year-old pacing colts was established at the Grand Circuit meeting here today. Frisco June, W. W. Fleming's bay colt, stepped the third heat of the Horse Review Futurity in 2:03 1-4. Frisco June had dropped the first heat of the race to Trampsafe, which prior to today had held jointly with General Todd the three-year-old colt pacing record. Trampsafe, however, was unable to stand the pace and lost in the stretch in the last two heats.

Margaret Dillon won the Hartman Hotel stake for 2:11 class pacers. G. A. Valentine, after the mare had made bad breaks in the first two heats, was substituted for Jack Monroe, as driver. Symcol S. Forrest, driven by Walter Cox, won the first heat in 2:01¼, establishing a new record for the event. The second heat was captured by John Henry, but with Valentine behind Margaret Dillon, she stepped away from them in the last two.

Esther R., a Murphy entry, won the third and last heat of the 2:07 class pacing, continued from yesterday. She had already taken yesterday's two heats.

TENNIS AT ENGLEWOOD.

Five Matches Played in Tourney for State Doubles Title.

Some excellent tennis featured the opening day's play in the New Jersey doubles tennis championship at the Englewood Field Club yesterday. Nineteen strong combinations have entered play for the State title, including the present playing through champions, Mrs. Morris and Mr. Iler. There was one default in the first round and four matches were played while another match in the second round was disposed of. The champions did not get into action yesterday but they will play one of the feature matches scheduled for today when they will tackle Mr. and Mrs. Hartman.

In most instances yesterday the matches were stubbornly contested. After winning their first match Mrs. Barnes and Mr. Lazo lost to Miss MacAuflin and Mr. Pearsal in the only second round match to be contested. They were beaten 6—1, but came back strong for the second set and compelled the ultimate winners to travel through twelve hard games before finally succumbing by a score of 7—5.

Miss MacAuflin and Mr. Pearsal won their opening match defeating Mrs. Judson and Mr. Moore. The winners scored in straight sets, but not until the first set had been carried to fourteen games, the score being 8—6. The strain of this playing seemed to tell on Mrs. Judson and Mr. Moore and they fell somewhat easier in the second set, 6—3.

The summaries:

New Jersey Mixed Doubles Championship—First Round—Miss G. Hopper and Mr. E. Fink won by default; Miss MacAuflin and Mr. Pearsal defeated Mrs. Judson and Mr. Moore, 8—6, 6—3; Mrs. Barnes and Mr. Lazo defeated Mrs. Blaikie and Mr. Brokie, 6—4, 6—4; Miss Frost and Mr. Crumble defeated Miss Blache and Mr. Blache, 7—5, 6—2; Miss Kidder and Mr. Kidder defeated Miss Chapman and Mr. Stuart, 6—4, 6—3. FOXHUNTERS TAKE CLOSE POLO GAME

Bryn Mawr Riders Have Better of Cooperstown Juniors in National Tourney.

DECIDED IN FINAL CHUKKER

Tally Is Seven Goals Each with Last Period Half Gone and Then Victors Score Two More.

In the continuation of the preliminary games of the Junior National Polo Championship series yesterday on the Meadow Brook Club's ground at Westbury, L. I., the Bryn Mawr Foxhunters met the Cooperstown Junior four and defeated them by the score of 9 goals to 7 in a well fought game, during which the teams alternated in the lead. At the conclusion of the first half of the final chukker they were tied at 7 goals each.

The outstanding feature of the game was the brilliant playing of F. H. Prince, Jr., who was all over the field, riding hard and driving straight as well as most materially assisting his mates by good team play. Honors for scoring were quite well distributed among the players of both teams, and several of the goals were difficult ones.

Admission to the field yesterday was free, and the gallery, though of only fair size, made up for any lack of numbers by enthusiasm. Aside from the present series, the chief subject of discussion among the polo enthusiasts was that of the probable makeup of the team to be sent from this country to England next year to compete for the International or Hurlingham Cup. The lineup which, according to the apparent consensus of opinion of the players and other experts, appears most probable is Rumsey at 1, Hitchcock at 2, Watson Webb at 3 and Milburn at back, with Stoddard as substitute for Rumsey and Cowdin as alternate for Webb.

There was no scoring in the first chukker yesterday and E. C. Bacon was the first to score in the second, with Prince adding another soon after, which gave Cooperstown the advantage of a substantial lead at the start, but J. C. Cooley drove home a cleverly hit goal before the period ended, and then in the third period Strawbridge, Sr., and Lee tallied two more for the Bryn Mawr Foxhunters, a lead of one which was canceled just before the period ended by a goal scored by Von Stade, which tied the score.

Prince put Cooperstown in the lead again in the fourth by a clever shot at a sharp angle which went cleanly between the posts, and E. C. Bacon set the score still one more ahead, while Strawbridge, Sr., ended the period with another for the Foxhunters, and the first half ended with the score at 5 to 4 in favor of Cooperstown.

The fifth chukker passed without either team scoring, and during the sixth each side added one goal to its score, Lee advancing the Foxhunters' tally while Von Stade did the good work for Cooperstown, and the score was 6 to 5 which standing was reversed in the seventh chukker when Strawbridge, Jr., and Cooley put two more through for Bryn Mawr, the period ending with the score 7 to 6 in favor of the Foxhunters.

The eighth and final period was the most interesting one of the game. On a foul by Strawbridge, Sr., Prince, in the allowed free drive, scored a goal for Cooperstown and the teams were tied at 7 goals. In the latter half of the period Lee and Strawbridge, Jr., both scored for the Foxhunters and the game ended with that team the victors by a two-goal margin. Bryn Mawr meets West Point today in the semi-finals, and on Saturday the winners of today's game meet the Bryn Mawr Foxhunters in the finals.

HAIGHT SETS NEW MARK.

Clips Seven Strokes Off Belleclaire Course Record with a 68.

Richard A. Haight, the young Princetonian who plays golf at Belleclaire when not studying, yesterday made the Bayside natives sit up and take notice. This same young man, who has been prowling around in second sixteens of invitation tournaments with rarely a peep into the mysteries of championship divisions, not only shattered the Belleclaire course record with a 68, but shaved seven strokes off the former record held jointly at 75 by Gil Nicholls and John McKenna, the professionals, and Dr. A. T. Haight, sometimes of Massapequa, father of the newly discovered star. McKenna is the Belleclaire pro and vouches for the new mark inasmuch as he was a party to the feat yesterday.

Haight and A. L. Buchanan were paired in a foursome against McKenna and Dr. W. G. Fralick.

Haight's card follows:

Out ....5 4 3 3 3 4 3 4 3—33
In ....6 4 3 4 4 3 4 4 3—35—68

As a result of the sensational achievement the junior Haight is rated as Belleclaire's best entrant for the Cherry Valley invitation tourney which will begin this morning at the Garden City Club.

VARDON AND RAY WIN.

Defeat Armstrong and Hobens in Exhibition Golf Match, 4 Up.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 22.—Harry Vardon and Edward Ray, the British golfers, defeated Dwight Armstrong, amateur, and Jack Hobens, professional, in a thirty-six-hole exhibition match today on the links of the Huntingdon Valley Country Club, 4 up and 3 to play. The bye holes were played out, the visitors winning 5 up. Armstrong formerly hailed from Pittsburgh, while Hobens is a former metropolitan open champion.

Ray had the best card with a 76 in the morning and 73 in the afternoon. Vardon had a 79 and a 76. Armstrong had an 85 and 81, while Hobens had an 82 and 76. The visitors had a best ball score of 69 in the afternoon round, while the local players' best ball score was 71.

MANCHESTER, Vt., Sept. 22.—Lord Charles Hope, Cyril Tolley, amateur golf champion of England, and Roger Wethered, captain of the Oxford University golf team, arrived here last evening with Reginald M. Lewis of Ridgefield, Conn., to play on the famous Ekwanok golf course. Today they played two-ball matches to familiarize themselves with the course in anticipation of two exhibition matches to be played tomorrow. The four will play a two-ball foursome tomorrow morning and a four-ball match in the afternoon.

HAGEN LEADS PROS ON BELLEVUE LINKS

Wins Invitation Golf Tourney with 293, Beating Doyle and O'Hara by 8 Strokes.

Special to The New York Times.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 22.—Walter Hagen of Detroit, national open golf champion last year, today won the invitation professional tournament held over the course of the Bellevue Country Club, in which more than sixty professionals and one amateur, Tommy Armour of Scotland, amateur champion of France, competed. Hagen made the thirty-six holes today in 145 strokes, which with the 148 score he made yesterday made his total 293 for the two days' play.

For winning first place Hagen received $500. His play was the feature all through the tourney, and the gallery marveled at the cleverness of the great Detroit player.

Following Hagen in the tourney were Patrick Doyle of Deal, N. J., and Patrick O'Hara of Westfield, N. J. They split up second and third moneys. $500 in all. Each took 301 strokes for the four rounds. O'Hara did the last nine holes in 32, a remarkable feat.

The fourth golfer in the split of the money was Leo Diegel of Chicago, whose score was 305. Five strokes behind Diegel were E. French of Youngstown, Ohio, and Jock Hutchinson of Philadelphia. Mike Brady of Detroit was seventh, with 311. J. Mitchell had 312, while Tom Armour, the amateur, took 314 strokes, and O. H. Ackney was tenth, with 316.

The day was ideal for golfing, and Hagen found the course to his liking, so he made a runaway match of it. He was never in danger of relinquishing the lead he acquired yesterday. Few expected him to do as well today, but he was in rare form indeed, as his 145 for the thirty-six holes shows.

Hagen's card for today's rounds follows:

W. & J. IN HARD SCRIMMAGE.

Coach Morrow's First Eleven Shows Promising Team Work.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Pa., Sept. 22.—Coach Morrow refused to allow his W. and J. football players to practice on the adamant ground at Trinity Hall Field today, and instead took his squad to the fairways of the golf course of the Washington Country Club, where the hardest scrimmage of the season was staged.

The Coach placed Loucks, who has been at right end, at centre, and used Aiken, substitute end for two years, at the right terminal place. In Loucks's stead, Crook, a freshman recruit who had been playing at end, was shifted to the second team, where he played a good game. Morrow used today for the first time in scrimmage what he calls his first string backfield, employing Erickson and Eielson, veterans, at halfback, McLaughlin, the Kiski star, at quarter, and West, the husky colored boy from Washington High, at fullback. The 'Varsity backfield romped through the second team with the finest team work that has been in evidence this year.

Manager Miller today received word that the University of Pittsburgh and the Carnegie Tech teams, both of which the Presidents meet later in the season, will be here for the opening game on Saturday with Bethany College.

DALY NOT HURRYING TEAM.

Light Practice for Army Eleven Is Still Coach's Rule.

Special to The New York Times.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Sept. 22.—Charles Daly's Army squad continued its easy-going tactics today, refraining from any semblance of scrimmage work. The group coaching continued, Daley and Prichard taking the backs, Pot Graves, McEwan and Jones the line men, while Benny Hoge and Tully drilled the ends.

Stewart was back at his tackle position today. The veterans, Green at centre, White at end and Wilhide at quarter, were in their regular places in the 'Varsity's signal drill. Breidster's kicking was the best during a long drill which featured several of the new men, among whom were Mulligan, Perkins, Reeder, Edersole and Smith. Evans, a promising backfield man, was the only missing 'Varsity player. Evans went on sick report just prior to the practice.

ORANGE TO BEGIN SEASON.

Syracuse Nearly Ready for Opener Next Saturday with Hobart.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 22.—Syracuse'e new coach, John F. (Chick) Meehan, who succeeded Buck O'Neill when the latter became coach at Columbia, will place his first Orange team on the gridiron next Saturday. Hobart will be the attraction on the local field. It will be the first time in many years that Hobart has been on the local schedule, and Meehan is anticipating a hard fight from the Geneva aggregation.

The schedule this Fall will be as hard as any Syracuse has tackled. The first important game will be with the University of Pittsburgh, which the Orange eleven conquered last year. This battle is really Syracuse's big contest, although it comes early in the season. Then Dartmouth, W. and J., and Colgate will be encountered within four weeks, a row of obstacles that will test Meehan to the limit.

TO HOLD X-COUNTRY RUN.

Syracuse Invites Colleges to Compete in Event on Oct. 16.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 22.—Invitations have been issued by Syracuse University to a dozen universities and colleges to participate in an intercollegiate cross-country run to be held here on Oct. 16. Among the institutions invited are Cornell, Columbia, Colgate, Dartmouth, Lafayette, Princeton, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, University of Pennsylvania, Yale, Harvard and Brown.

First Scrimmage at Williams.

Special to The New York Times.

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Sept. 22.—The first scrimmage of the season saw the Williams 'Varsity squad making an encouraging showing in a long battle with the scrubs here today. Captain Boynton's work featured the attack of the regulars, who had eight veterans of last year in their lineup. The 'Varsity used Burger and Hibbard of last year's eleven and McLean with Boynten on the back field, and the quartet made a strong combination.

MRS. THOMSON WINS SCARSDALE TOURNEY

Defeats Mrs. Breck, Medalist, by 1 Up in Final Round of Two-Day Golf Play.

Mrs. J. J. Thomson of Siwanoy turned the tables on the medalist when she defeated Mrs. C. W. Breck, a clubmate, yesterday by 1 up in the final round of the metropolitan women's two-day golf tourney at Scarsdale. After putting out Miss Margaret Wolff of Sunningdale in the semi-final by 4 and 3, while Mrs. Breck was defeating Mrs. E. S. Bayer of Deal by the same score, Mrs. Thomson came into the final and carried off the honors by a win on the ninth hole.

Under the conditions of this novel tourney nine-hole matches were played, but a selected group of Scarsdale's nine holes and not the first in succession was picked. By winning the seventh Mrs. Thomson went to 1 up after the match had been squared, but a lost ball on the eighth gave this hole to Mrs. Breck by concession. On the final hole, the twelfth, Mrs Thomson had a 7 to Mrs. Breck's 8.

Their cards follow:

Mrs. Thomson ....6 6 4 4 5 4 7—7
Mrs. Breck ....6 5 5 5 4 4 8—8

On the fourth hole Mrs. Thomson took three gaining the green and then sank a twenty-foot putt to save her the par of 4. Mrs. Breck's putting as a rule was poor, and on the final hole, where she took an eight, her brassie second shot found a gully and she needed four more to get on the green.

Mrs. Sidney M. Wild of Fairview was the winner of the second eight and Mrs. C. S. Waterhouse of Ardsley won in the third flight. The special competition, which was a medal play handicap event at eighteen holes, resulted in a victory for Mrs. William Chilvers of Dunwoodie with a score of 93, 5—88.

The results of the tourney follows:

First Eight.

Semi-Final Round — Mrs. C. W. Breck, Siwanoy, defeated Mrs. E. S. Bayer, Deal, 4 and 3; Mrs. J. J. Thomson, Siwanoy, defeated Miss Margaret Wolff, Sunningdale, 4 and 3.

Final Round—Mrs. Thomson defeated Mrs. Breck, 1 up.

Second Eight.

Semi-Final Round—Mrs. Sidney Wild, Fairview, defeated Mrs. Albert Taylor, Hackensack, 1 up (10 holes); Mrs. J. C Fireman, defeated Mrs. Jay Lee, St. Albans, 3 and 2.

Final Round—Mrs. Wild defeated Mrs. Fireman, 1 up.

Third Eight.

Semi-Final Round—Mrs. Lester Ketcham, Dunwoodie, defeated Miss Julia Bredt, Essex County, 2 and 1; Mrs. C. S. Waterhouse, Ardsley defeated Miss G. Brown, 2 up.

Final Round—Mrs. Waterhouse defeated Mrs. Ketcham, 1 up.

TIGERS PRACTICE KICKING.

Roper Perfecting This Department of Princeton Football.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Sept. 22.—Practice in the kickoff formations featured the football drill at University Field today, which marked the close of Princeton's first week on the gridiron.

The squad of 'Varsity candidates, which numbered sixty-five a week ago, now totals ninety and is increasing rapidly in size as the time for the beginning of the Fall term draws near. It was announced by the athletic authorities today that there will be no cuts in the roster this Fall and the immense squad will probably be carried throughout the season. This plan is in accord with Princeton's policy of bringing as large a percentage of students as possible into active athletics.

Roper's 'Varsity lineup was still badly punctured by examinations, for Joe Scheerer and Frank Rutan were among the day's absentees. Captain Mike Callahan was back at Centre, with Thomas and Dickinson as guards. Bob Hooper was still in Rutan's place and Shad Davis and Dick Raymond maintained their record of perfect attendance on the ends. Lourie was practising punts with S. H. Thompson when the signal work started and Roper tried out Bergen, one of the half backs on the freshman team last Fall, in his place. Lourie, however, was directing the team by the time the 'Varsity lined up to receive kickoffs. Murrey and Wittmer were at their usual back field posts, with Audrey in Joe Sheerer's position at full back.

The scrub lineup was Opie, centre; McNamara and Speers, guards; Mamamon and Speers, tackles; Le Gendre and Jones, ends; Bergen, quarter back; Gilroy and McPhee, half backs, and Thomson, full back. McNamara made his first appearance at guard this afternoon. He was substitute end last year. Thomson was kicking off for the scrub, his kicks going very high and at just the right distance from the back line.

The scrubs had no difficulty in getting down to the receiver by the time the ball dropped into his arms and at times the light interference work took on the aspect of a regular game to the delight of several hundred students in the bleachers who were watching the workout. The men are anxious to get down to business and Roper may call for scrimmage sooner than Saturday, the date he has announced.

RUTGERS ELEVEN IS READY.

Sanford Has Scarlet Team in Shape to Meet Ursinus This Week.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Sept. 22.—Although the Rutgers football eleven is by no means in mid-season form, the Scarlet pigskin chasers seem to be in excellent shape. Coach Sanford has had to fill at least six positions on his eleven with raw material, but he has picked a 'Varsity squad, and the line-up for the Ursinus game on Saturday seems to be pretty well decided on.

H. Redmond and Sutton look like the choices for ends, while Summerill, a last year's substitute, is being alternated between full back and end. Scudder will probably be one of the guards and Dunham centre, but the other guard position is still in doubt. Lentz and Augustine will probably start at tackles, but there is no certainty of this. Buegeless and Maloney are both being used at quarter back, with M. Redmond at full back. The half backs will be chosen from among the veterans Duffy, Gardner and Kull.

The match with Ursinus is expected to give Sanford his first test of the capabilities of his green team. Thursday's scrimmage will be the last before the game. On Friday only signal practice will be held.

MAROON KICKERS AT WORK.

Coach Dumoe Gives Especial Attention to Punters.

Football practice at Fordham Field yesterday was confined to preliminary work, as in the last few days. Because of the large number of minor injuries which are keeping several of the candidates on the side lines, Head Coach Joe Dumoe was forced to postpone the first scrimmage, which he had intended to hold yesterday.

Dumoe spent a great part of the practice time in teaching Noonan and Gately, two of his most promising backfield candidates, the arts of punting and drop-kicking. The Maroon aggregation seems to be badly in need of kickers. At present Noonan is making the most favorable impression among the toe artists.

Bert Kerns, half back, is displaying a brand of football which seems certain to win a regular berth on the Fordham eleven. This youngster played at Fordham Prep. in 1917 and 1918 and last year at Peddie Institute, where his work created quite a sensation. He is considered a valuable addition to the Maroon squad.

Tom Walsh is another former Fordham Prep. star who is making a great fight for a position on the 'Varsity team. He is a guard, weighing well over 190 pounds, and is progressing very rapidly.

Carmania in Port With More of American Olympic Winners

New additions to the ranks of returned American Olympic athletes were made yesterday with the arrival of the Cunard liner Carmania, carrying several athletes, swimmers and oarsmen. Pat Ryan, Loughlin Lyceum, winner of the hammer throw, and Dan Ahearn, Illinois A. C., who finished sixth in the hop, step and jump, were among the latest arrivals. Jack Kelly of the Vesper Boat Club, singles rowing champion, and his cousin and clubmate, Paul Costello, who shares with Kelly the doubles crown, returned with Meyers, another oarsman, and Coach Mueller of the rowing team. The swimmers who arrived were Norman Ross, the Illinois A. C. crack, and Clarence Pinkston of the Olympic Club, San Francisco.

COLUMBIA ELEVENS IN LONG PRACTICE

O'Neill Gives Blue and White 45 Minutes of Hard Football—Canapary Is Back.

The first Columbia scrimmage of the year was ordered by Coach O'Neill on South Field yesterday, and the initial action for the first and second elevens continued for forty-five minutes before a halt was called. The 'Varsity was placed on both the offense and defense and the Morningside observers had their first opportunity to size up the Blue and White eleven in action.

Two more additions were made to the casualty list before the scrimmage had come to an end. The more serious of the two mishaps occurred shortly after the opening whistle, and for a time it had a grave aspect. The injured player was Frank O'Brien, an end candidate who once played at De La Salle High School. While making a tackle near the side lines he was thrown near the edge of the running track, alighting flat on his face. The spine was injured near the neck and for fifteen minutes or so the player was paralyzed. He improved considerably after a time, but it was not known last night exactly how serious the injury was. It will probably keep him out of uniform for a long period.

Habernicht, the halfback candidate from Chicago, turned his right ankle in the scrimmage and had to retire to the dressing rooms. These two additions to the injured list, however, were partly atoned for by the reappearance of ex-Captain Frank Canapary and Modarelli, tackle. Neither took part in very strenuous workouts, but kicked and passed the ball around near the side lines. Canapary has been out since the beginning of the week with a bad cold, and Modarelli fractured his nose in Monday's drill.

'Varsity Is Unchanged.

The 'Varsity that started the initial scrimmage had no changes from the team that has been running through signal drills. Harris was at quarter back, with Thornton, Moszczenski and Eccles completing the backfield. The ends were Pulleyn and Forsythe, the tackles Brodil and Scovil and the guards Walder and Miller. Captain Jack Kienninger's post at centre was filled, in the absence of the leader, by Johnson.

Calloway, the negro candidate for guard, who hails from East Orange High School, where he won New Jersey scholastic honors, got his first chance on the 'Varsity when the scrimmage was half over. Calloway started with the second team, but he showed such surprising defensive speed and power that he was later shifted to the 'Varsity in place of Miller, playing at guard. Calloway repeatedly broke through the 'Varsity forwards and spilled many plays before they could get under way. His weight and build make him one of the most impressive of the many line candidates, and it will be hard to keep him from earning a berth as a regular.

Of the backfield men Eccles impressed the sideline observers by his hard, fast game. He tore off several large gains. On the second team the outstanding figure was Burt, star back of the 1919 freshman aggregation. Burt found little difficulty in piercing the 'Varsity defenses. Johnstone also contributed large-sized gains.

Freshmen to Report.

Carl Merner's freshman hopefuls will report this afternoon and will have slightly more than two weeks in which to tune up for their first game with Kent School on South Field. Coincident with the call for the freshmen, Coach O'Neill made the first cut in the 'Varsity squad, reducing the number to fifty-two. Those retained are: Allen, Anderson, Applebaum, Brickley, A. Brice, Brodil, Barker, Burt, Cunningham, Calloway, Canapary, Curnow, DeKay, DeFronzo, Forsythe, Eccles, Grace, Harris, Healy, Herman, Hinch, Habenicht, Hartzler Hirsch, Jennings, Johnson, Johnstone, Kiennginger, Korn, Knebel, Joyce, Larner, Lovell, Lewandovski, Meyers, Miller, Moderelli, Mosczenski, Mullany, Mayer, Nohl, O'Brien, Otto, Partridge, Pulleyn, Russell, Reilly, Schluter, Scovil, Thompson, Taussig, Tierney, Thornton, Walder, Wilson, Wright and Willet.

HOLD SCRIMMAGE AT N. Y. U.

Combinations of Backs and Linesmen Tried by Coach Gargan.

Yesterday afternoon on Ohio Field the New York University football squad held its first scrimmage of the season. Until now the backs and linemen have been working separately, but yesterday Coach Gargan put them together and tried their ability under fire.

Practically no attempt was made to keep the players divided into first and second teams. Gargan tried many combinations of backs and linemen and shifted them around in the various positions. Coach Wall of the freshmen also used his players in the workout.

A great deal of the time was spent in rehearsing the defense for the forward pass. The backfield candidates did very well at this and many of the passes were intercepted. Gargan then tried the team on off-tackle plays. Here the ends, Adams and Thompson, did good work and also showed ability in the aerial attack.

The squad is still incomplete as three of last year's regulars have not reported. Baker and Horrigan, the star tackles, are both missing, as well as Ferguson, the quarter back of last year. These men all live out of town and are expected by the end of the week. The squad suffered a loss when Parkhurst, the 'Varsity end, left the squad. His hand, which he broke last year, is again bothering him.

Coach Gargan is well pleased with the condition of the squad. Practically no injuries have been suffered and the men are in good shape. The first game of the season is less than two weeks off, so the coach is pushing the men as hard as possible.

FOOTBALL INJURIES INCREASE AT YALE

Captain Callahan Has Sprained Knee—Acosta and Munger Are Slightly Hurt.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 22.—Three of Yale's first string players are out of the game with injuries, it was stated tonight. Two of the men were hurt some time ago, but because of the fact that the practice is secret, this did not become known before.

Captain Tim Callahan has a sprained knee and although he takes part in signal drills, he invariably retires in favor of Billy Galvin when the lineup starts. Head Coach Tab Jones said tonight that he expected that Callahan would be able to start the game against Carnegie Tech on Oct. 2. John Acosta, guard, is also out because of slight injuries, but is expected back in the lineup by next week. Cruikshank of the second team, who has been playing a good game, was sent in at left guard in his absence. Ray Munger pulled a tendon in the signal drill which today preceded the practice, but it was stated tonight that he expects to resume playing left end tomorrow.

Today's scrimmaging lasted nearly an hour, the backs being changed frequently. Four touchdowns were made, all on heavy line plunging. Aldrich was used in the early part of the practice and scored one. Webb, Campbell and French each made one. Thorne Murphy was started at quarter back Kempton being used for a short time toward the close of the practice. Eddie Shevlin started the drill at left end, Dicky Dilworth going back to right.

The lineup of the first eleven was: Ends, Shevlin and Dilworth; tackles, Walker and Dickens; guard, Cruikshank and Herr; centre, Galvin; guarterbacks, Murphy and Kempton; halfbacks, Webb, Aldrich, Campbell, French and Kelly.

George Moseley and Spider Reinhardt assisted in coaching the end. Guy Hutchinson helped with the quarterback candidates.

HARVARD'S LINEMEN SHOW IMPROVEMENT

Open Big Holes in Scrub Defense in Scrimmage—'Varsity Scores Three Times.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Sept. 22.—There was another hard driving football session for Harvard's 'Varsity on Soldiers' Field today, the crimson-jerseyed "A" and "B" teams scoring three touchdowns against the scrubs and their line holding fast on two occasions when the second team was arbitrarily placed in a scoring position, but without being able to force its way through to the 'Varsity goal.

The play was considerably more spirited than that of Tuesday afternoon, the line getting together in much better fashion, putting a lot of power in its charge and opening some real holes. Two of the touchdowns, scored by Humphrey and Hamilton, were earned by means of straight-line play, and the third, which was scored by the first set of substitutes, resulted from the completion of a forward pass by Selden, a member of the third set of end rushers.

The earlier scores came because of the ability of the 'Varsity to drive the scrubs back consistently without being held for more than a third down. Fitzgerald, the former Muhlenberg quarter, had his first chance to run the team and got a lot of snap into his work. Later "Jocko" Conlon took charge and he also kept the 'Varsity moving. Fitzgerald appeared to be a cool proposition, looking over his line for openings constantly. The first two scores were made by Humphrey and Hamilton.

The coaches welcomed Duke Sedgwick at camp today. Sedgwick, who played regularly at left tackle on the 'Varsity last year, is the first of the old players to return. He looked a little heavier than last year and was tried in the team "B" lineup. It was said that he would be in scrimmage only a few minutes, but he finished out the afternoon, and there is every reason to believe he will be available to play in part of the Holy Cross game on Saturday.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT
to every smoker of Robt. Burns Cigars

FIRST let us make plain three facts:

[1]

During the past few years the prices of Havana and Sumatra tobaccos have steadily advanced. The profit on Robt. Burns Cigar has at times fallen distinctly below a safe business margin. This margin of profit has at times approached the vanishing point

[2]

At no time have we compromised in the slightest the quality of Robt. Burns Cigar. To this formula we stand committed: Full, long-leaf Havana filler of fine selection, toned to agreeable mildness through our special process of curing and wrapped in the finest obtainable Sumatra leaf.

[3]

Our latest purchases of Havana and Sumatra leaf for Robt. Burns were made with our usual care and after the widest possible survey of market conditions.

Yet for that leaf we had to pay much higher prices than ever before

IT IS OUR BELIEF that the smoker of Robt. Burns would much prefer to pay a slight advance in price rather than face the slightest let-down in the quality of his cigar.

To maintain that quality it has become imperative that we add 2c apiece to the retail price of Robt. Burns Cigar.

The price of Robt. Burns Invincible is now changed to 15c; the new price of Longfellow is 17c.

There are no indications in sight at the present to warrant a decline in the price of Havana and Sumatra leaf tobacco. When such time arrives, we promise that the smokers of Robt. Burns Cigars will receive the benefit at the earliest possible moment.

THE BRITISH COAL STRIKE.

In considering a general strike of British coal miners, ordered for next Monday, it is necessary to distinguish between the ostensible and the real causes and motives. The case of the miners, as laid by them before the Board of Trade, consisted of two parts. They demanded an increase of wages amounting to 50 cents a ton. They also demanded a reduction of something like $3.50 a ton in the domestic price of coal. The two things do not go so ill together as might be supposed. The coal industry in Great Britain is at present controlled by the Government; it still fixes prices as during the war. And it has fixed a price which makes possible the operation of the least profitable mines. The more advantageously situated mines could undoubtedly lay down coal to the domestic consumer much cheaper. But then the poorer mines would have to close or be subsidized out of taxes. The large profits of the more successful operators are in good part taken by the Government in excess duties. And the Government is making more than $300,000,000 a year out of the export trade in coal, which it directs. The British consumer makes little complaint at the high price which he has to pay, since he knows that he would have to pay a still higher price if Government control were removed and the owners allowed to charge all that the world-shortage of coal would admit.

Mr. Smillie, the able spokesman for the miners in the conference with the Board of Trade, stated that their two demands could not be separated. They thought it would be highly popular to threaten a strike for cheaper coal. It has not proved so. The public was not fooled. And later Mr. Smillie withdrew his second demand, limiting himself to the one point of an increase of wages. For this, at least in some mining districts, a plausible argument could be made out. It was not denied by the President of the Board of Trade, Sir Robert Horne. But he insisted that the men must either negotiate the question direct with the owners or else submit it to the Industrial Court, especially established to hear and settle such wage disputes. But Mr. Smillie flatly refused to do either. And the Government refused to order blindly the higher wages. On this single issue the strike is nominally to be fought out.

In reality, everybody knows that the issue is other and deeper. It is a question, first, of nationalizing the coal mines. Mr. Smillie and his associates make no secret of this. They called upon the Government to give a formal and official promise that the mines would not be "decontrolled" and returned to their owners. This Sir Robert Horne declined to undertake. The second question is the right and power of the workers themselves to decide the policy to be applied to British coal mining. It was pointed out to Mr. Smillie that the steps already taken have the assent of Parliament. That did not satisfy him. "We are prepared," he said, "though we regret it very much, to fight." That is to say, it is not merely a strike that is threatened, but direct action to force the Government to yield to a class. That such is the actual nature of the coal strike is almost the universal conviction in Great Britain.

It is for this reason that the people are settling down to see it through. The strike by itself will be unpopular. A powerful minority of the miners have all along been opposed to it. Even Socialists in England are deploring the decision to call the strike, since they perceive that it is certain to fail and to injure the whole labor movement. But the attitude of the Government and of the mass of citizens is that there is no better time to take up the challenge of Mr. Smillie and the other direct actionists, and make an end of their pretensions for good and all. The strike may yet be averted. But if it comes off, the contest will probably be short and the result undoubted. England is in no mind to submit to the dictatorship of a small minority.

WHERE TO FIND THE COVENANT.

After a year and a half of general publication and republication of the Covenant of the League of Nations, and discussions of it in gross and in detail in mediums, platforms, pulpits innumerable, it is a little surprising at first, till one reflects upon the mighty multitude of the electorate and its diversity of origin and speech, to get from a highly intelligent Chicago correspondent the letter here printed in part:

> As the ratification of the Covenant of the League of Nations is one of the most important if not the most important issue in the campaign, and it is clear that such an issue cannot be intelligibly decided unless the voters know what its terms actually are, I take the liberty of suggesting that it will be exceedingly helpful if the newspapers of the country will publish, preferably on the same day, the text of the Covenant, and without comment.
> I am, of course, aware that abstracts of the text are being distributed broadcast which reflect the view of the writers as to its meaning, but as the Covenant itself is brief, briefer perhaps than most of the abstracts, and its terms are plainly stated, the voter will be greatly helped in arriving at a verdict by having the text before him.

Newspapers in many languages have published the Covenant, as has the Congressional Record. Innumerable faithful reprints of it are in existence. These, or some of them, may be found in any public library, as may books and pamphlets that deal with the Covenant and reproduce the text. It is included in various newspaper almanacs. It may be bought for a trifle at any bookstore or newspaper stand. It can be had for nothing at the headquarters, and presumably at the branch quarters, of the Democratic and the Republican Party.

The latter has been criticised for not finding room for the Covenant in its campaign text-book, but this error is repaired by free distribution of leaflets containing it. If any of the political committees has been remiss, it must be remembered that the campaign is still on its first legs. More and more, as the League is on the lips of every speaker and the subject of millions of public and private debates, voters will want to consult the text, to modify or fortify their arguments and convictions, to make up their minds for themselves, to correct and check the exaggerations, prejudices, misrepresentations of the stump.

Fortunately, the original and authoritative evidence on the cardinal policy of the campaign is in every voter's reach, for little, for nothing. He has, or may have, the means of deciding for himself at first hand, independently, without reliance on the assertions or theories of anybody else. The managers of the Democratic canvass can do no more telling and vital work for its success than to put the Covenant into the homes of the voters.

We thank our Chicago friend for his suggestion. If he is right in holding that, in spite of multitudinous printing and reprinting, the Covenant as a whole is unknown to many voters, their enlightenment should be the instant task of the Democratic and Republican National, State, County, District and Town Committees.

HOUSING AND THE ACRE HOME.

In a letter to Senator Lockwood, Mr. B. F. Yoakum broaches an idea which may or may not have a practical bearing on the present housing shortage, but which certainly illuminates the fundamental problem of city life and offers a solution well worthy of discussion and experiment. It is a new version of the back-to-the-land idea. If humanly feasible, it would insure to the city worker and his family most of the advantages of that much-advertised movement which does not move, and with it few or none of the disadvantages of life on the farm. "There are millions of idle acres "within less than one-hour's ride from "the centre of New York," says Mr. Yoakum, "which could be made into "one and two acre homes under a ten-"year payment plan." At less than the construction cost per family of tenement houses, the workman could own his home, have fresh air, a garden, hens and perhaps a cow. The journey to and from work would be expensive of time, but with the modern hours of labor would not be impossible. The expense in fares would also be considerable, but from a community of any considerable size special trains could be run at minimum rates. Most hopeful of all is the fact that, together with the solid advantages of rural life, there would be all the advantages of the city which workmen and their families prize—near neighbors, community life, shops, moving pictures and schools. For the children life would be vastly enriched by abundant playgrounds and athletic fields.

Mr. Yoakum's plan avoids the danger that has wrecked so many attempts to establish people from the tenement districts upon the land. It is only among Anglo-Saxon nations that the individualistic type of life, with its isolated farm and farmhouse, prevails. On the Continent of Europe farmers cluster in social villages, each house with its home garden and embowered among fruit trees; the laborers journey daily to and from the distant fields, where mile after mile of closely cultivated land is without a building. Such has been the practice of many races since long before the dawn of history. Mr. Yoakum's plan adapts this communal life to the needs of the city worker; instead of antagonizing his racial instinct it makes an appeal to it which may well prove irresistible.

The wretchedness of the life in tenement districts arms the radical agitator with his most powerful weapon. In reality it is the result of a lack of foresight in the individual community—a local matter purely. But it is universally explained by radical agitators as the result of our institutions, social, political and economic. Children who grow up in the slums with the evidences of great wealth on every hand are in a few instances inspired to personal achievement, but far more often they fall a prey to doctrines the aim of which is to overthrow society. And, as Mr. Yoakum says, "the chil-"dren of today must, within a few "years, guide the nation's destiny." In determining the stability of a people two factors are of especial strength—a healthful, normal life for each individual and the possession of a house and home.

Whether those who are already inured to tenement life can be successfully transferred to acre homes in the suburbs is a question that can only be answered by experiment. With newcomers the case is different. They come largely from rural districts and are accustomed to small community life and to journeying to and from work. The steerage accommodations of Atlantic liners are said to be booked for a year in advance; at Danzig alone there are 50,000 awaiting their time to sail. If the country is to profit and not suffer from their coming, it can only be by digesting them thoroughly into American life—and prosperity. "If America is to remain the domi-"nant nation of the world, it must be "through a home-owning system, not "one of tenantry."

THE DISQUALIFIED SOCIALISTS.

For the guidance of the three Socialists who have now, for the second time, been deprived of their seats in Albany, and of their two associates who have resigned, understanding is better than passion. In the statement they prepared after the Assembly had acted they say that "Never be-"fore in the history of the country "has a more brazen disregard of the "constitutional safeguards of the lib-"erties of the people been shown." Had these Socialists better understood the principles of this Government and the nature of the safeguards with which it surrounds the liberties of the citizens they would never have made that statement.

In the resolution expelling the Socialists it is declared that Waldman, Claessens and Solomon are found "to be ineligible to sit as members "of this Assembly because of reasons "of a disqualifying character personal "to themselves." These reasons are based upon testimony brought out during the proceedings last Winter, showing that by their utterances these three men were committed to doctrines altogether incompatible with loyalty to the State and to the United States and that their declared beliefs made it impossible for them in good faith to take the oath which every member of the Assembly must take. As Mr. John Brooks Leavitt points out in the letter we publish this morning, and as everybody knows, it is declared in Article IV., Section 4, of the Constitution that "the United States shall "guarantee to every State in the "Union a republican form of gov-"ernment." Moreover, the Supreme Court has declared this to be "an in-"destructible union of indestructible "States." The Socialists have as their constant aim the destruction of a republican form of government in the States. They declared in their national platform in 1917 that "by "uniting solidly in a political party "of its own, it [the working class] "can capture the Government and all "its powers and use them in its own "interest." It is unnecessary to point out that a class government is not a republican form of government. The Socialists consistently seek to destroy not only the republican form of government in the States, but the States themselves, which the Supreme Court has declared to be indestructible.

Their own beliefs, avowed convictions and intentions disqualify them for membership in a law-making body. It is wholly futile to argue that by depriving them of their seats the Assembly has deprived their constituents of the right of representation. No constituency has a right to be represented by men disqualified to make the laws. To argue that because the Constitution gives the right of representation these men must be allowed to sit in the Assembly since they have been chosen to sit there is to argue that the Constitution provides the means for its own destruction. The absurdity of that argument is evident.

The way for the constituents of these unseated Assemblymen to secure representation is plain. If they intend to be Americans they must, in their political action, conform to American laws. Above all, they need to understand the spirit and meaning of American institutions. Their doctrine of government by a class for a class is altogether un-American; it is an idea of alien birth. Their theory that the working class must obtain "collective "ownership and a democratic admin-"istration and operation of the col-"lectively used and socially necessary "means of production and distribu-"tion" (that is the language of their constitution) is equally un-American, equally objectionable to Americans. They amended their constitution, so it has been declared, to remove the grounds of objection upon which these men were unseated last Winter. It was plainly intimated by Speaker Sweet and openly charged by other members of the Assembly that this was a change of words, not of heart. The behavior and the utterances of the Socialist Assemblymen confirm that belief. Mr. Waldman, referring to the statement that "We Socialists have "purged ourselves by changing our "constitution," said: "We have not "purged ourselves; there was no need "of it." That is a confession. Evidently the Socialist Party stands just where it did, and the resignation and the reason they gave for it of the two Assemblymen who were spared in the resolution of expulsion shows that they stand just where the others do, just where the party does.

The Socialist Party and its members ought not to stand there. The voters in the districts from which these men were sent to Albany should take account of public sentiment, which we believe to be much stronger even than it was last Winter against allowing enemies of the State and of the Constitution to take a part in the business of law-making. They should revise not merely their constitution, but their political aims and purposes. It is senseless for them to keep on sending these ineligibles to the Assembly. It is senseless for them to shut their minds to the truth about our Government, our laws, about the liberties of the citizen in this country and the nature of the guarantees which protect his liberties. They must become Americans if they want to take part in making laws for Americans.

WELCOME WESTERN FRANKNESS.

Out in Idaho they have not lost the power of plain speech. Forsaking the swollen words of ambiguity uttered at Marion and other Eastern points, The Idaho Statesman speaks out like a blunt Brutus. "The League of Na-"tions," it declares, "is a stud-horse "note." The only good signature to it would be that of the United States, which is asked to join "a lot of bank-"rupt, near-bankrupt and claim-"jumping nations." None of that for experienced and wary Idaho! As for peace, the Republican Administration will send forth a declaration for it that "will have a kick in it." "This love business is played out." We can but hail the editor of The Idaho Statesman as at least one strong, direct man in a blatant land. It must be feared, however, that he will feel as if a chunk of the old red sandstone had hit him in the abdomen when he reads Senator Harding's latest phrase to define the kind of League we ought to have—namely, "felicita-"tion [possibly facilitation] of inter-"national conscience." The kick in this has but a faint resemblance to that of an Idaho mule.

HARMONY AND CONSOLATION.

Seldom has Mr. Will Hays turned out a neater or more amusing piece of work than his all-sorts Committee of Harmony and Consolation, which he calls the Republican Advisory Campaign Committee. On it are four candidates in person, Governor Lowden, Mr. Hoover, Senator Poindexter and Senator Hiram Johnson; and General Wood by proxy. General Wood is represented not only by Major Knox of The Manchester Union, but by Mr. William Cooper Procter of Cincinnati, a most excellent man, but believed by some jaundiced persons to be a little careless about primary campaign funds. Mr. Oscar Straus, Progressive and Leaguer; Mr. Taft, Leaguer, "Reactionary" in 1912, according to the faithful Rooseveltians, and Mr. Hughes dwell in peace with Mr. Poindexter, who is both Progressive and Reactionary and hates the League as much as Mr. Straus and Mr. Taft love it.

Still further to advertise a Republican Old Home Week and family union—guests are requested not to bring their knives—the committee list is thick with genuine and endeared Progressives. Mr. Walter Brown, a famous Ohio Progressive, beaten as a candidate for the Republican nomination for Senator the other day, has a place on the committee, a consolation prize. Former Senator Beveridge and a whole batch of Progressive statesmen, former or actual Governors and so on, shine in Mr. Hays's eclectic list.

It is affecting. No doubt it will squeeze a tear even from basaltic Mr. Penrose. Who says Mr. Harding and his Senate nominators are hunkers? Look at the Advisory Campaign Committee. Yes, it is most affecting. It is millennial and Golden Age; and when the wolf lies down with the lamb, who gets the lamb chops?

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Repeating Our Blunder.

If the Californians have any attention to spare from the Japanese, they might devote it to—salmon. Also, it would be well for them to do it at once, or at any rate soon, for if they do not the devotion will be too late.

Henry B. Ward contributes to the current issue of Science an article in which he reveals that the people of the Pacific Coast now are doing, with far less excuse, exactly what the dwellers on this side of the continent did years ago—they are allowing petty interests along the tributaries of their big rivers to be conserved and promoted in a way which, if continued, will result in the complete destruction of a great and important industry. Already dams without fishways, built in the smaller affluent streams where alone the salmon can spawn, are having the same effect that similar action produced on the Atlantic Coast, and already, in not a few of the rivers to which salmon not long ago resorted every Spring in enormous numbers, not one of them is to be seen or caught.

Even in the remoter rivers of Alaska the annual immigration is decreasing visibly, and though the canneries there are still able to equal or approach their former production, it is done only by the use of more boats, more men, more gear and more of other destructive appliances. So, as Mr. Ward puts it, "the vicious cycle gains in velocity as it decreases in diameter." When diminution in numbers of any species once has become conspicuous, the end of that species is near; the few representatives of it become so valuable that they are hunted mercilessly by those who have eyes only for the immediate dollar, a sort of vision that still is too common on the Pacific Coast—and everywhere else, for that matter.

They Cost Nothing for Feed.

What made the practical extermination of the Eastern salmon particularly lamentable, and what emphasizes the folly of similar action now progressing in the West, is the fact that thus is destroyed a source whence might come forever an enormous supply of cheap and excellent food. It is obtained at no expense except that of taking and preserving and distributing it.

This food is peculiar in that it causes no drain upon, no exhaustion of, the natural resources of the country. Though born in one of our rivers, the young salmon soon migrate to the deep sea, there to make practically their whole growth and to bring back from the mysterious depths all their pounds of nutritious flesh from a region that without this agency is wholly inaccessible to humanity. Mr. Ward calls the salmon fishery "a harvest that is of all which man gathers the most profitable, because it demands least care and utilizes for its production otherwise unused sources of energy." The perpetuation of this harvest concerns the Pacific Coast first and directly, but the whole nation has a measurable interest in it, for the whole nation will suffer an appreciable loss when the salmon are driven away, and that merely because the Legislatures of the littoral States are neglectful of an obvious duty. The task consists only in keeping the headwater spawning grounds accessible to the fish—something that can be done easily, cheaply and with no injury to any other source of profit.

Her First Political Achievement.

Early this week the Maine Supreme Court decided that when a woman said she was "over 21" she had satisfied all the reasonable and legal curiosity of a registration board, and that her enrollment as a qualified voter could not be refused in that State merely because she declined more definitely to clear up that sometimes delicate mystery. In Connecticut, also this week, the Legislature took the matter into its own hands instead of leaving it to a court, and passed a law formally declaring that "over 21," sworn or affirmed, is all the registrars need to know, and, by implication, forbidding them to make, or at any rate to record, any guesses of their own as to how much "over" the would-be voter may be.

Decisions like that of the Maine court already have been made in several other States, and it safely is to be assumed that before long the disclosure of exact age which men—reluctantly enough, sometimes, but usually with calm resignation or complete indifference—so long have made will be demanded from neither sex.

The change in practice will be a practical demonstration, and perhaps the first, of woman's political power. It will not shatter, or even shake appreciably, the pillars of society, for the telling of a voter's age never was of much assistance, if any, in preventing election frauds. Apparently the question was devised for no better reason than that its asking lengthened the inquiry a little or that it emphasized the difference between voting and other activities.

If a considerable number of women seriously object to telling their ages in public—and evidently the number really is considerable—the next-to-useless formality should be dropped. Certainly to do that would be kinder, and therefore better, than to continue asking the old question, though consenting to receive an evasive answer.

For such an answer is itself embarrassing, as almost sure to be received with significant smiles by attentive auditors at and around the registration table. Besides, the young snips of less than 25 would be sure to make an invidious comparison between their readiness to tell the glorious fewness of their own years and the disinclination of their elder sisters to disclose an inevitably saddening truth.

The inquiry of the future should be, not "How old are you?" but, if any at all is needed, "Are you of voting age?" That would annoy nobody.

A Cheering Prophecy for Once.

According to the National Director of the Retail Clothiers' Association of America there is going to be a drop of something like 33 1-3 per cent. in the price of clothing. It is not to come until next Spring, he said, but in that he may be mistaken, just as he was in saying that what he called "the overall craze" of a few months ago had no effect except to increase the cost of overalls to workingmen.

It is true that the overall campaign didn't last long, and that its conduct, on the surface, was largely humorous, but it did have an almost instant and very noticeable effect on prices at the time. It had some permanent consequences, too, chief among them, perhaps, being the attention it called to the power which buyers can wield through the simple expedient of not buying.

If the price of clothing generally does not come down until next Spring, it will be because the dealers are reluctant to "take a loss" on goods already made. That always is a painful experience, but sometimes it is not for the dealers to decide whether they will take it or not. Henry Ford, who has been suspected of making automobiles in large numbers, presented an interesting opinion on that subject in the papers yesterday—and incidentally he showed again his genius for getting, free, advertising for which other people have to pay.

RE-EXPULSION OF THE SOCIALISTS.

Its Sound Basis in the Constitutional Guarantee of a Republican Form of Government.

By JOHN BROOKS LEAVITT, LL.D.

The question whether the re-elected Socialists were rightly re-expelled from the Assembly calls for sound thinking and fearless utterance. If their expulsion last Spring was wrong, it would have been our duty manfully to admit it, and not to repeat it. On the other hand, if it was right then, and expedient, it should be done now. I am of those who hold the latter opinion, and I ask the chance of laying before your readers a line of argument which, so far as I have seen, has not received public mention, but which, in my humble judgment, should put all doubts at rest. I wish I might claim the credit for it, but may not do so for that it was suggested by my friend, Mr. J. Noble Hayes. It struck me as so forcible that it ought to be given to the public, and, as he has not done so, and the time is short, I hope I may be pardoned for "stealing his thunder."

First, let me say that the right of free speech is not at stake. If it were, I should be as ardent a champion for as I am against the retention of these five men. It is precisely there that our eminent fellow townsman, for whom I entertain the highest respect, and for whom I, though a Democrat, voted twice for Governor, Mr. Charles E. Hughes, went woefully astray. When the question of their expulsion last Winter first arose, it was so stated in some of the papers as that it seemed to involve the right of free speech, and Mr. Hughes impulsively wrote an open letter to the Speaker of the Assembly against their expulsion on the ground that it would be an invasion of the right of free speech. Having taken his position, he has held to it with a persistency that is one of the leading traits of his noble character. Persistency in maintaining a course after the ground for it is shown not to exist is, however, to speak frankly, nothing but obstinacy.

There is a clause in our Federal Constitution which gives an incontrovertible reason why these five Socialists should not be allowed to sit as members of a law-making body in any State of our Union.

As private citizens they are free to think as they like, and so long as they do not urge violence they may freely utter their thoughts in public in any and every place, except one, and that one place is the legislative hall. To debar them there is no invasion of their right of free speech, nor is it any punishment for their exercise of that right, nor yet is it a disfranchisement of the voters who elected them. The right of voters is not an untrammeled right. It is restricted to eligible candidates. The qualifications of candidates are usually assumed to exist. It is for that reason that each house is made the judge of the qualifications of its members, so that if the assumption turns out in a given case to have been mistaken it may be so adjudged. An insane man, a criminal, one under age, an advocate of violence, a traitor to our form of government, is not qualified to sit in a lawmaking body under that form. If through inadvertence or ignorance or for any reason such a man is voted for at the polls and elected, it is not an invasion of the right of the voters to adjudge the fact which disqualifies him. If, with full knowledge of his disqualification, they again vote for him, they cannot complain if he is again disbarred.

The clause in our Federal Constitution which operates to disqualify these five men is the provision guaranteeing to every State a republican form of government. This guarantee not only runs to each State individually, but protects all collectively. Every State is interested not only to preserve that form for itself, but also to have it preserved in every other State. To use the language of our Federal Supreme Court ours is "an indestructible union of indestructible States." This, of course, means under the guarantee in question an indestructible union of indestructible States under a republican form of government. It follows that if in a given State any form of government other than republican, whether it be kingly, or sovietistic, or communistic, should be established even by the peaceful votes of a majority of its citizens it would be the duty of the Federal Government, not only to the minority of that State, but to all the other States as well, to overturn it and re-establish the republican form. One of the objects of our Constitution is to protect the minority against usurpations of the majority.

Now, what is the avowed aim of these five men? It is to upset the republican form of Government in our State and substitute a communistic one. As private citizens, they are free to advocate such a change, even as some of our misguided ones would like to have a King. So long as they do not advocate the change by violent means, no one will deny their right to hold in private and urge in public such a substitution. But how can they qualify for membership in a lawmaking body under a republican form of Government by taking a false oath to support the Federal Constitution, which contains that guarantee for the preservation of the republican form? It would of necessity be a false oath, for that they have in mind to substitute a communistic for the republican form. Whether they advocate a change by violence or by vote is beside the mark. They are traitors to our Constitution, and therefore disqualified to sit in a lawmaking body under it.

I respectfully submit that this is of the nature of a mathematical demonstration, and under it may be written the letters, with which our problems in geometry always ended, Q. E. D. A word as to expediency. A thing may be lawful, and yet not expedient. Granted that our Assembly, which under our State Constitution is the sole judge of the qualifications of its members, had the lawful power to adjudge these five men disqualified last Winter; granted that in so adjudging them it was for this incontrovertible reason right in so doing—was it expedient? I hold that it was, highly so. No other course was open for a self-respecting lawmaking body to pursue. Here were five members-elect, who had taken a false oath to support our Federal Constitution. With their mouths they had sworn to uphold the guarantee to our State to preserve our republican form of Government. In their hearts they had a purpose to overturn that form, and replace it by a communistic one. Some of them had in a former Legislature voted against appropriations required by our State Constitution, which were necessary for the preservation of law and order, but which stood in the way of carrying out their avowed purposes. To say that it was inexpedient to debar them from their seats is nothing but mockery. You may urge that a large number of our citizens are of their way of thinking, and still others not of their way of thinking will be of opinion that the right of free speech and of voting is involved, and will feel resentful, and that this resentment will not make for peace and order. The answer is, Educate them by emphasizing to them that ours is a Government of laws and not of men, that one of our fundamental laws is that each State shall preserve a republican form of Government, and that no man whose avowed purpose it is to overturn that form is qualified to aid in making the laws under which it is to be administered.

FOR HIS ENEMIES.

Cox Gains Support Because of Those Who Are Against Him.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Your comment in today's issue on the vociferous indorsement of Mr. Harding by pro-German organizations might very well be taken as a model of courteous, fair-minded opposition. But in your anxiety to be just to the unfortunate object of these Teutonic endearments it seems to me that you overlook a very significant aspect of the affair.

No candidate for office can be held responsible for the character of those who support him, to be sure—unless that support is deliberately and explicitly solicited. But there assuredly are circumstances in which a man's friends afford a clue to the man himself.

For my own part I need no better reason for supporting Mr. Cox than the enthusiastic unanimity with which he is opposed by those who were whole-heartedly disloyal during the war, those whose loyalty was hastily donned when war was declared and put off the moment it seemed safe, and those who, honestly devoted to this country when nothing more important prevents, are noisily anxious to sacrifice us to the real or fancied interests of somebody else.

These classes can be trusted, at least, to recognize their enemies. And it seems to me that their enemies are hardly likely to be ours, wherever their friends may eventually make up their minds to stand.

HUGH MacNAIR KAHLER.

Kennebunkport, Me., Sept. 7, 1920.

POLITICAL PROGNOSTICATIONS.

Now Mr. Jones's children have been promised by their sire
That if election goes this Fall as per his heart's desire,
And the Democratic Party elects its candidate,
He'll give them anything they want—no limit up to date!
So Jimmy Jones gets figures on a brand new pony cart,
And Sister plans to go to Rome and study ancient art,
While all the rest have hobbies which they, too, will freely air
When a Democrat is settled in the Presidential chair!

But—James O. Smith, whose rooftree boasts a wife and offspring, too,
Feels confident a nice fat job his way is coming due,
For he's a solid oarsman in the Grand Old Party's boat—
And knows that the Republicans will poll the winning vote!
So Mother Smith is counting on a sealskin garment smart,
With a Winter in Miami and clothes to look the part.
Her boys have picked a college where they specialize football—
Oh, their millennium's coming, after 'lection's won, this Fall!

. . . .

Some one is wrong—which can it be? Will Mr. Jones win out,
Or, will Smith's good wife have to do that new fur coat without?
For Jones swears Democrats must win—and he's an honest man—
But so is Smith, who says they can't—for he's Republican!

THE LEAGUE AS A WHOLE.

Real Issue Obscured by Furor About Article X.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Your editorial article "Why Not Tell the Whole Truth?" presents most clearly and forcibly a matter which cannot be too clearly nor too insistently set before the public during the coming six weeks. The efforts of the Republican leaders to keep constantly before the people the bugaboo they have created out of Article X. of the League Covenant, befogging their minds and creating ungrounded fears while diverting their attention from the intent and effect of the Covenant as a whole, is the most contemptible political trick of a peculiarly unpleasant campaign.

It is so well known that contracts or covenants must be considered and construed as a whole that I cannot help feeling indignant surprise when I read near the end of your editorial the sentence, "We altogether acquit Mr. Hughes of any thought or purpose of that kind." How can you, or we, acquit Mr. Hughes or any of the men who have so insistently harped upon this theme for the past two years of any such thought or purpose? If we acquit Mr. Hughes of such an aim we must convict him of crass stupidity, and the same is true in varying degrees of Mr. Lodge, Mr. Harding, Mr. Knox et al. They are deliberately fostering a misconception of the League Covenant as a whole, or they are inconceivably stupid. Which?

CHARLES BARNETT.

Great Barrington, Mass., Sept. 20, 1920.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Your editorial article in the issue of yesterday, "Why Not Tell the Whole Truth?" is the clearest, most intelligent and convincing explanation of the question agitating the minds of many thousands of voters I have had the pleasure of reading, and could the same be brought to their attention all over the country the result would be largely in evidence in November. A. D. C.

New York, Sept. 20, 1920.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Having just finished reading your editorial article on Mr. Hughes's attitude toward the Covenant of the League of Nations, I am constrained to write that you have published one of the staunchest editorial articles of the present Presidential campaign.

The ancient prophets and philosophers wrote of the sharp arrows of the mighty flaying and slaying the evilness of the evildoers, and no shaft of a mighty arrow could have been aimed more unerringly.

Your exposition of the ignored fundamentals of the League of Nations is worthy of reproduction so that all readers and not merely editorial readers will be enlightened or reminded as to the facts of the case.

CITY-OWNED BUSES OPPOSED AT ALBANY

Lack of Funds Mainly Prevents Aid for Mayor's Plan, Legislators Explain.

SCHEME ITSELF APPROVED

"Pay-as-You-Go" Policy, However, Is Urged Against the Necessary Outlay.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 22.—Mainly because of lack of sufficient funds New York City can expect no help from the Legislature in its desire for municipally owned and operated motor bus lines at this time, legislators declared today.

Senate and Assembly leaders favor granting the city permission to establish bus lines, but see in the proposal submitted by Mayor Hylan a violation of the pay-as-you-go plan in the provision in the measure calling for the financing of the contemplated project through the issuance of bonds. There is a possibility that the Hylan bill may be amended to meet this objection, but even then it is regarded as doubtful if the law makers will see their way clear to approve the measure.

While the legislators are not expected to favor the Hylan bus line proposal the leaders have not yet decided to scrap the Hylan bill, under which New York City might issue corporate stock to raise money for the building of new schools to house 187,000 children now receiving only part-time education because of the dearth of school facilities. In the event that such legislation is enacted narrow limits will be placed on the life and amount of the stock that can be issued.

A bill authorizing New York City to issue $5,000,000 more of revenue bonds to make up the deficit in the fund set aside for the removal of snow and ice, ashes and garbage and the repair of streets and bridges is slated to be passed.

The proposed appropriation of $3,000,000 for the erection of a State hospital for World War veterans of the State will receive legislative approval, as will the proposal permitting the State Controller to offer a higher rate of interest on short-term notes.

Governor Smith will be asked to send an emergency message to expedite passage of a bill introduced by Senator Gibbs and Assemblyman Slacer of Erie, which would give the up-State Public Service Commission the power to suspend rate increases by telephone companies pending an investigation by the commission into the fairness of the higher rate. The commission now exercises such powers in relation to rate increases ordered by common carriers. Legislation of a similar character introduced by the same lawmakers at the regular session passed the Assembly, but was defeated in the Senate.

Representatives for the telephone interests appeared here today, and soon afterward a bill was introduced by Senator Dodge of New York and Assemblyman Everett of St. Lawrence under which the telephone companies can collect increased rates, with the requirement, however, of a rebate to subscribers in the event of an adverse decision on the higher rate. Despite a bitter fight in prospect, it is predicted that the Gibbs-Slacer bill will be passed, because practically every city, town and hamlet up State has been subjected to severe telephone rate exactions.

ASKS LAW FOR CITY BUSES.

Mayor Hylan Makes Personal Appeal to Legislators.

In a letter sent yesterday to each member of the Legislature Mayor Hylan made a personal appeal for the enactment of a law enabling the city to purchase and operate bus lines. The million dollar appropriation made by the Board of Estimate for the establishment of a bus system having been held up by a taxpayer's suit and the courts having enjoined buses from operating on streets paralleling trolley lines, the enactment of a special law is the only way in which the Mayor can carry out his bus ideas.

In his letter the Mayor declared the matter urgent because it concerned the convenience and morale of the people. Various business interests in the city would have been almost paralyzed, he said, during the recent B. R. T. strike if it had not been for the aid of privately owned buses. The only fight made against the buses he said was engineered by "the theatrical traction interests or persons in sympathy with these interests who have obviously been anxious to have the idea of buses on the city streets prove a failure."

The Mayor said that the kind of buses heretofore operated here did not meet with his approval, but that if the Legislature gave the necessary power the city soon would "acquire a fleet of buses which will be a matter of pride both as to appearance and efficiency, and in further emergencies we will not be put to the disgraceful expedient of urging individual bus owners in other communities to come here and serve our people."

In closing the Mayor said:

"Conditions are very much upset throughout the world today and there is no telling how many more emergencies the people of New York City will have to go through. If you give the city the right to acquire and operate buses the people will always be assured of transit.

"Automobiles made it largely possible for the American Army to make its wonderful war record and automobile buses will make it easier for the working army of New York City to take its proper place in the reconstruction work that all must face."

FERRY SCHEDULE EXTENDED

Boats to South Brooklyn Will Run Oftener and All Night.

Increased municipal ferry service between South Brooklyn, Manhattan, and Thirty-ninth Street, South Brooklyn, with boats operating day and night, was announced yesterday by Grover A. Whalen, Commissioner of Plant and Structures, who said:

"At the outset of the recent B. R. T. strike I tried out the usefulness of the Thirty-ninth Street, South Brooklyn, municipal ferry service. At that time this ferry was operated only between 6 A. M. and 9 P. M., with boats on a half-hour headway, and was carrying only about 2,800 passengers a day. Service was increased on Aug. 30 by the operation of boats on a twenty-minute headway and the maintenance of service throughout the night, and in five days 131,000 passengers were carried, an average of 26,000 a day."

The commissioner has directed the ferryboats to be operated day and night on a headway of twenty minutes between 6 and 9 A. M. and between 4 and 6 P. M., on a half-hour headway between 9 A. M. and 4 P. M. and between 6 P. M. and 10 A. M. and on a headway of one hour between 10 P. M. and 6 A. M.

"This additional service stretches to the limit the capacity of the present municipal ferry fleet," he said, "but this department is advertising today for bids for a new steel screw ferryboat for the Staten Island service, which carries 60,000 people a day, and I hope that the city will authorize the construction next year of an additional boat for the South Brooklyn service."

It was believed that the couple had sailed on last Saturday for Europe. The sailing list of the Olympic gives the name of L. M. Boomer.

The company of which Mr. Boomer is the head now owns the Hotel McAlpin, the Waldorf-Astoria, the Savarin restaurant in the Equitable Building, the Fifth Avenue Building restaurant, Hotel Claridge, into which the Wallick was recently merged, the Bellevue-Stratford in Philadelphia, and other hotels and restaurants.

PRELATES FOR UNITY OF CATHOLIC MISSIONS

Hierarchy, at Annual Session, Also Considers Proposed Canonization of Mother Seton.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Presided over by Cardinal Gibbons, sixty-two Archbishops and Bishops of the Catholic Church in the United States began the first day of their annual meeting at the Catholic University today by dealing with a large number of important problems. Chief among their decisions was one unanimously voted to unify all the foreign and domestic mission interests of the Catholic Church in the United States under the direction of the Catholic Board of Foreign Missions, of which Archbishop Moeller of Cincinnati is Chairman.

The promotion of the cause of an American for the honor of being canonized was considered by the meeting. At the last meeting, held a year ago, Cardinal Gibbons had been requested to convey to the ecclesiastical authorities at Rome the unanimous desire of the American hierarchy for the canonization of Mother Elizabeth Seton, founder of the Sisters of Charity in the United States. The Cardinal announced today that he had laid the matter before Cardinal Vico, the Secretary of the Congregation of Rites.

BETTINA FREEMAN AS TOSCA

Cibelli Sings Cavaradossi and Valle Scarpia at Manhattan.

There have been many Toscas, from the poised and passionate Mary Garden to the fiery and impudent Farrar. It remained for Bettina Freeman, who sang the rôle last night at the Manhattan, to add to the gallery the portrait of a spoiled child. It was all there—the pout, the small gusts of rage. In the presence of Cavaradossi, sung by the bashful Cibelli, she was no more able than a flapper. Together, they presented a picture of two shy children. Her voice, almost inaudible in the lower registers, was nevertheless free and agreeable, when heard. Yet she did, in the end, achieve the impossible. For she murdered Scarpia with a silver butter knife.

Mario Valle, despite his splendid, pungent voice, presented a Scarpia no more poignant than a city Police Captain. On the stage he is pompous and self-contained; he moves slowly, frowns and seems a dull villain. Eugenio Cibelli would do better were he to prepare a little less for each bout with his notes. Mr. Cibelli has not a large voice, but it is pleasant and sufficient. Nor were his gestures as awkward and surprising as on the opening night.

At the opening of the third act the large audience, all set about with standees, seeing its chance to cough and sneeze to slow music, did so with pleasure.

Mr. Merola conducted, and received, from Mr. Cibelli, a flower.

The opera tonight will be "Aida," with Marie Rappold.

Benefit in Greenwich for Navy Club

The navy blimp C-10 flew over Rye, Greenwich and Noroton, Conn., yesterday, dropping printed announcements of the benefit performance of "Stop Thief," which is to be given Saturday evening at Greenwich, Conn., in Havemeyer Hall, with a supper and dance following at the Pickwick Inn. The proceeds will go to the Navy Club at 15 East Forty-first Street, this city.

Mrs. Kerner Easton is Chairman of the Committee of Arrangements, and announces that a band from the North Dakota will play at the performance.

George Quackenbush.

George Quackenbush, a cotton goods manufacturer, with offices at 41 Union Square, died suddenly yesterday morning of apoplexy in his apartment at the Murray Hill Hotel. He was born in this city in 1858 and was graduated from the City College, entering the cotton goods business in 1880. He had a home at Greenwich, Conn., and a Summer place at Bennington, Vt. Mr. Quackenbush belonged to the Merchants' Club, Indian Harbor Yacht Club and the Greenwich Club.

Frank Dromgoole.

MOUNT KISCO, N. Y., Sept. 22.—Frank Dromgoole, editor for thirty-eight years of the Mount Kisco Recorder and one of the best known newspaper men of Westchester County, died at his home here today. He had been ill since June 12. Mr. Dromgoole was 65 years old and born in England. He came to New York when 18, and was employed by Bradstreet's and the New York Tribune before he came to Mount Kisco and established The Recorder.

and devotion of Lord Mayor MacSwiney of Cork, and ordered a copy of the resolutions sent to him in Brixton Jail.

BELFAST, Sept. 22.—A decision which the Lord Mayor of Belfast describes as most important to the future of the city was reached today when, after a conference between the directors and every trade employed on Queen's Island the shipyard men announced:

"We will work with any workers irrespective of religion, putting them on their honor that they are not associated with the Sinn Fein or any other disloyal organization.".

Balbrigganites Sleep in Fields.

BALBRIGGAN, Sept. 22. (Associated Press).—Nearly 1,000 persons, about half the population of this partly devastated town, crept back to their homes this morning after having spent a second night of terror in the outlaying hay fields. Once during the middle of the night an alarm was raised which caused a stampede of the people to remoter fields, where they took refuge under hedges and haycocks or whatever shelter they were able to discover in the dark.

Women and old men shivered in the cold of the night and until dawn, when a reconnoitring party found things quiet in Balbriggan and all of them gradually returned to their homes.

One child had a remarkable escape from a stray rifle bullet, which carried away an apple from its mouth without injuring its fingers or lips.

The body of Inspector Burke of the Royal Irish Constabulary, in revenge for whose death the reprisals began, was removed today from the police station, but the bodies of Gibbons and Larless, two civilians killed, still lay in a nearby outhouse awaiting the holding of an inquest.

The manager of a British-owned hosiery factory, the inside of which was completely ruined, was preparing today to return to England. He said it would be impossible to rebuild the plant. The manager suggested that the burning of this factory marked a new phase in alleged attempts to suppress the Sinn Fein. He said that, although many creameries which had been community property had been destroyed in Ireland, he believed the burning of the hosiery factory to be the first instance of a deliberate attack on an industrial plant.

In this factory about 400 employes, including many women, have been thrown out of work. If the other factory had been destroyed, virtually the entire working population of Balbriggan would have been rendered idle. The skilled mechanics and other employes of the ruined factory say they will be unable to find jobs elsewhere in their particular line of work in Ireland. One of the men, a father of eight children, told the correspondent that his only chance for work was in England.

LITTLE CHANGE IN MacSWINEY.

He Is Reported "Very Prostrate and Suffering Pains in the Head."

LONDON, Sept. 22.—The Irish Self-Determination League bulletin issued tonight says that the condition of Lord Mayor MacSwiney remains about the same. He is described as "very prostrate and suffering from pains in the head, but still conscious."

The morning bulletin issued by the league said the Lord Mayor slept quite well during the night, and that as a consequence he was somewhat refreshed this morning. The condition of prostration which lasted throughout yesterday was said to have been somewhat relieved. The league's midday bulletin, however, said:

"The Lord Mayor's condition has suffered a setback. His sister Mary, who has just visited him, says he is very weak, almost as prostrate as he was yesterday."

The physicians' report to the home office this morning said there was no apparent change from yesterday in MacSwiney's condition.

Today was the forty-first day of his hunger strike.

IRISH ASSAIL COX.

Take Issue Over League—Demand U. S. Send MacSwiney Protest.

Diarmuid Lynch, National Secretary of the Friends of Irish Freedom, 280 Broadway, yesterday made public copies of the resolution adopted at the organization's secret session held on Sept. 17 in the Astor Gallery in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. The resolution, in part, was as follows:

> We protest to the civilized world against the barbarous, cruel and inhuman methods of the English Government in its desperate efforts to overthrow the republic of Ireland and to impose on the Irish people the rule of an alien oligarchy, in violation of the American principle that "all Governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed."
> We demand that our Government protest against the inhuman treatment of Lord Mayor MacSwiney of Cork and his fellow prisoners by the Lloyd George Government and that their immediate release be insisted upon.
> We call upon Secretary of State Colby to make such vigorous protest against the order of the British Admiralty forbidding the entry of eastbound passenger steamers sailing under the American flag to Cork Harbor as will secure its immediate withdrawal and an apology for this flagrant violation of the freedom of the seas in time of peace.
> Unalterably opposed, as we are, to the entry of the United States into the League of Nations, even with reservations, we denounce the misleading and wholly unfounded statements recently made regarding it by Governor Cox as affording Ireland an opportunity to obtain her liberty.

The resolution has been sent to every branch of the organization throughout the country.

CONSUL'S OFFICE PICKETED.

25 Women Carry Signs Here in Behalf of MacSwiney.

American women, some of Irish descent, are picketing the office of the British Consul at 44 Whitehall Street in the interest of Mayor MacSwiney of Cork.

Three were on duty yesterday. They were dressed in black and carried immense signs bearing the legends:

"Great Britain forbids S. S. Panhandle State (U. S. Mail Steamship Co.) entering Irish Ports! Americans! Are We Asleep?"

"British officials closely guarded as MacSwiney sinks. Special bodyguard watches over Lloyd George."

"George Bernard Shaw says: 'I would not be in Lloyd George's shoes for a good deal.' MacSwiney is near death. Lloyd George's shoes may soon be empty."

"American ships flying the American flag barred from entering Queenstown Harbor. Well, Americans?"

The women picketers say they have had no disagreeable experiences, though they are asked many questions. There are in all about 25 of them, all volunteers. They acknowledge no special leadership, and have no headquarters.

Alice Brady, that favorite movie star, who happens also to be an uncommonly fine actress, ventured forth at The Playhouse last evening in a grotesquely awkward and preposterous melodrama called "Anna Ascends," an incredibly cheap and clumsy piece of old ten-twenty-and thirty-cent theatrical machinery, put together by Hugh Chapman Ford. It was baldly staged and redeemed only by the skillful and singularly eloquent playing of Miss Brady in the rôle of the ascendant heroine.

It looks very much as if the directors of her theatrical destinies had reflected on the staggering dimensions of the movie public which might be counted on as eager to see Miss Brady (personally), had decided that such a public would not be overly critical, and that even such an insult to the intelligence as "Anna Ascends" would be swallowed hook, line and sinker. Well, maybe so. There are even traces in the play to suggest that a few defectives were expected in each audience, so heavily is each simple point hammered in, so carefully is each explanation and each bit of fooling repeated four or five times to make sure.

It is no unprecedented thing for an outlandish piece of claptrap to find its way into a first-class theatre, but usually there is some one around to take the curse off it by a few deletions here and there, even a little process of superficial refining and humanization. It would be a heroic task to rewrite "Anna Ascends" into a play good enough to deserve a performance by Alice Brady, but it seems curious that there was no one present with a minimum of taste during its rehearsals to take out some of its more disastrous absurdities. While the successive scenes were first unfolding in the darkened theatre, where was Alice Brady, personally?

Recently it seemed easiest to describe "The Guest of Honor" as one of those plays in which a child was called a tot. Well, "Anna Ascends" is another. Also it is a play in which an otherwise plain-spoken New York business man directs his office boy to "usher" in his guests and bids his son to go "woo" a certain damsel. It is furthermore a play in which a house is called a n abode.

It would have taken such a slight exercise of [illegible] judgment to [illegible] made the piece ten times more presentable. For instance, it is quite scandalous how lightly [illegible] first act is thrown away for lack of such judgment. In the darkened room of a closed coffee house in the Syrian quarter an aspiring immigrant girl employed there as a waitress is assaulted by an evil young [illegible] stabs and leaves crumpled on the floor. You hear her frightened, whimpering cries, you see her falter toward the door, you catch the sound of a policeman pacing in [illegible] and you watch her start forth trembling on her long flight.

You would think that nothing could quite dispel the dramatic interest with which this swift and stirring scene is surcharged. You would expect any one to know how fatally weakening would be each word uttered thereafter. At least you would expect that till you see Miss Brady pause at the open door, carefully assume the posture of Liberty Enlightening the World, square her shoulders for a good resonant pronunciamento and declaim as follows: "You tried to pull me down but (with exaltation) Anna ascends!" Slow curtain.

Yet with all this nonsense, Miss Brady is enormously interesting to watch and hear. She is graphic, sensitive, eloquent—an inevitably dramatic person, and the extraordinary transmutation of her entire being which she accomplishes for her first scene as the immigrant Anna is very fine acting indeed. It is a strange thing that one and the same person could play as she plays in "Anna Ascends" and consent to play in it at all.

In the process she is considerably assisted by John Warner as the young lover, Rod LaRoque as the frustrated villain and Gustave Rolland as an old Syrian [illegible]. Mr. Rolland is really capital. She is considerably hindered by nearly every one else, including the most painful office boy in the history of the American drama.

Otis Skinner in "At the Villa Rose."

Otis Skinner will be seen during the present season in "At the Villa Rose," a play by A. E. W. Mason, author of "The Witness for the Defence." Mr. Skinner's rôle will be that of a detective. The play is now running at the Strand, London, where Arthur Bourchier is playing the leading rôle.

TOM BURKE, TENOR, ARRIVES

Irish Singer from Covent Garden Opera to Tour in Concert.

Tom Burke, the Irish tenor from Covent Garden Opera Company, London, arrived yesterday on the Cunarder Carmania to sing on a concert tour under the management of William Morris and may possibly sing in one or two operas for the Chicago Grand Opera Company towards the end of the season.

Burke is only 30 years old and received his musical training in Milan and appeared in opera there and in Rome before going to London to join the company at Covent Garden. He has an attractive personality, dark complexion, medium build and height and has earned a reputation on the English concert stage for singing old Irish ballads.

The Irish tenor will sing before his first American audience at Saranac Lake in the Adirondacks tomorrow night for the benefit of St. Bernard's Roman Catholic School and St. Mary's Hospital.

MUSIC NOTES.

A series of Sunday afternoon concerts is planned for the Century Theatre this season by the Allied Enterprises, of which Ota Gygi is the head.

Fritz Kreisler will give a recital in the opera house of the Brooklyn Academy of Music on Monday night, Oct. 25, under the auspices of the Pratt Institute Kindergarten Alumnae Association.

John Philip Sousa will play four new compositions at his twenty-eighth anniversary concert at the Hippodrome on Sunday night.

Ossip Gabrilowitsch, Anna Fitziu and Marguerite Namara will be among those who appear at the Sunday night concerts at the Lexington this season.

In Cabarets, At Racetracks
In the Chorus, or in 5th Avenue Mansions are thousands who love their mothers. In the night life of the gayest, fastest, most dazzling of all the world's cities are millions more who know the bigness of a mother's heart; the depth of a mother's sorrows; the breadth of a mother's joys.

William Fox has produced a wonderful drama for YOU, no matter who you are, where you are or what you are in life. It is a drama of the mansion and the tenement; the country and the city; a picture for the humble and the great; for the mighty and the lowly.

This remarkable picture—so termed by every newspaper in Greater New York—is a multi-reel presentation of Will Carleton's world-known story-divine,

AMERICAN DYES LEAD AT CHEMICAL SHOW

HIGH-CLASS PRODUCTS SEEN

Exhibits Attract Much Attention at the Grand Central Palace.

Declaring that fostering of the American dye industry formed a first line of defense as badly needed as a standing army, because of the easy conversion of dye factories to the manufacture of explosives and munitions, chemists declared yesterday at the exposition of the Chemical Industries in Grand Central Palace that subtle German propaganda was still at work seeking to convince the public of the overwhelming superiority of German dyes.

Exhibits of the dye makers form one of the chief attractions of the Chemical Show and scores of expert chemists are at the various booths, trying to convince the American public of the truth that American dyes are becoming better every day and are far more effective and durable than the available stocks of the German dyes. All the companies have hundreds of chemists at work improving the products, the National Aniline and Chemical Company having seventy-five research chemists in one laboratory of their plant at Buffalo.

Some of the exhibits at the show are planned to show the public the great range of the present stocks of American dyes, and others are arranged to free the public mind from illusion planted there by German propaganda that there is no satisfactory, durable or fast dye produced in this country. The exhibits are scattered throughout the four floors of the exposition and have attracted more attention than any other section of the chemical industry.

All the speakers at the symposiums held during the exposition have pointed out the close alliance of the dye industry with public safety because of the ease and celerity with which a dye plant may be turned to the making of TNT, tetryl, powders, phosgene gas and other munitions needed in modern warfare. Years are required for the construction of a dye plant or an explosive factory, but it takes only a few days to make an explosive plant out of a dye factory. Some of the chemists have pointed out the need of a protective tariff for the industry.

Despite lack of encouragement, the dye industry has grown swiftly in the last two years, according to figures made public at the Chemical Exposition yesterday by Grinnel Jones of the United States Tariff Commission, who said:

"The total output of all dyes increased about 8 per cent over 1918, or to a little more than 63,000,000 pounds, valued at about $67,000,000. The average value per pound was $1.07, which is just the same as shown by the 1918 census. The average quality of the dyes has, however, improved considerably, due to a partial replacement of many of the cheaper dyes by others of a more satisfactory character. The consumer, accordingly, received better value for his money in 1919 than in 1918."

Plans for the Seventh National Exposition of the Chemical Industries were announced by Fred Payne and Charles F. Roth, directors of the exposition, who said they expected an increase of at least 50 per cent. in the number of exhibitors next year. Because the Grand Central Palace is soon to be made over into an office building the exposition will be held in the week of Sept. 21, 1921, in the Ninth Coast Artillery Armory on West Fourteenth Street. More than 150 applications for space in the exposition were received yesterday after the new plans were announced.

One of the unusual exhibits in this year's show is a paper suit manufactured in Newmah, Wis., and exhibited in the booth of the trade publication, Paper Mill and Wood Pulp News, on the fourth floor of the exposition. These suits, dyed in any color, might be made for $18 a dozen if there were demand for them.

DR. COPELAND DEMANDS HOUSING LEGISLATION

Says People Should Not Permit Assembly to Adjourn Without Affording Relief.

Dr. Royal S. Copeland, Health Commissioner, who was the principal speaker at a meeting under the auspices of the Federation of Professions and Business at the High School of Commerce, declared last night that the people of the State should not permit the Legislature to adjourn without affording a definite relief of the housing crisis.

"We need a remedy for the chronic ills of housing, the lack of homes, as well as relief for the acute condition," he said. "I think it is a laudable idea to urge private capital to build, but I don't think this will solve the problem. And I don't think the problem will be solved without the provision for either municipal or State funds to erect homes."

Dr. Copeland related that at the housing conference he attended recently in London twenty-eight out of the twenty-nine nations represented had decided that housing the people was a health problem. The United States, he added, was the only nation which did not consider it in this light.

"If the City of New York can spend millions of dollars to build docks and lease them to private individuals it can as easily and as profitably spend public money to build houses to be leased to private individuals so that the homeless may be sheltered," the Health Commissioner said.

Dr. Copeland said he knew of one real estate project now under consideration which, if completed, would take up the space now occupied by 1,450 families.

"We do not need any more motion pictures or theatres or other amusement places, but we do need shelter for the 100,000 families which today are compelled to share premises already crowded," Dr. Copeland added. Overcrowding lessens vitality and renders the people more susceptible to epidemics.

The meeting was the last of a series in the interest of tenants held by the Federation of Professions and Business, of which Dr. Charles L. Gillman is President. As at the other meetings Dr. Gillman presided and outlined the bills the federation advocates, one of which involves the extension of all existing leases until Sept. 30, 1922.

Other speakers were Mischa Applebaum, Municipal Court Justice Robitzek, Stuart Brown and Arthur J. W. Hilly, Chairman of the Mayor's Committee on Rent Profiteering.

LEGION CHEMISTS ORGANIZE

General Fries Predicts Greater Use of Gases in Next Conflict.

Speaking at the reorganization meeting of the Chemical Warfare Post of the American Legion in the Grand Central Palace last night, Brig. Gen. Amos A. Fries, director of the Chemical Warfare Service, declared that the last war was largely a war of gases and chemicals, and that the next war certainly would be a similar war on a greater scale. He urged that the Legion posts be made the nucleus of an organization of experienced chemists and war veterans who could serve immediately in time of need.

General Fries quoted figures upon the casualties of the war to show that the struggle was largely affected by the use of gas and said that more than 20,000 American chemists served during hostilities. Close co-operation between the Chemical Warfare Service and the organized chemists would be of great aid to the country, he said.

Major Leslie T. Sutherland was chosen commander of the post, with Lieut. Col. Mayo Smith as vice commander. Captain E. Caldwell was designated as Adjutant and Major C. Zinser Treasurer. The members of the Executive Board are Colonel W. H. Walker, Colonel F. M. Dorsey, Colonel Bradley Dewey, Colonel R. F. Bacon, Colonel G. A. Burrell and Lieut. Col. W. E. Bacon.

SEES MENACE TO THE STAGE

Motion Pictures Endanger Spoken Drama, Says Montrose J. Moses.

LAKE PLACID, N. Y., Sept. 22.—Motion pictures are endangering the spoken drama, declared Montrose J. Moses of New York, who addressed the New York State Library Association in convention here today.

Mr. Moses declared the library profession was one of the main safeguards of literature, if it could keep up its former high standards and thus counteract the effect of the sensational side of modern drama.

COAST GUARD CUTTER NOT VIOLATING TREATY

Canadian Veterans' Complaint of Armament Unfounded, Says Commandant and Shouse.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The United States coast guard cutter Chillicothe, which is cruising on the St. Lawrence River, carries no armament which would violate the provisions of the treaty with Great Britain concerning armed vessels on the waters between the United States and Canada, it was stated today by Commodore W. E. Reynolds, commandant of the Coast Guard Service.

The Kingston, Ontario, branch of the Army and Navy Veterans, protested yesterday to the Canadian Government that the Chillicothe carried mounted guns in "direct violation of the treaty between the United States and Great Britain."

Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Shouse, in charge of customs, issued a formal statement saying the presence in the St. Lawrence River of the Chillicothe furnished "no occasion for protest or concern."

"The Chillicothe," he said, "is an eighty-foot tug recently sent to Ogdensburg, N. Y., which was for many years regular headquarters for a coast guard vessel. I am informed by the commandant of the coast guard that the Chillicothe is not armed and is simply doing usual coast guard duty with especial reference to recruiting.

"I have jurisdiction of both the Customs Service and the Bureau of Internal Revenue and consequently am in very intimate touch with all their efforts to prevent the smuggling of liquors and to enforce the prohibition laws within the boundary of the United States. I need scarcely add that no action will be either contemplated or countenanced by the department which violates the treaty provisions obtaining between the United States and any other country."

OTTAWA, Sept. 22.—Official Ottawa feels no apprehension over the reported appearance of the American cruiser Chillicothe in the St. Lawrence River with mounted guns, it was learned in well informed circles today.

Technically the act may be a violation of the Rush-Bagot convention of 1817, one official said, but "as the United States is a friendly nation there is no reason for taking exception at their maintaining a war vessel on their own waters, especially if it is entirely for police purposes."

Club Valet and Mexican as Heirs.

Dr. David L. Haight, who died Sept. 30, 1918, left an estate of $79,328. Under the appraisal yesterday his nephew, Domenico C. Tomascelli Filomarino of 29 Calle de Guerrero, Oaxaca, Mexico, receives $72,910; William M. Rowell, a waiter in the University Club, $500, and Edward Hooper, valet in the same club, $1,000.

Acrobats Held to Shubert Compact.

Federal Judge Manton yesterday restrained George and Richard Rath, acrobats, from performing in violation of their contract with the Shubert Theatrical Company, which expires Sept. 1, 1921. Under this contract the Raths receive $300 a week while performing in this city and $325 while on the road. The Raths contended that the plaintiff had failed to exercise its option, thus voiding the contract.

MILLERAND CHOSEN BY CAUCUS ACTION

He Has 528 Votes, While Peret and Bourgeois Receive 157 and 113 Respectively.

INSURGENTS' EFFORTS VAIN

Premier's Election Today at Versailles Is Regarded as a Foregone Conclusion.

RIVALS DECLINE A CONTEST

Bourgeois Declares That He Prefers League Post to Presidency of the Republic.

By WALTER DURANTY.

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Sept. 22.—There will be no opposition to Millerand at Versailles tomorrow. The vote in full assembly of both houses of Parliament at the Senate this afternoon gave him an overwhelming majority over the other two candidates, Léon Bourgeois and Raoul Peret, whose names had been put forward against their own wishes.

This result was foreshadowed by the meeting which the insurgent Senators and Deputies called this morning. Only eighty were present, whereas last night the insurgents had been expected to number 200 at least. Of the eighty twenty spoke for Millerand and the others were much weakened by the refusal of Bourgeois to be a candidate.

The whole insurgent movement appears to have been an example of the political impressionism so dear to French hearts. Behind the scenes there is being carried on a vast amount of bargaining and counterbargaining, and it appears that yesterday morning certain important influences came to the conclusion that they were not sufficiently represented in the new Cabinet which Briand is understood to have formed. Accordingly, they determined to throw a wrench into the machinery by raising an outcry against Millerand's intention to strengthen the position of the President.

Perhaps that exceedingly astute politician, M. Briand, was not sorry to see the development of this sentiment. As prospective Premier he would doubtless desire as free a hand as possible. At any rate, all the old stalwarts of radicalism rallied to the cry of "No dictator!" and an attempt was made to reconstitute against Millerand's candidacy the old "Bloc de Gauche" of Radical Socialists and Republican Radicals which ruled France so long.

Millerand's straightforward explanation of his attitude and his reminder that he had never made a secret of it, but that he did not propose anything like a revision of the Constitution until more pressing national problems had been disposed of, did much to allay the real or pretended alarm of his opponents. Briand, too, when the matter really came to a test, hastened to support Millerand. He declined firmly to attend the insurgent meeting this morning and reiterated his support of Millerand's candidacy.

The insiders have known since Sunday that Premier Millerand would be the next President of the republic, and that his apparent reluctance was more a matter of form than of fixed resolve. It had become so evident in the last few days that his election would be unanimous if he was willing to accept the nomination that M. Millerand realized that there was no longer danger of abandoning the substance for a shadow, and last night issued an announcement to the press signifying his readiness to accede to the wish of Parliament. His acceptance was accompanied by the stipulation that Parliament should recognize by electing him that he was to maintain as President his national policy and have close collaboration with the Cabinet in carrying it out, without being influenced by questions of party politics.

This statement, which was evidently written with extreme care, is understood to cover a bargain between the President-Designate and Parliament containing the following points:

1. That there shall be no marked change in national policy; that is, there shall be no compromise about the revision of the treaty or the recent decision of Millerand's Cabinet to stand out for the fixing of the amount and mode of payment of the German debt by the Allied Reparations Commission rather than by conferences like those at Spa at which Germans shall be present.

2. That M. Millerand as President shall have a more important voice in Cabinet meetings than his predecessors, who have been little more than nominal chairmen of boards whose real chief was the Premier.

3. That this arrangement should be maintained no matter what party in power shall form a Government. In reality and practice, this amounts to a constitutional amendment greatly augmenting the power and influence of the President, which were studiously whittled down by successive Parliaments in the troubled years after the defeat of 1870 through fear of an attempt at a monarchical restoration.

Bourgeois and Peret Won't Run.

PARIS, Sept. 22 (Associated Press.)—In the unofficial balloting by Senators and Deputies for the choice of a successor to ex-President Deschanel Premier Millerand received 528 votes, Raoul Peret, President of the Chamber of Deputies, 157, and Léon Bourgeois, President of the Senate, 113.

M. Bourgeois has authorized the definite announcement of his declination to be a candidate, and M. Peret has declared that he will not run against Premier Millerand.

M. Bourgeois's refusal was contained in a letter addressed to Gaston Doumergue, President of the Radical Party.

"I am devotedly attached to the work of the League of Nations, in which I have the great honor to represent France," wrote M. Bourgeois. "I believe that in this lies the surest guarantee for the future of our country, as well as for general peace. Thus I cannot consent to be a candidate for the Presidency of the republic, as there is incompatibility between the duties of the President and those of a member of the Council of the League."

The correspondent was informed by many who voted against M. Millerand today that their action was a mere demonstration against the proposed revision of the constitution, and that they would vote for M. Millerand tomorrow or abstain from casting their ballots.

At the conclusion of the council of Ministers early in the day the Premier told the Ministers that he intended to carry out modifications of the Constitution when an opportune moment came, which would be after the execution of the Peace Treaty and the reorganization of the economic and financial situation of the country had been achieved.

For the present, by a better interpretation and adaptation of the Constitution, he continued, it would be possible to allow the President of the Republic to intervene more efficaciously in the conduct of the foreign policy. Article VI. of the Constitution says, "The President negotiates and ratifies treaties." Either, said M. Millerand, this does not mean anything or permits the President to take an active part in negotiations. He believed the latter to be the right interpretation, and expressed the intention to collaborate personally in the direction of France's foreign policy.

RAMBOUILLET, France, Sept. 22.—Paul Deschanel, who resigned the French Presidency yesterday, left the Presidential Summer home here today. M. Deschanel went by automobile to the château of his wife's family, near Rennes.

Italian Socialist Begins Hunger Strike in Prison

NAPLES, Sept. 22.—Following the example of the Irish hunger strikers, Fiossa Fiori, the Socialist agitator, who is in prison charged with political crimes, has refused all food for the last eight days.

When he has been pressed to take nourishment, Fiori has replied that his action was in protest against the decision of the Crown Prosecutor to send him to be judged by the Court of Assizes at Salerno, which he maintains is illegal.

IRISH PICKETS MEET BRITISH PARTY HERE

At the Pier with Placards Discounting Anglo-American Amity.

LORD RATHCREEDAN SPEAKS

Says Mission of Pigrim Delegation Is Purely One of International Friendship.

Among the passengers in the first cabin of the Carmania, which arrived yesterday from Liverpool, were members of the Sulgrave Institution and the Anglo-American Society, who were invited by the Sulgrave Institution of America to take part in the tercentenary celebration of the landing of the Pilgrims. The visitors were met at the West Fourteenth Street pier by welcoming committees, and at the entrance were Irish women pickets carrying placards which read "Anglo-American Friendship—Bah! There Can Be No Anglo-American Friendship," and another which read "Pilgrims, the English Hired the Indian Savage to Murder Your Ancestors."

Standing on the forward deck of the Carmania were a number of steerage passengers from Queenstown who were waving Sinn Fein flags to their relatives waiting outside the customs barrier. American passengers in the cabin who had been visiting relatives in Ireland expressed displeasure at the outrages there and said they never wanted to visit the country again. A Chicagoan said that his 75-year-old aunt died of fright when he was visiting her near Dublin because Sinn Feiners entered her bedroom at 2 A. M. to search for arms.

Lord Rathcreedan Heads Party.

Lord Rathcreedan, an Irish peer, headed the visitors, and was accompanied by Lady Rathcreedan. The party included Admiral Sir William Lowther Grant, K. C. B., who commanded British naval forces in American waters during the war; Sir Arthur E. Shipley, Vice Chancellor of Cambridge University; Professor J. Feakes Jackson of Cambridge University; Colonel H. W. Edwards, D. S. O., M. C., also of Cambridge; Stanley Uhalahead of the British Manufacturers' Association; George McKinley, an American banker in London, and Harry S. Perris, Secretary of the British Sulgrave Institution.

The party were met by John A. Stewart, Chairman of the Board of Governors of the American Sulgrave Institution; Colonel George William Burleigh, Chairman of the Committee on International Hospitality; Andrew B. Humphreys, Secretary of the institution, and Fred Cardway of the Packard Motor Company. The visitors, with the exception of Admiral Grant, immediately left for Western New York, where several cities will be visited. At Buffalo members of the delegation representing the Canadian Government will join them.

Admiral Sir William Lowther Grant, who was met by Captain Geoffrey Blake, British Naval Attaché in Washington, will confer there with Sir Auckland Geddes, the British Ambassador, before rejoining the party. The delegation, which will be augmented by Dr. W. H. de Beaufort, acting Minister of Holland in the United States, and others representing Holland, will then go to Jamestown to attend the celebration and later to Plymouth, Mass., to attend the Mayflower exercises at Plymouth Rock.

Lord Rathcreedan said that their mission to the United States had nothing to do with politics, and that it was perhaps unfortunate that the visit of necessity came when there was great political activity in this country. He said that his party had participated in commemorative exercises held in England and Holland.

Seek International Friendship.

"After the great war," the leader of the British visitors said, "we need to strengthen the ties between the English-speaking peoples, who have grave responsibility before them. We shall come to know each other better. We are here to imbibe knowledge of the people of the United States as to themselves and their institutions, and we believe this to be essential for the prosperity of Great Britain and America and the progress of mankind. Our mission is purely one of international friendship and our appeal is to the American people."

Stating that the commemorative exercises are of significance and importance in relation to the problems of today and of value in strengthening the ties between English speaking people, Lord Rathcreedan concluded by saying:

"The desire of all the members of our delegation is to enlarge their knowledge of the United States and of its people and institutions so that on their return home they may be better qualified to strengthen among their own people those ties of friendship and good will between America and Great Britain which we believe to be essential to the prosperity of both, and to the peace and progress of mankind."

John F. Patton, a British subject, who is a wood pulp broker at 33 West Forty-second Street, New York, who was accompanied by his wife, omitted to have his passport viséd at the American Consulate in Liverpool, and was detained by the Immigration authorities on the Carmania. Agents of the line telephoned to the State Department in Washington and orders were sent by telegram for the release of Mr. and Mrs. Patton. Major G. C. Cheyne of the British Army, who was in uniform, detained for the same reason.

The Carmania called at Halifax to land 196 passengers and brought 314 first, 231 second and 1,128 steerage passengers to New York. The great crowds of people who go to piers to meet relatives and friends on Atlantic liners have attracted the attention of the pickpockets. One man lost $125 and a woman $55 yesterday in the crowd waiting for the Carmania.

WON'T PROTECT SOVIET GOLD.

Canada's Stand Halts Efforts to Establish Trade Relations.

OTTAWA, Sept. 22.—Agents of the Russian Soviet Government have requested that the Dominion guarantee to protect against any "other claims against the Russian Government" gold shipped to Canada to pay for goods for Russia. The Dominion Government, however, is understood to have declined to give such guarantee or to be involved in any way in Russian gold shipments.

Opening of trade relations between Canada and Soviet Russia today was said to have arrived at an impasse.

JAPAN TO PRESS CALIFORNIAN ISSUE

Will Also Uphold with Firmness Racial Equality in League of Nations Conference.

JAPANESE LABOR ROUSED

Unions Pledge Aid to Nationals Here—Premier Calls World Situation Never More Strained.

TOKIO, Sept. 22 (Associated Press).—The Japanese Government, as a result of yesterday's meeting of the Cabinet, will, in the first place, vigorously pursue the negotiations concerning American anti-Japanese legislation, and, in the second place, will push firmly the question of racial equality in the League of Nations conference, according to the Hochi Shimbun today. These decisions will be considered further at today's meeting of the Diplomatic Advisory Council, the newspaper says.

The labor unions, in conference here today, adopted resolutions pledging "harmonious co-operation with the Japanese laborers of California in their insistence upon their lawful rights." The resolutions were cabled to the California labor associations.

At a public meeting in the Y. M. C. A. hall here today, Representative Kodama spoke on the subject, "An American-Japanese War." He denounced American militarism, saying that as long as a threatening nation existed beyond the Pacific Japanese naval expansion could not be dispensed with. Police interfered and silenced the speaker.

Says Colored Races Are Oppressed.

A graduate of Columbia University, New York, M. Osako, who followed Representative Kodama, attributed the anti-Japanese sentiment in the United States to racial differences. He declared that the whites were oppressing the colored races, backed by the power and influence of civilization. Japan was the only country strongly opposing white oppression, Mr. Osako asserted, and, therefore, had incurred the hatred of the Americans. The Japanese, he added, must strongly be determined to meet any serious consequences following the anti-Japanese movement prevailing in America. A large crowd acclaimed the speakers.

The Hochi Shimbun says it thinks the negotiations with the United States hinge on whether the so-called "gentlemen's agreement" should be revised and a formal treaty drawn up. The political situation in the United States, however, does not favor a speedy solution, which might be overturned by the succeeding administration, the newspaper declares.

The Hochi says America seems to object to giving the Japanese equal treatment with other aliens. It declares some Japanese officials are convinced the anti-Japanese sentiment is spreading gradually throughout the United States, and, therefore, the Japanese must seek a fundamental solution.

The Hochi understands also that Japan will insist upon maintenance of her rights in the South Sea Islands, for which she received the mandate at the Peace Conference.

Although Great Britain and the United States may oppose racial equality, according to the Hochi, Japan will insist by all possible means upon its acceptance by the League of Nations.

In his address to the Provincial Governors yesterday Premier Hara said the situation of the world never was more strained than at present. Hitherto, he declared, Japan's problems had been confined to the Orient, but international competition had arisen, resulting in a marked increase in Japan's responsibility to the world and the expansion of her national expenditure.

Japan had decided to withdraw her troops from Siberia, except from those places where consideration of the empire's defense rendered the stationing of troops imperative, Premier Hara said.

Shantung Question Still Hangs Fire.

Concerning Shantung the Premier asserted Japan still was ready to negotiate with China, which refused to consider Japan's proposals.

Premier Hara said he was optimistic concerning the financial position of Japan.

Pointedly alluding to the increase of socialism, he declared indiscreet radicalism was inimical to the welfare of the State, and the authorities must vigorously oppose it.

After referring to Japan's increased responsibility and increased expenditure, Premier Hara said these were points deserving every attention of the people. "In these circumstances it is the height of folly to use diplomatic problems for furthering political struggles," the Premier declared.

Kenzo Adachi of the Kensei-kai, or Opposition Party, in a statement today said the anti-Japanese movement was a matter of international gravity. He declared Premier Hara's words of hope of a satisfactory settlement were disappointing. M. Adachi said he believed Japan's defeat in California would be equivalent to her defeat in China and Korea.

PROGRESS REPORTED IN NEGOTIATIONS

Political Considerations Not Influencing the State Department, It Is Said.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Gratifying progress has been made in the negotiations between the State Department and Baron Shidehara, Japanese Ambassador, in their effort to reach a satisfactory understanding relative to the California referendum and other aspects of the snarl over rights claimed by Japanese nationals in the United States. Details of the progress are withheld, but it can be stated that there is nothing in the present situation that smacks of "tension."

Despite the approach of the Presidential election, political considerations, it is stated, are not influencing the State Department in the negotiations with Japan, although both Harding and Cox have made statements on the California question that are in sympathy with the desires of California.

There has been no certain indication that the department will attempt to influence the vote of California on the referendum in November, but since the visit to the department recently of Governor Stephens there have been intimations that, should dependable assurances be given to the Californians, that possible evils against which the proposed legislation is directed have been averted by the Federal Government, announcement of the fact may effect the defeat of the referendum. Repeated declarations have been made by spokesmen for California that it is not their desire to injure the Japanese or embarrass the Administration, but to protect themselves from an economic and racial situation that threatens their welfare.

There is an inclination to believe that the present treaty will be amended so as to place beyond challenge the right of Japanese nationals who are lawfully in the United States to own land, but at the same time it is thought certain that the United States will require engagements from Japan to prevent the emigration of Japanese laborers to this country. This engagement, it is assumed, would be in the nature of a gentlemen's agreement more comprehensive than that now in existence, the terms of which have never been published, but which is believed to have operated in a manner unsatisfactory to the United States.

Coal Association Predicts Full Supply For the Country's Needs Before Winter

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—All wants of coal consumers, big and little, will be adequately met before Winter sets in, the National Coal Association declared tonight in a review of the situation throughout the country.

"Householders need not feel it necessary to fill their bins with the entire Winter's supply at this time," it was said in the statement. "By taking only enough coal now to tide them over Dec. 1 the entire situation will work out with no great privation to any one."

For the immediate use of consumers in the Middle West, where some public officials have been alarmed as to the wants of householders, the association suggested the adoption of a co-operative program by railroads, coal operators and dealers so as to assure a supply until December. By that time, it was said, the wants of the Northwest would have been filled, which, it was pointed out, was necessary before the close of navigation on the Great Lakes.

Reviewing the New England situation, the association asserted that the suspension of the priority shipment order of the Interstate Commerce Commission was due to the improvement in the coal supply of that territory, and that the 6,500,000 tons yet required there would be handled in the ordinary way.

Entire Line of Zbruch River Now Occupied—Lithuanians Renew Attacks on Poles at Border.

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 22.—A special dispatch to the National Tidende from Helsingfors says conflagrations are raging all over the Russian Governments of Tver, Jaroslav, Kostroma, Archangel, Vologda, Vladimir, Moscow, Riazan and Viatka.

In Vologda 500 houses were burned and 150 persons perished. In Saratov 300 persons perished. Twenty-five thousand are without shelter.

In the suburbs of Petrograd great fires also are raging.

WARSAW, Sept. 22.—The Poles now have reached the Zbruch River along the entire line, according to Tuesday's official communication, and Ukrainian troops have crossed the river. In the Pruzana region the prisoners taken by the Poles number 2,250.

The communication adds that cavalry has occupied Oysterog, Bubryn and Derazno in pursuit of the Reds in Volhynia.

The Lithuanians have twice fired on the Poles near Strzelcowinyc, says Tuesday's official communication. On Sunday, the communication adds, the Lithuanian artillery fired on a Polish outpost near Lake Gluche. The Poles captured a Lithuanian patrol that had advanced to Francki. The communication declares that the Lithuanians are fortifying their positions.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Capture by the forces of General Wrangel, the anti-Soviet leader, of the town of Alexandrovsk, on the Dnieper River, and about 10,000 prisoners, was reported to the State Department today in advices from Constantinople. Wrangel's force also took thirty-five guns, several hundred machine guns, five armored trains and a large quantity of supplies, the dispatch added.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—Polish forces have commenced an offensive in the region of Grodno, on the northeast Polish front, according to an official statement issued yesterday in Moscow and received here by wireless.

The statement declares the Poles have advanced along a front thirty-three miles in length, large numbers of troops being engaged. Fierce fighting is proceeding, it is said.

"At Svislotch village, in the region west of Volkovysk (southeast of Grodno), fighting continues with alternating success," the statement says. "Enemy attempts to ford the River Gory, east of Rovno, were repulsed.

"In the Volochysk and Gusiatin regions our troops have taken up positions along the River Zbruch.

"In the Alexandrovsk region of the Crimea our forces continue fighting a pitched battle with the enemy's cavalry."

A later official communication sent out from Moscow says:

"In the Grodno region our troops repulsed enemy attacks along the whole of the front, and on assuming the counter-offensive occupied a series of villages.

"Red troops have occupied Stary-Chardrui and Bukhara, and a revolutionary movement has seized the whole country."

JOFFE DANDY OF RIGA PARLEY.

Red Envoy, Fashionably Attired, Looks Like Prosperous Banker.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

RIGA, Sept. 21.—The most striking figure at the opening session of the Russo-Polish Peace Conference today was undoubtedly that of Joffe, President of the Bolshevist group.

As he stepped out of his motor car, which was flying the red flag on its bonnet, you would have been pardoned for mistaking him for a prosperous Jewish banker. With perfectly cut black coat, perfectly creased striped trousers, perfectly brushed hat and perfectly fitting gray suede gloves, the picture of a man of the world was completed by a gold-rimmed pince nez through which gleamed piercing black eyes.

When he entered the conference room with the quiet confidence inspired by sixteen previous affairs of this kind, ending in treaties to which his signature is affixed, several Polish delegates were already there, and, walking up to them, he shook hands with Dovbski, his principal adversary.

The remainder of the Bolshevist delegation was equally conventional, though in another style. There was no long hair and there were no red ties. In short, they reminded me in composite of a gathering of typical American trade unionists of the older school, though several of them are younger in years than men who usually come to position of authority in the labor circles.

Only one of their military advisers was wearing a uniform, obviously of English khaki, and that of a nondescript character. The Poles, on the other hand, had with them several staff officers very correctly accoutred.

RIGA, Sept. 22 (Associated Press).—Probably the next meeting of the Peace Conference will be held Friday. The two delegations did not communicate with each other today, although it was expected that the secretaries would meet and discuss the agenda. Reports showing heavy fighting in the vicinity of Grodno apparently are responsible in part for the delay in starting the negotiations.

FAST OF YOM KIPPUR ENDED AT SUNDOWN

Services Held in All Synagogues, at Ellis Island and on Detained Ships.

JUSTICE FOR JEWS ASKED

Rabbi Schulman Denounces Attack on Race Published in Henry Ford's Organ.

The fast of orthodox Jews, which began on Wednesday evening in observance of Yom Kippur, the day of atonement, ended at nightfall last night when the traditional sounding of the ram's horn released all worshippers from the synagogues and from the obligations of the fast. Reformed congregations not bound strictly by the obligations of the fast gathered in synagogues for the Yom Kippur services and to hear sermons by the rabbis on various topics.

Services also were held yesterday at Ellis Island for the hundreds of Jewish immigrants detained there for examination before entering the country, and on the steamer Thomas and other ships in the bay, where immigrants were held pending landing.

"We are straying from true Judaism today," said Rabbi Herbert S. Goldstein in his sermon at the Institutional Synagogue, 110th Street and St. Nicholas Avenue. "Many would have us distort God's word and degrade His commandments by making them conform to the times, rather than the times to conform to His revealed will."

In his sermon at Temple Beth-el, Fifth Avenue and Seventy-sixth Street, Rabbi Samuel Schulman decried the plan for the establishment of a Jewish State in Palestine, and deprecated evidences of anti-Semitic feeling. He said the Jewish problem was religious, and criticised Henry Ford for articles upon the Jews printed in his organ.

"The world is unjust to the Jew," said Rabbi Schulman. "This injustice is not a new thing. It is the result of racial antipathy, religious bigotry, economic rivalry and social prejudice. There is a recrudescence of Jew hatred all over the world. It is stirring in the most enlightened lands. It is most atrocious and savage in Eastern lands, but even liberal England is not free from it, and in our own country we were called upon during the last year to repel with indignation the miserable, revamped charges against the Jew, which were published in the newspaper owned by Henry Ford.

"Hundreds of the intellectuals in our midst have turned their backs upon the God of their fathers. They have become hewers of wood and drawers of water for every possible and impossible philosophy and fad, and they refuse to bring the service of their brains to the understanding of the perpetuation of the Jewish soul.

"We loom large by our racial identity, by our mental ability, by our commercial and financial leadership, by our distinguished patronage of the city's palaces of pleasure and amusement. We are everywhere. In the eyes of our enemies we are too much everywhere, but we are very feeble as a moral and spiritual force in this city.

"It has been asserted, and it cannot be refuted, that 40 per cent. of the Jews in this city are not connected with any synagogue, that 200,000 Jewish children get no religious instruction whatever—a fine spectacle of religious conditions, indeed, in the midst of a people that is supposed to uphold the covenant made by God with the fathers."

Preaching in the Central Synagogue at Lexington Avenue and Fifty-fifth Street, Rabbi Nathan Krass said that "all wholesale accusations against the Jews must cease. He asserted that "the Jews do not apologize for their sinners, but they ask for a square deal and an unbiased judgment from the rest of the world."

PREMIER RAPS RADICALS.

Lloyd George Takes Hand in By-Election, Opposing Sovietism.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—Premier Lloyd George has addressed a letter to Frederick Wise, coalition candidate in the Ilford by-election, congratulating him on his fight for the supremacy of constitutional government.

After declaring that British democracy has nothing to gain and everything to lose by abandonment of constitutional methods, the Prime Minister proceeds:

"In no country does labor enjoy conditions comparable to those that obtain in this country. If extremists in the ranks of the Labor Party were to get their way the solid attainments of a generation would be lost in a night. My unfaltering faith in the good sense and judgment of the British nation, however, gives me confidence that counsels of prudence and wisdom will prevail.

"The Soviet Government in Russia has reduced that country to conditions that forcibly remind one of the Dark Ages. Property is confiscated and labor is enslaved. The lot of the workers is worse than ever before. Their houses are haunted by hunger and such freedom as they enjoyed under the old despotism is completely taken away by the new tyranny.

"This country must withstand all those forces which menace its existence."

Republican Leader's Opinion

Boies Penrose, United States Senator from Pennsylvania, believes "it would be cheap for the country if $100,000,000 were expended to get rid of the Democratic Administration." This statement is made by Senator Penrose in an interview to be published in The New York Times Book Review and Magazine Section next Sunday.

LEAGUE COST LOW; WE MAY LOSE BILLION

Expense of $31,099 for Us This Year, Contrasted with Amount in Peril Under Separate Peace.

SEIZURES THEN INVALID

Reparation Commission's Work Hindered, with Blame Put Upon America for Continued Chaos.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Friends of the League of Nations are contrasting the cost of this country's participation in the League with the large amount which they believe will be lost to Americans if this country refuses to enter the League, and, instead, makes a separate peace with Germany.

It is stated that membership in the League for the last nine months of 1920 would cost us $31,099.50. On the other hand, it is asserted that Americans stand to lose $1,200,000,000, because in a separate treaty the Germans would probably never agree to allow the Alien Property Custodian to retain $800,000,000 worth of former German holdings in this country, or return to Americans $400,000,000 of American investments held in Germany.

Besides this loss, patent rights, copyrights and trade marks of great interest to American manufacturers and involving many million dollars may be lost, it is contended. Economic clauses in the present treaty, it is argued, grant vast advantages to this country.

That title to the many German ships seized by this country is doubtful at present and will be in danger until confirmed by the Treaty of Versailles is another one of the points made in favor of the treaty settlement.

The total budget for the expense of running the League of Nations from April, 1920, to December, 1920, is 10,000,000 gold francs, according to a report received by the State Department from the secretariat of the League. This expenditure is divided among the members of the League, being levied in three classes, according to the influence and wealth of the various powers. The share borne by members of the first class, of which class the United States would be a member, was 5,263,000 gold francs in all, or 526,300 gold francs for each nation of ten nations. If the United States were a member of the League this total would be distributed among eleven instead of ten nations. The present exchange rate lists the franc at approximately 6½ cents. At this rate of exchange the expense for the nine months' period to the ten major nations would be $342,095, or $34,209.50 for each nation. If the United States were included this expense would be reduced to $31,099.50 for each major nation.

Contrasted with this amount by the friends of the League are the following appropriations for army, navy and fortifications made by the present Congress for the fiscal year June 30, 1920, to June 30, 1921:

Army, $392,558,365.
Navy, $433,279,574.
Fortifications, $18,373,004.87.
Total, $844,210,943.87.

Chief Interests at Stake.

A distinguished authority who is favorable to the League, and is familiar with its working, has prepared a statement cancerning the losses to the United States through non-entrance into the League. This statement reads:

"The following are a few of the more important questions which, unless properly settled by ratification of the treaty by the United States, will seriously prejudice the interests of the United States:

"(1) Ships—The treay and arrangements ancillary thereto deal in a precise and definite way with enemy shipping. Pending the coming into force of these provisions, great uncertainty prevails as to the title to and right of use of German ships. Thousands of tons of enemy shipping lie idle today representing ships turned over by the Germans under the Brussels agreement for specific purposes which have now been accomplished and it has been impracticable to get any agreement as to what shall be done with the ships pending their definitive allocation under the treaty. The title of the United States to German ships which it seized during the war is very doubtful as the ships have never been put through a prize court. Until title is confirmed in the United States, pursuant to the treaty, uncertainty with attendant danger to American interests must remain.

"(2) Alien Property Custodian Funds—These funds cannot be dealt with otherwise than by restoration to the owners, unless German consent to their application to other purposes is obtained through the treaty. International law does not permit of the confiscation of private property unless the enemy Government consents to the use of such property for the satisfaction of claims against it, or like purposes. The treaty with Germany contains Germany's assent to the use of A. P. C. funds to pay claims of the United States and its nationals against Germany and debts of Germany to America. In the interest of justice as well as of business, it is urgent that these questions be settled. Many of America's Lusitania victims, &c., have now for years been kept waiting the redress to which they are plainly entitled. It is urgent that some provision be made for the innocent victims of Germany's aggression.

Relations With Germany and Allies.

"(3) Commercial activity in the interest, not of bankers and financiers, but of the wheat and cotton farmers and other producers of staples in the United States. A situation should be created whereby trade with Germany in such products can be revived. A relatively small amount of trade is, to be sure, occurring with Germany today, but this is and must remain insignificant as no large transactions can safely be entered into as the credit arrangements, and, indeed, the contracts themselves are of uncertain validity. Until it is definitely established that the terms of peace, as to the contracts, &c., will be those agreed upon at Versailles, as long as the possibility exists that the United States may be compelled to negotiate a separate treaty with Germany, business cannot revive as it is entirely problematic as to whether such a separate treaty would protect American contracts and proper rights in the same manner and to the same extent as does the present treaty.

"(4) Relations with our associates—The execution of the treaty is a matter of vital moment to the European Allies. While it is true that they may put the treaty into force without our participation, it is by no means clear that the treaty, even though enforced, can be executed in many of its most vital respects without American participation. France, Belgium and Italy depend upon the Reparation clauses of the treaty to secure at least partial redress for the frightful ravages to which they have been subjected, and which, unless repaired, threaten increasingly their economical and financial life. The Reparation Commission, the agency through which redress is to be obtained, provides expressly for American participation. The Germans have already intimated that they will not feel obligated to conform to the orders of the commission unless an American does participate. This position of Germany, while technically sound, could probably be overcome by renegotiation of this part of the treaty with Germany to secure a modification of the present treaty by eliminating the United States from the Reparation Commission. Aside from all consideration of the unfortunate effect which this might have on American interests, it could not but involve very substantial delay during the Winter, which, from the economic aspect, is the most critical Europe has ever faced, and the United States would unquestionably be charged by the suffering people of France and Belgium with being the cause of the withholding of reparation by Germany.

"This same difficulty will manifest itself in other parts of Europe, such as Danzig, &c., where permanent settlement, if the United States is not to participate, must await a negotiation with Germany of new arrangements. All of this delay, for which the United States will be held responsible, and the consequences of which, given the troubled conditions in Europe, may be most serious, cannot but affect friendly relations with the Allies.

"(5) Conditions in Germany—It is coming to be recognized even by Germany's bitterest enemies that the future stability of the world implies a certain amount of stability in Germany and that Germany should be allowed to know definitely and at once precisely what her international relations are to be, in order that she may map out a definite course for meeting her international obligations and maintaining order at home.

"As long as no treaty of peace exists between Germany and one or more of her important adversaries, Germany's domestic arrangements are all liable to be overturned through the terms of the new treaty with her opponent; also, until the treaty goes into force and while the state of war nominally exists, Germany is liable to be subjected, and has already been subjected, to extreme and additional demands, coupled with the threat that unless they were accepted peace would be withheld or its terms rendered even more harsh. In justice to Germany, who accepted and ratified the treaty many months ago, and still move in the interest of stable government in Central Europe, peace should be re-established, permitting Germany to set about diligently and intelligently to maintain domestic order and to perform her obligations abroad."

Detroit Bandits Get $30,000 In Bank Holdup and Escape

DETROIT, Sept. 22.—Four armed bandits held up a branch of the First State Bank at Mount Elliott and Mack Avenues here today and escaped with an amount estimated by bank officials at $30,000.

The bandits held bank employes at bay with pistols, seized the cash and escaped in an automobile.

CONGRESS OF NATIONS IN BRUSSELS TOMORROW

Forty States Expected to Discuss World's Financial and Economic Conditions.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Appointment of Roland W. Boyden of Beverly, Mass., as unofficial representative of the United States at the Brussels Financial Congress, under the League of Nations, was announced today by Secretary Houston.

Mr. Boyden is now in Paris as the representative of the State Department with the Reparations Commission. The American representative, like the representatives of other nations, Mr. Houston said, will have no authority to bind his Government, but will report the deliberations and make such suggestions to the conference as may be deemed advisable.

The purpose of the conference, which meets Friday, is to consider the fiscal and economic conditions of the various nations, which would involve discussion of trade relations, the exchange situation and similar subjects. Recommendations will then be made to the various Governments for the betterment of world conditions.

The International Financial Conference is announced in the official bulletins of the League of Nations as "the first gathering of the important nations of the world since August, 1914." It is expected that more than forty States will be represented.

In addition to the United States, which has not yet ratified the Peace Treaty, Finland Luxmbrg, Esthonia, Latvia and Lithuania, which cannot be admitted to membership of the League before the meeting of the Assembly in November, and Germany, Austria, Hungary and Bulgaria were invited to send delegates.

States not members of the League will participate on equal terms with members. They will have equal rights of speaking, voting and of holding office.

Questions still under negotiation between the allied and associated powers and ex-enemy powers will not be discussed. This prohibition applies especially to the question of the total amount of German reparation which is to be taken up shortly by the allied and German experts at Geneva.

TRYING TO BRIDGE FRANCO-BRITISH RIFT

Differences Regarding Silesian Disturbances Are Most Recent Cause of Trouble.

By CHARLES H. GRASTY.

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Sept. 22.—Even in the midst of the excitement over the Presidential election there is considerable anxiety here about the relations between France and England. The strain caused by France's independent action in recognizing Wrangel and later in upsetting the plans made at Spa for the Geneva conference at which Germany was to be represented has been increased by differences in high official circles, the details of which have so far been prevented from becoming public.

It was hoped to smooth the trouble out by direct negotiations between the two Governments. Derby and Paléologue wrestled with the subject for a while, and then Millerand on his return from Switzerland tried to remove the difficulties caused by the resignation of the British members of the Silesian Commission in protest against the alleged unfairness of the Poles, under French influence, in connection with the approaching plébiscite.

As these efforts to compose the differences were unavailing, it was decided to summon General Lerond, head of the Silesian Commission, to present the French point of view to the Council of Ambassadors. He made an impressive statement at yesterday's meeting, the general effect of which was to show that the Germans, not the Poles, were the aggressors in the attempt to prevent a fair election. The British side will be presented within the next few days.

The events in Upper Silesia are not in themselves of overwhelming importance, but have an unfortunate reaction on sensitive conditions. At the bottom lies the whole question of how Germany shall be dealt with—whether strongly, as desired by France, which seeks indemnity and security, or somewhat leniently, as desired by England, whose interest is to re-establish trade relations as soon as possible.

The tension between the two Governments is probably greater at this moment than at any other time since the armistice, but it is generally believed that harmony will soon be restored. The partisans of Briand say that his induction into the Premiership and the Foreign Office would be fortunate, because of his well-known friendship for England and Lloyd George and his tact and subtlety in handling delicate questions.

Will Be Asked About Offer of $750 to Lose Game to Cubs—Secrecy About Testimony.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Revelations tending to throw light on the charges that certain players had accepted money from gamblers and played to lose ball games was brought out on this the first day of the Grand Jury's investigation of the baseball scandal, according to a statement made tonight by Assistant State's Attorney Replogle, in charge of the proceedings.

"The last world's series between the Chicago White Sox and the Cincinnati Reds was not on the square," said Replogle. "From five to seven players on the White Sox are involved."

Though the charge to the Grand Jury by Chief Justice Charles A. McDonald was to make an investigation in the interest of the public and all the magnates declared that they were for an open investigation, the officials are disinclined to make public what they learned.

Certain baseball officials, who testified before the jury today, apparently are not acting in good faith with the public, it is alleged, when they say they are willing to give to the public all knowledge they have regarding the baseball scandal.

Gets Pledge of Secrecy.

This developed when it was learned that a certain witness gave testimony on a promise that it would not be made public. A pledge was given him by the Grand Jurors and prosecutors.

However, before the hearing B. B. Johnson, President of the American League, admitted that he had evidence that there had been crooked ball games last year, and he added that several players had been expelled from the big leagues as a result. He had no direct evidence of any thrown games this year, he said.

Today's witnesses were B. B. Johnson, Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the Chicago White Sox; William L. Veeck, President of the Chicago Cubs, and several sporting writers. Before entering the jury room all stated that they were anxious to get to the bottom of all charges, and that they were determined to push the investigation and punish the guilty, if any. Later they all said that they had given no direct information to the inquiring body. President Veeck delivered to the jury all the affidavits he had obtained in investigating the Cubs-Phillies game of Aug. 31. Comiskey told of holding up the world's series checks last year while making his investigation. He told also of his $10,000 offer if proof of crookedness could be obtained, but added that he had not been able to get any proof.

No Players Questioned.

No players were questioned. They will be heard later. The consensus of all the sporting writers heard today was that there were few, if any, crooked players.

Rumors that a member of the Chicago Cubs had been mentioned as the player who offered Rube Benton $750 to lose a ball game to the Chicago club could not be verified. Benton is on his way here and will report to the State's attorney tomorrow. John J. McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, and Barry McCormick, umpire in the Philadelphia-Cub game of Aug. 31, will be requested to testify next week. President John Heydler of the National League also will be called.

"McGraw not only knows about the Lee Magee matter, but about other things," said Prosecutor Replogle. "We also intend to ask Charles Stoneham, President of the Giants, and Joseph Vila of The New York Evening Sun to come voluntarily as witnesses."

Samuel W. Pass, a manufacturer in the People's Gas Building, an ardent White Sox fan and close friend of many of the Sox players, is to be called. That he had lost a large sum on the Sox during the world's series and has since learned some of the things responsible for the losing of the series was brought out in the hearing.

William Birch, a former newspaperman, and Ray Schalk, White Sox catcher, will also be called to tell of events in the world's series.

The advisability of calling Paulette and Rawlings, first and second basemen of the Philadelphia Nationals, is also being considered.

Benton to Testify Today.

The appearance of Benton tomorrow is expected to clear up the numerous rumors to the effect he was offered a bribe. Benton was slated to pitch a certain game between the New York Giants and the Cubs. Gamblers throughout the country bet heavily on the New York club, according to the story in circulation. If the Cubs could win the bookmakers would collect a large amount. A pool was made up and an emissary sent to Benton. The "bribe offer" was indignantly refused, according to reports, and for protection Benton made a memorandum of the matter and reported it to the officials of his club.

The name of a Chicago player gradually become connected with the offer and it gained such wide circulation that the jurors felt an injustice would be done to this player unless Benton was given an opportunity to clear him. This is the principal reason for Benton's being called.

That in all probability no indictments will result from the investigation was admitted tonight by the authorities. If they can purge the game of any taint of scandal they will have accomplished a great deal, they say.

URGES LEGATION AT VATICAN

Dutch Foreign Minister Says That Changed Conditions Demand It.

THE HAGUE, Sept. 22.—Proposals that Holland maintain a legation at the Vatican were made by Jonkheer van Karnebeek, the Foreign Minister, in presenting estimates of his department before Parliament here today.

He said the reasons which led to the establishment of a temporary mission in Rome in 1915 were no longer applicable, now that peace had been restored. The abolition of Dutch representation at the Holy See would, he declared, be undesirable in the nation's interests, because the Vatican was becoming a more important centre for diplomatic communications and information.

Industrial Stocks Recede While Low-Priced Rails Advance—Erratic Grain Movements.

Trading in stocks yesterday contained a well-defined line of cleavage between industrial and railroad issues. The former, especially automobile, rubber, steel and petroleum shares, were under pressure throughout the session, the modest recovery toward the close of business being unable to overcome the declines which were pressed until well into the final hour. Declines ran from 1 to more than 3 points in prominent stocks. Bethlehem Steel Class B shares receded more sharply than companion issues, being sold heavily after news came unexpectedly that the company was negotiating with bankers for the sale of $20,000,000 7 per cent. bonds. The corporation needs new money to finance the building of ore-carrying steamships, and while plans to increase the funded debt was, as is usually the case, the signal for an attack upon the stock, a broader gauged reasoning of the situation would make allowance for the purpose of the loan, namely, to enable the borrower to increase its supplies of raw material on an economical basis. Outside of the fall of this stock, the market was shaped, in respect to the industrial shares, by rather depressing deductions from the Ford Motor Company's cut of prices. This, naturally, had chief bearing upon motor and tire company shares, but a collateral influence was seen in the reaction of steel stocks. The week's reviews of the steel trade mentioned indications of a hesitant attitude of buyers. As far as current production goes, however, surveys show much activity. The Iron Age states that October promises to figure again as a month of records.

The records of railroad share movements disclosed a purpose of the speculative element to uncover issues that held promise of rising without much activity. This sort of buying brought forward a number of relatively inactive stocks, mainly of the low-priced class, and at the same time these were being bid upward several other stocks of the same group, which had been strong last week, were lifted to higher levels than on Tuesday. The pressure against the industrial department was of the positive order, but it did not have a full offset in a general forward swing of the rails. The railroad share market continued to reflect hesitation and uncertainty among buyers, who evidently are waiting to be convinced that the carriers can advance consistently at a time when events show readjustment processes under way in regard to prices and turnovers in business. A perspective of railroad income under the increased freight and passenger rates has yet to be obtained from results in the first few months after the end of guaranteed revenue.

Call money remained at 7 per cent. and was reported in rather light demand. Borrowers of time funds, also, were not pressing into the market, for the impression prevails that lower rates will appear later on. Liberty bonds advanced in the morning but reacted slightly. In the afternoon, the final prices, however, showing a considerable improvement over last week's average levels.

The wheat and corn markets are moving too erratically these days to permit of the tracing of underlying causes. Yesterday December wheat, after selling down to a level more than 10 cents below the week's maximum quotation, turned about and left off with a rapidly-acquired net gain of 3¼ cents, to $2.36 per bushel. The range from lowest to highest prices was no less than 8 cents, while September corn, after selling at $1.22¾, a new low price for the year, rebounded to $1.35½ for a net gain on the day of 12¼ cents.

Sterling exchange moved upward 2 cents and francs were firm, but there was a further reaction in Norwegian and Danish rates which emphasized the unbalanced trade of these countries.

BETHLEHEM STEEL TO ISSUE $20,000,000

Syndicate Will Offer 15-Year Sinking Fund 7 Per Cent. Marine Bonds Today.

MAY BUILD MORE SHIPS

Securities Will Be Called Periodically from 18 Months' Time to Maturity.

A banking syndicate headed by the Guaranty Trust Company and the Bankers Trust Company will today offer an issue of $20,000,000 fifteen-year sinking fund 7 per cent. marine equipment trust bonds issued by the Bethlehem Steel Company at par and accrued interest. The two big trust companies will have associated with them in the transaction the Chase Securities Corporation and J. & W. Seligman & Co. The distributing syndicate will be composed of a majority of the leading banks and bond houses.

The new bond will be the joint obligation of the Bethlehem Steel Company and the Bethlehem Steel Shipbuilding Company, and it is expected they will be issued under the so-called Philadelphia plan.

The sinking fund arrangement provides that a portion of the bonds will be called for redemption periodically, beginning eighteen months after the date of issue and extending to maturity. The call price is to be 102½ per cent. of par, and because of this the issue price of par and interest makes the average yield to the investor about 7⅝ per cent.

The Bethlehem Steel Company has been conducting elaborate investigations into the shipping situation in all parts of the world for more than a year, and it is understood to have adopted an ambitious and comprehensive shipbuilding program. Whether there is to be additional financing in the near future or not is not known. The company has had its experts in many countries and has been receiving reports from these agents regularly.

Recently Charles M. Schwab, Chairman of the board of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, announced the perfection of a new type of oil-burning marine engine, which, he said, was expected to revolutionize the shipping industry.

Some time ago the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation filed a notice of a proposal to increase its capital from $15,500,000 to $25,000,000. There was never any explanation forthcoming from the Bethlehem Steel Corporation as to the reasons for the increase. Recently the Shipbuilding Corporation completed extensive improvements at Sparrow Point. Last April President Grace of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation said that all of the plants engaged in shipbuilding were then operating at capacity.

STEEL BUYING SLOW.

Trade Journal Says Tendency Is Toward an Easier Market.

Buyers continue to abstain from any heavy purchasing of steel, according to the Iron Age in its weekly survey of conditions. The tendency, it is asserted, is toward an easier market. In discussing the situation the publication says in part:

> Developments both inside and outside of the steel industry have encouraged buyers in their waiting attitude. The tendency toward an easier market is more apparent. While the election and the year end figure as turning points in some calculations, more general consideration is given to the larger aspects of the readjustment now under way in all lines.
> Output of pig iron and of steel products is increasing and October promises to figure again as a month of records. Both in the Pittsburgh and Chicago districts the Steel Corporation has added to the number of its active blast furnaces. At Chicago its steel ingot output is 85 per cent. of capacity.
> The railroad situation shows continued improvement and stocks at mills have been cut down—those of the American Sheet & Tin Plate Co. by 50 per cent. This freer movement of all forms of steel has eliminated a number of premium prices.
> Price changes are not well defined. There is evidence that 3c has not been the minimum independent price for mild steel bars, yet 3.25c and 3.50c business is still done. While the general tendency is for the higher prices on finished products to approach those of the Steel Corporation, one or two changes in the other direction are reported. Thus on cold rolled strip steel the minimum price now appears to be 6.25c, against 5.75c recently. In the Pittsburgh district the adjustment of some semi-finished steel contracts for the fourth quarter is reported to carry rates about $5 a ton above the minimum for the third quarter.

FRANCE TO PAY OFF $250,000,000 LOAN

$150,000,000 Has Already Been Shipped Here to Take Up Notes Due in October.

PARIS, Sept. 22.—France will pay every dollar of the $250,000,000 loan due in New York Oct. 15, M. Francois-Marsal, the Minister of Finance, officially announced to the Cabinet Council today.

This sum is France's share of the $500,000,000 Anglo-French loan floated in the United States during the war.

M. Francois-Marsal informed the Ministers that the French Treasury already had shipped to the United States $150,000,000 in gold and securities. He added that the success of the $100,000,000 loan contracted through J. P. Morgan & Co. would permit the picking up of all notes due Oct. 15.

Replying to a question submitted to him by a member of the Senate, M. Francois-Marshal said that the expenses incurred through the Rhine occupation were estimated at the end of March to have reached 18,000,000,000 francs. The amount paid by Germany on account was 13,083,000,000 marks by the end of July, the equivalent of 402,000,000 francs, he added.

New Graphophone Stock Listed.

The Committee on Stock List of the New York Stock Exchange yesterday approved the listing of an additional 60,492 shares of the common stock of the Columbia Graphophone Manufacturing Company. Authority was granted to add 18,000 additional shares on February 1, 1921. This will bring the total listed common up to 1,340,136 shares.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Money and Gold.

Those who believe that money and credit conditions are to be easier were much encouraged by the reports from London yesterday that some £5,000,000 to £6,000,000 new Transvaal gold will be available in the London open market within the next two weeks. The assumption in Wall Street was that the major portion of this new metal would be secured for American account, and that was the hope, if not actually the belief, of most people. However, it is possible that one or two other bidders may get a portion of this gold, and also it is not clear whether the amount mentioned will be the total amount coming up from South Africa or will be the portion of it offered in the London auction. But, at all events, it seems clear that there is at least a good chance of American bankers obtaining an unusually large sum through this channel, and just now everybody is talking about gold as the big factor, or one of the big factors, in the American credit situation.

Reserve Board Appointment.

The appointment of D. C. Wills of Cleveland to be a member of the Federal Reserve Board was one of the most favorably received in a long time. Mr. Wills is a veteran of the Federal Reserve system, having been associated with the Cleveland Reserve Bank since its organization, and leaves the position of Chairman of the Board of that institution to take up his new duties. Local bankers know him and yesterday there was a genuine feeling of pleasure at his elevation to his new post.

Scandinavian Finance.

Yesterday's severe break in Danish and Norwegian exchanges, a break which took the latter down to a 50 per cent. discount and the former to nearly as low a figure, served to revive the rumors of some local financing for the benefit of these two countries. Both of them, it has been reported on many occasions for the last year or two, have been conducting negotiations for loans here, but thus far nothing has come of them. Norway is receiving a big accommodation in London, but that does not give her dollars, and dollars are what she needs in this market. As for Denmark, that country has been supposed to be on the verge of closing with American bankers several times, but never yet has the official announcement been forthcoming, while there has been any number of denials.

Increased Car Loadings Desired.

While the goal set by the railroads of the country of a minimum average car movement of thirty miles a day for every freight car seemed large when it was announced about July 1, it has become increasingly plain that that goal moy be attained before the end of the year. Because of the rapid strides which have been made toward its accomplishment another aim of the railroads, to increase the average loading of cars to thirty tons a day, has to some extent been lost sight of. In urging that efforts be made to bring about such an average railroad executives assert that an average increase in the loadings of only one ton to every loaded car would be the equivalent of 80,000 new cars being added to the present car supply. In 1919 the average loading per car was 27.8 tons. If the carriers succeed in raising this average to thirty tons, it is estimated that the total ton mileage would be increased from 395,000,000 to 426,000,000 tons. And one of the best arguments that the carriers have for increased loadings is that this increase could be effected without any other handling of equipment that the handling involved in the increased load.

Shippers' Co-operation Necessary.

While the roads are doing what they can to bring about a realization of both the car loading figure and the car movement average they have agreed upon, it is admitted freely that very little progress can be made unless shippers co-operate. The roads can increase maximum loadings where they are in control of loadings, but the greatest improvement must come from the voluntary efforts of the shippers. Many of the roads have already made personal appeals to shippers along their lines, and it is the feeling that a large amount of educational work will be done in the near future showing the advisability of a more intensive use of existing equipment.

To Clean Up Details.

The Loaning Fund Committee of the Association of Railway Executives will meet next Wednesday at the association offices in New York. No formal announcement of the purpose of the meeting has been made public, but it is understood that the committee will probably clear up remaining details in connection with the recommendations it made to the Interstate Commerce Commission some time ago with regard to the $300,000,000 loaning fund provided in the Transportation Act. In some quarters dissatisfaction has been expressed with the manner in which the I. C. C. is certifying loans to be made to some of the carriers, and it has been stated more than once that the commission has checked the raising of new money by the roads by stipulating that new financing should not be done at interest rates above 7 per cent.

Market Irregular.

The stock market yesterday was irregular, the cut in the Central Leather dividend and the uncertainty in the automobile field, as a result of price-cutting by the Ford plants, making for a hesitancy in assuming the long side of the market. The professionals were on the bear side and hammered at prices during most of the day. The motors and steel were soft in consequence, but there was no excessive liquidation such as would cause a sharp break in prices. Considering the Ford news the motor shares held up rather better than had been expected, especially since they were the main targets for the short sellers. Some of the higher priced favorites of recent days eased off as the trading position shifted, but for the most part displayed no pronounced degree of weakness.

Bethlehem Steel Heavy.

Bethlehem Steel shares were under pressure during the latter part of the trading session. This was a reflection of the plan of the company to do new financing to the extent of $20,000,000 for the shipbuilding company. Apparently word as to this financing was known on the floor of the Exchange for a full hour before the information became general. In brokerage houses there was doubt for a time as to what was causing the weakness in Bethlehem, which was steadily slipping back. Vague rumors of new financing then began to make their appearance and eventually there was all but official confirmation of the rumors. Bethlehem B shares closed the day with a loss of some 3 points.

The Motor Situation.

There continues to be a high degree of interest as to the course which will be followed by the motor companies with reference to prices. It was agreed that the action of the Ford company in reducing prices might pave the way for general price reductions, but it was difficult to see how the manufacturers of the larger cars could follow the Ford example without taking heavy losses on materials now on hand. The steel and other products which are going into the cars now were purchased at the top of the market, and unless there has been the most wholesale profiteering there could not be price reductions without incurring losses on inventory, or at least a loss of profits. Whatever may be the outcome, there were few to be found yesterday who did not consider that the bloom was temporarily off the auto industry.

Many of the uncertainties which affected railroad bond prices until recently have disappeared. As a result, the trend of prices has since been upward.

Seasoned issues of the highest grade can still be purchased at an unusually low level with a correspondingly high yield.

ASSAILS HARDING'S RAIL LAW READING

Plumb Declares the Senator Must Have Voted for the Bill Without Studying It.

SAYS HE SHOWS UNFITNESS

Originator of the Plumb Plan Taxes the Senator with Ignorance or Misrepresentation.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Challenging the accuracy of statements made by Senator Harding dealing with the railroad issues dealt with in the Esch-Cummins act, Glenn E. Plumb, father of the so-called "Plumb Plan" for nationalization of American railroads, authorized a statement tonight in which he seeks to show that Senator Harding's construction of the bill is directly at variance with that of Senator Cummins and Representative Esch, the joint authors of the law.

The statement issued by Mr. Plumb quotes the Marion Star of Sept. 14, in which was printed the full text of Senator Harding's speech, delivered on Sept. 13.

"This address," Mr. Plumb asserts, "coming from a member of the United States Senate who voted for the Cummins-Esch law and upon whom has been conferred by his fellow members in the Senate the honor of representing the Republican Party before the American people as its candidate for President, is so full of direct perversions of the truth that I cannot permit it to pass unchallenged."

Senator Harding's statement that "It (the Cummins-Esch law) did not provide for the permanent guarantee of dividends on railway capital," is replied to by Mr. Plumb with quotations from speeches of Esch and Cummins, and he adds:

"Senator Harding's construction of the bill is directly at variance with the admissions of the two men who are charged with the responsibility of its authorship.

"Treating now his statement that it (the Cummins-Esch law) places a limit on these dividends," the Plumb statement said, "one would infer, and he evidently intended to have it inferred, that the bill limited the amount of dividends to be received, so that they should not exceed the limit fixed. On the contrary, there is no upward limit to the dividends that might be received, but a downward limit below which receipts might not fail. * * * The only limitation upon earnings of dividends which the bill imposes is the limitation that net earnings shall be not less than 6 per cent. yearly.

"Senator Harding's next statement is: 'It (the Cummins-Esch law) provides for the maintenance of rates for a period of six months which would guarantee a sufficient railway earning to make possible the financing of necessary railway improvements under the control of their owners.'

"This statement is pure fiction. The Government guarantees to pay out of the Treasury of the United States to each carrier whatever dividends it failed to earn under existing rates during the six months' period so that its net income for that six months would be equal to the compensation allowed it by the Government for the same period under Government control. This was not a fixing of rates which would guarantee these earnings, but was a guaranty of income to be paid out of the Treasury of the United States to make good the amount which the rates would not earn.

"Senator Harding's next statement is: But this guaranty of 5½ per cent. not earning was limited to the period of transition of six months.'

"The bill says: 'Provided, that during the two years beginning March 1, 1920, the commission shall take as such fair return a sum equal to 5½ per centum of such aggregate value.' But may add one-half of 1 per centum thereto in its discretion.

"Senator Harding voted for this bill. I cannot conceive that he did not study the bill and did not know the truth as to its provisions. Yet if he thought the bill was subject to the construction he placed upon it he cannot have read the bill. He says in his speech, 'No law of like importance ever was so speedily enacted.' It must have been enacted with such speed that he did not know its provisions, and now justifies his action by representing the bill to be that which he thought he voted for. Such ignorance of its true provisions conclusively reveals his incompetence as a legislator. On the other hand, if he knew the provisions of the bill and now misrepresents its provisions to the trusting American people he has proved himself unworthy of that confidence which the citizens of a great republic should be warranted in reposing in a candidate for the high office of President."

Arranges for 5-Cent Apples.

Market Commissioner Edward J. O'Malley has arranged for sales of New York State apples at 5 cents a pound through the New York Fruit and Vegetable Distributors, Inc., Old Webber Market, 120th Street and Third Avenue. The apples will be retailed through 1,500 Manhattan merchants, most of them chain stores. Surveys show the State apple crop this year will reach 5,000,000 barrels, while the production of adjoining States tributary to this market will aggregate 15,000,000 barrels.

Closed Mortgage Bonds

The increase in rates recently granted will permit the financing of a number of railroad projects which it has been impossible to undertake as a result of poor credit.

As future railroad financing must be done with refunding issues, the old line closed mortgage bonds are in a position of greater strength than ever

With the increasing equity in back of this class of security, it is evident that the demand from the conservative investor will absorb the available supply and the "Old Line" bonds will gradually disappear from the market.

REPORT CONDITIONS BETTER IN MEXICO

Bank Representative and Mining Man Impressed by Efforts to Solve Problems.

BANDITRY NOW ELIMINATED

Widespread Strikes Due to Bolshevist Activities Being Settled by Peaceful Means.

Improved conditions in Mexico are reported by two men who have been recently making a study of the situation.

Joseph W. Rowe, a representative of the Irving National Bank in Mexico City, says that notwithstanding traces of Bolshevism in certain parts of the country banditry has been eliminated under the new Administration. He considers, however, that conditions for commercial activity are still unfavorable, due to the lack of adequate transportation facilities.

John R. Hall of Knauth, Nachod & Kuhne, who has just returned from an inspection of the mines of the Alvarado Mining and Milling Company in Chihuahua, says he was impressed with the serious desire which prevailed in the minds of the members of the Administration for quiet and effective action in solving the difficult problems which confront the country. There is evidently a desire, he says, to so administer affairs as to give courage to those seeking investment and protection to investments when made.

"It is safe to say," says Mr. Rowe in a letter to the Irving National Bank, "that at no time since 1910 have political conditions been so satisfactory in Mexico.

Robbing of Banks Stopped.

"Robbing of banks practically has been stopped. Passenger trains are running on regular schedule without military escorts. With the elimination of Francisco Villa and the forced retirement of Pablo Gonzalez from the military arena there is a general feeling of optimism so far as the political situation is concerned.

"The worst factor in the present situation, and one concerning which complaint is heard in all quarters, arises from inadequate transportation facilities. I have been repeatedly told that it takes twice as long today to get a freight car and costs twice as much in effort spent and in 'gratificaciones' as it did in the worst days of Carranza. Unfortunately this situation seems to be growing from bad to worse.

"Until lately strikes, broad in scope and Bolshevist in character, have been causing great concern. General strikes have occurred in Vera Cruz and Tampico. Not only in these cities but throughout the country more or less peaceful settlements have been effected through the firm stands taken by employers, most of whom represent foreign capital.

"From the commercial viewpoint, the cities through which I have just traveled, with the exception of Tampico, are very quiet and show little improvement. Merchants everywhere complain of their inability to obtain merchandise and of the bad transportation facilities. It is my conviction that there is more business being transacted, more commercial movement in point of volume, more progress and more real improvements being effected in Tampico and the surrounding oil fields than in all the rest of the Republic. The great part of this is in the form of fixed capital—pipe lines, leading terminals, tank farms and construction of all kinds. In July Tampico reached the high peak of oil exportation, more than 12,000,000 barrels being shipped."

Alvarado Increases Capacity.

The mines of the Alvarado Mining and Milling Company have been little affected by the revolutionary outbreaks which began in 1911, according to Mr. Hall. All of the mining plants in the Parral District of Chihuahua are operating on a normal basis and certain of them, including Alvarado and American Smelting and Refining, are expected shortly to complete the installation of considerably increased capacity. Of general conditions Mr. Hall says:

"Until the new government has tested its plans to rectify the present conditions it will be difficult to determine the effectiveness of the new Administration or the rapidity with which the economic and political reconstruction of the country can be brought back. With impetus given to the development of the exceedingly extensive and rich natural resources of the country, it would seem that the revenues, if properly administered under an honest, economical and wise government, can, without serious burden to the people, be made ample for the needs of a growing and prosperous country. The first steps to be taken before the government can expect to secure much financial assistance for its public works, its railroads, &c., must, naturally, be those calculated to put its internal affairs in good working order, and to provide for the payment of its external obligations. With these things done, confidence in the future of Mexico should be strengthened."

WON'T MEET FORD CUT.

Agencies Here Do Not Look for Price Reductions Now.

The announcement by the Ford Motor Company of Detroit of a radical price reduction in its motor vehicles, ranging from 25 to 31 per cent. on its passenger cars, aroused a flurry of interest along the Broadway automobile row yesterday. In the absence from the city of the Directors of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, none of the distributing agencies could give any authoritative statement regarding a probable reduction on other makes of cars. The general inference was that no reductions can be expected until after the national show in this city during the first week of January. Several well-known makes of cars have advanced their prices within the last few weeks, and until the recent action by the Ford company the tendency seemed toward a continuance of the present level of prices, with possibly a few added increases until after next Spring.

There was a steady swarm of buyers to the Ford building, on Broadway, and it was said last night that 500 cars, all that are available for immediate delivery in this territory, were sold during the day. Additional supplies are expected within the next two weeks. A large proportion of the 500 cars sold were sedans. The new price is $868.49, and for open touring cars $571.73. The old price was $714.

FEDERAL CONTROL PLANNED

Government Operation of Lighting and Street Railways Sought in Mexico.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 22.—Plans by which the Government would take over the Mexican Light and Power Company and the Mexico City Street Railways will soon be laid before either the President or Congress, it was announced by the Treasury Department last night. Both are foreign concerns, the former supplying the Mexican capital and several large cities on the Central Plateau with electricity.

The scheme under consideration contemplates the issue of bonds by the Government to pay the stockholders, the bonds being retired later by the profits of the companies.

Ford Canadian Plant Cuts Prices.

WINDSOR, Ontario, Sept. 22.—Price reductions by the Ford Motor Company of Canada, proportionate to those announced yesterday by Henry Ford for the company in the United States, were announced today by Gordon McGregor, President of the Canadian company. Mr. McGregor said there would be no reduction in the wages of the Canadian company's 4,500 employes. He added that his company expected to produce 60,000 cars this year, and that it had sufficient raw material on hand to last until next Spring.

SAYS TAX REVISION IS FIRST NECESSITY

Otto H. Kahn Declares Present Taxation Flies in the Face of Common Sense.

CITES HOUSING SITUATION

Tells Dayton Business Men Only a New System Will Reduce High Living Costs.

DAYTON, Ohio, Sept. 22.—In an address on taxation before the Chamber of Commerce here today Otto H. Kahn of New York declared that existing taxation measures "fly in the face of economic science, of common sense and of equity." He pointed to the acute housing situation throughout the country as a conspicuous example of the effect of taxation in stifling enterprise and preventing capital from accomplishing its normal function. He held that no remedy for the high cost of living could be effective unless it included "a wise and courageous revision of our existing taxation system."

Among other things, Mr. Kahn said:

"Our existing taxation measures are cumbersome, vexatious and almost incredibly complex. They bear the imprint of class and sectional discrimination. They penalize thrift and industry, and leave the wastrel and shirker untouched. They discourage, disturb and impede business and place the American business man at a disadvantage as against his European competitor.

"At a time when America is aiming to become a world centre, they deter foreign capital from coming here. They tend to curtail production. They are a strong contributing factor in bringing about the prevailing high level of prices—a grave and serious evil which can and must be mitigated, a grievous burden particularly upon those men and women who live on moderate salaries and who are all the more entitled to sympathy and redress, as they have borne their troubles with great patience and a noteworthy absence of importunate agitation.

Effect on the Country.

"It may be said: 'Well, supposing a man with a very large income is made to pay up to three-quarters of it in taxes. He still has plenty left.' But that is not the point. The point is not what happens to the rich man—he can protect himself—but what is the effect on the country? Capital for business or for corporate investments is a necessity for the upkeep and expansion of trade and industry. And it is out of annual savings of the individual, after meeting living expenses and taxes, that the means are provided for that necessity.

"Excessive surtaxes accomplish double harm: They greatly diminish the incentive to thrift, and they appropriate to an undue extent the means which ought to be available for industry and enterprise. And those means are more than ever needed at present, first, because the world is urgently in need of increased production after nearly five years of underproduction during the war, and, secondly, because merely to do the same volume of business as before the war a great deal more capital is required nowadays, owing to the largely increased cost of labor and materials.

"Perhaps the most conspicuous example of the effect of our taxation in stifling enterprise and preventing capital from accomplishing its normal and necessary function, is seen in the acute housing situation throughout the country."

Mr. Kahn quoted statistics to show the withdrawal from mortgage investments of $83,000,000 in Manhattan Borough in the first six months of 1920, or at the rate of over $165,000,000 a year. In seeking a remedy, he said, a widespread demand had been expressed for the freeing of mortgages for construction of private dwellings from State and Federal income taxes.

Sees Cure Only in Revision.

"Moreover," Mr. Kahn continued, "what is true of the housing situation is true of every other situation, only in other cases the result is not so plainly discernible and not so directly felt by the people. Precisely the same thing which faulty taxation has so largely brought about in stopping building, by discouraging and laming enterprise and making money hard to obtain or not obtainable at all, it has accomplished in a greater or lesser degree in every other field of industrical activity. And the cure is not the haphazard removal of all taxation where clumsily applied taxation presses upon a particularly sensitive spot, as in the case of the housing situation, but to bring about wisely remedial treatment for the whole economic body of the nation.

"I am convinced no remedy for the high cost of living, and the other abnormal conditions which are weighing upon the country, can be effective, which does not include a wise and courageous revision of our existing taxation system.

"It is quite true that even with strict economy in Government expenditures, the burden of taxation must necessarily be considerable for years to come. But every one who has ever had to carry a heavy load knows that the secret of carrying it with relative ease, lies in the way in which it is adjusted. Our tax burden is grossly maladjusted.

"By rearranging it we can vastly lighten the pressure of the load upon the backs of the people and particularly of the so-called middle classes, on whom it now rests with especial and most regrettable heaviness because they are not in a position, generally speaking, to make their compensation keep pace with the mounting costs of living. And among the principal causes for those mounting costs is our faulty taxation."

BREAK IN COTTON AS STORM VANISHES

Drop Follows Two Days of Advances Based on Weather Prediction.

LOSSES OF 80 TO 145 POINTS

Local and Southern Trade and New York Speculators Conspicuous in General Selling.

The great tropical storm failed to materialize. The cotton trade, both here and in the South, had had reports for the two previous days of this impending storm, but all that came if it was heavy rains over some of the Gulf territory, and yesterday, instead of a further advance in prices, there was a bad break. The selling movement was very general, starting with some big Southern orders and gaining great headway when the local operators joined in the movement. By mid-afternoon, when the worst of the break was reached, prices were down 80 to 145 points, the most severe loss occurring in the October option.

The market started quietly. Overnight reports had failed to disclose any great damage from the storm which was supposed to be heading in for the Gulf Coast, and subsequent reports showed that the storm probably never was in being and that all the Gulf ports were receiving was hard rain. Galveston and New Orleans had had storms, but not of the kind which might be expected to do any very serious damage to the crop.

On the reports, as well as because of the very favorable weekly weather report put out by the Government, the market started to break and the low levels referred to above were realized. While the big selling was on it looked as if all interests in the market had turned sellers. The local and Southern trade sold and the big local speculators, many of whom had covered short contracts the day before, also were conspicuous.

The Liverpool market was quiet throughout and closed at declines of about 20 to 30 points for the day.

Yesterday's quotations follow:

WHEAT MARKET INCREASES.

Big Export Business Leads to Increase of 3½ to 4½ Cents.

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Big export business in wheat led to sharp upturns today in the wheat market. Foreign buying of corn was also noted. Wheat closed strong, 3½c. to 4½c. net higher, with December $2.36⅛ to $2.36¼ and March $2.30. Corn finished unchanged to 12⅜c. up, and oats gained ⅜c. to ⅝c. In provisions the outcome ranged from 2c. decline to 30c. advance.

Estimates of the amount of wheat taken for Europe during the last twenty-four hours ran as high as 5,000,000 bushels, and bulls had things nearly their own way after the announcement. Earlier, however, the market showed weakness owing to continued heavy receipts at Winnipeg and to slashing of prices of automobiles and cotton. On the other hand, a sudden jump of 18¾c. in the rye market tended to increase the late strength of wheat.

Does Financial Advertising in Magazines Pay?

THE MERCANTILE TRUST COMPANY of St. Louis recently sent a questionnaire to leading investment banking houses. Its Mortgage and Bond Department officers were uncertain whether their magazine advertising was a profitable investment or not. Acting upon the advice of John Ring Jr., of St. Louis, they decided upon a survey among those bankers who have been consistent users of magazine advertising

Fourteen investment houses answered their questionnaire. Some have been using magazine advertising for from five to twenty years.

Here is a tabulation of their replies to two important questions:

	HAS NATIONAL ADVERTISING PRODUCED RESULTS FOR YOU?	IS IT YOUR PURPOSE TO CONTINUE SUCH ADVERTISING?
First Investment House	Yes	Yes
Second Investment House	Yes	Yes
Third Investment House	Yes	Yes
Fourth Investment House	Difficult to trace	Yes
Fifth Investment House	Yes	Yes
Sixth Investment House	Yes	Yes
Seventh Investment House	Yes	Yes
Eighth Investment House	Not commensurate with cost	Yes
Ninth Investment House	Yes	Yes
Tenth Investment House	Little or no result	Yes
Eleventh Investment House	Yes	Yes
Twelfth Investment House	Yes	Yes
Thirteenth Investment House	Yes	Yes
Fourteenth Investment House	Yes	Yes

Eleven of these fourteen houses said national advertising pays. One, which has used magazine advertising in its sales work for more than ten years, added that "it is highly productive." Another, with six years' experience, said magazine advertising had made it "nationally known" and brought it "many inquiries" and "many new customers." All these fourteen advertisers realize the twofold purpose of magazine advertising: (1) to make them nationally known; and (2) to add new customers to their lists. And they know that to be effective such advertising must be continuous.

On that basis, financial advertising in magazines of the right character pays and pays well.

The Quality Group (Atlantic Monthly, Century Magazine, Harper's Magazine, Review of Reviews, Scribner's Magazine, and The World's Work) carried 52% of the financial advertising published in all general magazines last year.

All of the fourteen investment houses included in this survey (the Mercantile Trust Company of St. Louis also) are users of Quality Group magazines.

Reputable Investment Bankers who are interested in the methods followed by these advertisers in making their magazine advertising pay and who are interested in the service rendered by these magazines are invited to communicate with

MAN to MAN

There is no mystery in successful financial advertising. Unfortunately, too many advertisers are indifferent about their results—they are too easily satisfied and are not securing all they should or can.

If you will analyze carefully just what you have to offer or sell—if you will decide on what class of customers you desire, the best appeal to make and the methods of making this appeal—if you will order a single line of advertising you will have a basis for a successful campaign, without waste. Persistently and consistently executed — results must come in generous proportions.

Well laid plans—hard work on the part of the advertiser—and intensive service and cooperation in research and investigation as well as in preparation of copy on our part—form a combination that has made many an advertising campaign pay. Let us consult with you. No obligation.

Some Gray Goods Were Sold.

In spite of the trade-retarding effects of the Jewish holidays a fair amount of business was done in the local gray goods market yesterday. Sales were again confined to spot and "quick" deliveries, the printcloth business, including 39-inch 68-72s at 16 cents, 38½-inch 64-60s at 15 cents, 38½-inch 60-48s at 12 cents and 27-inch 56-52s at 9 cents. Sheetings were rather quiet during the day, but there was some movement of fine-yarn cloths. In the 40-inch combed lawns, for instance, business was done on 88-80, 8.50s at 24 cents and on 72-68, 9.50s at 20 cents.

Kind of Novelties Wanted.

While there exists a good opportunity for the sale of novelties in clothing and garments, retailers are said to be rather particular concerning the character of the new offering. There is a distinct preference for something that does not conflict with such merchandise as is carried in stock, because the dealer does not want to jeopardize his chances for selling his surplus by carrying an article which puts the older merchandise in an unfavorable light. For this reason it is said that the dress accessory line offers the best results, because there is no conflict between the old and the new.

Bouffant Effects Foreseen.

Although the slim line silhoutte has a strong hold on present fashions, some dress authorities believe the zenith of its popularity has been reached and that bouffant effects will attain style supremacy. The development is first expected in evening gowns, and then will be passed along to dresses and frocks. In support of this theory it is pointed out that while the slim line designs are exceptionally attractive not all women can wear them. In fact, the style is suitable to only a few. For this reason the fashion pendulum is expected to swing in the opposite direction to a very full hip line treatment.

Woolen Buyers Will Come Again.

Woolen buyers who were confused by the numerous price revisions made after the opening have left the market temporarily to return next week. By that time they feel the price situation will be clearer and more settled. Buyers also desire to see what action is taken, or what sentiment crops up, at the convention of retailers being held at Chicago. The results of this meeting will give some indication, it is felt, of the view retailers take of the merchandise situation. Price revisions continue to be made in the woolen market, and the effort is being made to obtain as wide a distribution of sample goods as possible.

New Types of Sailors Seen.

Among the later offerings in the local millinery trade are a number of new and distinctive types of hatters' plush and zibiline sailors for sports wear. Many of them are especially designed for wear with a riding habit and are very smart. They are seen in all the newest shapes, and the colors include brown, black and beaver. Soft velvet hats, most of them self-trimmed or ornamented only with tailored bows of ribbons, are also on display here. In some of the self-trimmed hats the velvet is only draped, while in others it is fashioned into petals to make the crowns or brims. Corded velvet is also seen on hats of the type mentioned.

Better Feeling in Silks.

During the last two weeks a better feeling is said to have developed in broad silks, and lately buyers have reached the decision that values now offered in the market are at rock bottom. A quiet business has been passing, but sufficient in some instances to mean the withdrawal of certain numbers. One of the leading houses just recently withdrew its line of crepe de chine, and previously stopped further sales on certain satin and taffeta constructions. It is the sentiment in the wholesale market that bottom prices were reached in June and that from now on, except for offerings from financially embarrassed quarters, values will show greater strength.

Another Era of Sales at Hand?

The prediction was made here yesterday by a merchant who has given considerable study to retail conditions that the not distant future will see another era of special sales. These, he asserts, will not represent such marked decreases in prices to the consumer as many of those held last Spring, nor will the motive be quite the same. Then, in the case of many stores, it was a life or death matter, financially speaking, to get merchandise moving, whereas the predicted sales will be more for the purpose of maintaining volume. With prices lower than they were a year ago this time, he explains, but yet not low enough to permit the average person to make two purchases in place of one at regular prices, some way will have to be found of encouraging the second purchase in order to "beat last year." This is usually done via the special sale route, hence the prediction.

A Wasted Argument.

The argument heard from wholesale clothiers that prices can be no lower for the present Fall, and only slightly lower for next Spring, is wasted on clothing retailers. Many of them report having been quoted "special" prices on Fall lines and find no trouble in driving good bargains for the little Fall merchandise they are taking. There has been no open price break among the manufacturers, but the quiet reductions offered are said to be very numerous. It is thought that the price guarantee on suits to Nov. 1 and overcoats to Dec. 1 may be one reason why no general deductions have been made, because, if the price cut were general, it would apply to everything that has been shipped for the season.

Opinions on Buying Divided.

Opinions in the local dry goods trade do not seem to jibe at the moment in regard to the amount of buying of colored cotton goods that is now being done here as a result of the recent sharp cuts in prices. The best evidence appears to be that the reductions on different goods of practically the same quality—brands which are usually quoted at similar prices—have not been equal, with the result that a condition of uncertainty has been created in the minds of many large buyers as to whether the new figures represent "rock bottom" or whether the appearance of selling competition on the part of first hands for the first time in several years means that cautious buying will bring additional cuts. It further appears that jobbers who have made a practice of featuring particular brands have bought those goods well at the declines, but that those who carry a more diversified line of trade marks are making haste slowly.

Pickling Helps Drug Demand.

The crude drug market is more active, Drug and Chemical Markets will say today, especially seeds, herbs and mustards, which are in demand for pickling purposes. Foreign botanical drugs, however, continue to decline. Pressure to sell is evident on the part of second hands in the market for heavy chemicals. The general tone of the market is weak, with no demand, although bleaching powder is still scarce and quoted higher. In the fine chemical market price shading is still evident, but, as much of the stuff recently sold is now held in stronger hands, there is thought to be a good chance of firmer prices in the near future. Prices of essential oils seem to have reached bottom, while buyers of vegetable oils are bidding more freely for supplies. Naphthaline is the feature of the dye market, largely due to the irregularity of quotations as between producers and second hands.

CO-OPERATIVE SALE.

Tenant Syndicate Buys Hendrick Hudson Annex Apartment.

The sale of the Hendrik Hudson Annex apartment house to a syndicate of co-operative tenants was announced yesterday by Max N. Natanson. The building is twelve stories in height, occupying a large plot at the northwest corner of Broadway and 110th Street, 90 feet on the former by 175 feet on the street. Nassoit & Lanning acted as brokers. They arranged the co-operative plan of purchase and all details. The structure contains fifty-eight apartments and five stores. The co-operative syndicate consists of fourteen individuals, who have purchased thirteen apartments and one store.

This completes the sale of all the property at this location owned by Mr. Natanson, as Nassoit & Lanning, a few months ago consummated the sale of the Hendrik Hudson on the block front at Riverside Drive, between 110th and 111th Streets, also sold on the co-operative plan.

The attorneys were Walter M. Wechsler and Alexander S. Natanson on behalf of Mr. Natanson, and Frayer & Alden represented the purchasing syndicate.

HYLAN FOR WELFARE MOVE.

Catholic, Protestant and Jewish Co-operation Praised by Mayor.

Mayor Hylan issued a statement yesterday extolling the plan to hold a co-operative conference on public welfare at the Hotel Pennsylvania, Wednesday evening, Sept. 29, at which representatives of Catholic, Protestant and Jewish institutions will offer suggestions for a co-operative spirit in ministering to the needs of the sick and friendless of New York City. The Mayor said:

"This will be the first conference of its kind where the different faiths will participate and express their ideas upon the advantages of co-ordinating and thereby avoiding duplication of work in charitable activities.

"My attention has been called to a great deal of overlapping in charitable work, which gives reason to believe that at no time was there a greater need for the interchange of ideas than at the present, toward the end that the sick, aged and friendless will materially gain by such conference.

"We are looking forward to a great deal of good coming from this meeting and are hopeful that all agencies will be well represented on this occasion.

"I am also happy to announce that we have succeeded in getting the consent of representative men of all faiths to be present, who will express their views and dwell upon the advantages to be derived from the co-operation and co-ordination of activities of the different private and public agencies.

"The Department of Public Welfare spends a goodly portion of the city's funds in ministering to the needs of the poor, sick and friendless, and at this conference the public at large will be made familiar with the manner in which this money is expended. Suggestions will be solicited from the private agencies who are co-operating with this department."

BUSINESS SALE IN SWAMP CENTRE

Five-Story Loft Purchased on Pearl Street Adjoining Ferry Street Corner.

MANY RECENT DEALS THERE

New Company to Take Over Twenty-seventh Street Loft—Washington Street Buyer.

Lower New York in the Swamp leather district furnished another element of activity yesterday to the numerous sales which have recently made that section one of the busy realty centres of the city. The five-story loft structure at 315 Pearl Street, covering a lot 20 by 100 feet, adjoining the northwest corner of Ferry Street, was purchased by Fatt Brothers from the Preferred Real Estate Company of which James W. McCulloch is President and Harry Hall, Treasurer. The property was held at $35,000 and it was sold through the agency of the Charles F. Noyes Company.

The latter company recently sold the adjoining parcel at 317 Pearl Street for the same sellers to Richard S. Elliott and negotiations, it is learned, are pending for a resale. One of the big improvements in that locality which has attracted interest to the vicinity is the fifteen-story business building now under construction on the southeast corner of Frankfort and Gold Street by Lewis G. Robertson and associates, the plot having originally been sold through the Noyes concern for the United States Central Leather Company. On the adjoining plot at 92 to 96 Gold Street a six-story building is being erected by Lewis Goldstein. A week ago the southwest corner of Frankfoot and Pearl Streets, being 339 and 341 Pearl Street, a six-story building, was purchased by Norman S. Riesenfeld.

Other business properties which add to the realty interest of the day included parcels in Washington and Twenty-seventh Streets. At 373 Washington Street a five-story building on plot 27 by 70 feet was purchased by Daniel F. Farrell from the New Rochelle Trust Company as executor. The consideration was $30,000.

The midtown deal was at 48 West Twenty-seventh Street, occupied by a seven-story loft on lot 22 by 98.9 feet. It is about to be taken over by the 48 West Twenty-seventh Street Realty Company from Israel Mandelbaum. Directors of the new owning concern are L. Schwartz, A. Taig and M. Brotman.

SAVOY THEATRE LEASED.

Lessee Also Secures Option to Purchase at $650,000.

Frank J. Farrell has leased to Walter Reades for a term of eleven years the Savoy Theatre at 112 West Thirty-fourth Street, running through the block to 109-111 West Thirty-third Street. The lease also carries an option of purchase at $650,000. The lease calls for an annual rental of $50,000. The Savoy is a four-story structure with offices and stands on a plot fronting 18 feet on Thirty-fourth Street and 50 feet on Thirty-third Street, with a depth of 197.6 feet, adjoins the Childs Building and the Saks Department Store and is separated by a 25-foot parcel from the Herald Square Hotel. Extensive alterations will be made to the building and several stores may be added.

The Burling Realty Company sold the three-story and basement brick dwelling, on a lot 20 by 100, at 122 Duffield Street, facing Flatbush Avenue Extension, for the Mauray Realty Company to a client for occupancy; also the three-story brick store and dwellings located at 1,190 and 1,192 Broadway for the Glennon estate to a client for investment.

The Bulkley & Horton Company sold 882 Sterling Place, a two-story brick one-family dwelling on a lot 18.9 by 100, for William J. Struess to a client for occupancy.

Bronx Auction Today.

Two of the largest remaining estates in the Eastern section of the Bronx that have been held for a century will be sold today in the Vesey Street auction room by Joseph P. Day.

One sale involves the Henry A. Coster estate on East Tremont Avenue, including the Coster homestead, which is to be sold as a whole, together with ninety-three lots. The remaining 250 Coster lots are on East Tremont Avenue, Eastern Boulevard, Edison, Hollywood, Barkley, Otis and Logan Avenues, Green and Sommer Places, near the Westchester Country Club. JACKSON HEIGHTS
And the Heart of New York

THE heart and centre of Greater New York is Broadway and 42nd Street, from which pivotal point, within a radius of six miles North and East, lies all of Manhattan South of 166th Street, and Queens West of Jackson Heights. All other sections of New York lie outside this magic quarter circle, with a large part of upper Manhattan less directly accessible than is the new Jackson Heights apartment community, located at right angles to 42nd Street and Broadway, and directly East of the City's most important department store, hotel, theatre, railroad terminal and uptown business centres.

This is the section of Queens into which the funds of the most prominent lending institutions are flowing, and toward which the public are turning for relief from the exigencies of the present acute housing situation.

Jackson Heights, an area of 100 city blocks, lying North, East and West of the 25th Street station on the Queensboro subway, 22 minutes from the Grand Central subway station, is the foremost apartment colony of selected tenant-owners in the City of New York. It is a restricted community where more than $4,000,000 already has been expended on physical improvements; where apartments for more than 1,000 congenial and selected families have been erected; where hundreds of families have purchased and now own co-operative apartments; where a golf course, tennis courts, children's playgrounds, gardens, etc., are features of the community.

A limited number of new four, five and six room housekeeping suites, in ultra-modern, garden apartment houses are available now, under the Jackson Heights plan of co-operative ownership, to selected tenants at present paying $100 to $200 rent monthly.

The Queensboro Corporation
Manhattan Office: 50 East 42d St.

The Travels of a Dr. A. Reed Shoe

I'm off with a newspaper reporter on an assignment. He flies up a stairway 3 steps at a time; darts down a long dark hall; climbs up 3 stories on a rickety fire-escape, and after standing for two hours in a puddle of water he finishes his story of the big tenement fire.

When he ran and when he walked I gave him ease and comfort, and when he stood, my cushion soles made him forget the hours, and pay all attention to his work.

I can give this same relief to all others.

LOVE AND DIVORCE MARK REALTY SUIT

Woman Seeking $100,000 Brings in Marital Troubles of Alleged Rival's Admirer.

GIFT HOUSE IS TIED UP

Justice Lehman Refuses to Vacate Attachment on Property in Girl's Name.

Allegations that George H. Whaley, President of John Campbell & Co., dyes, 75 Hudson Street, induced his wife to divorce him because he was infatuated with his stenographer, Miss May M. Croke, were made in the Supreme Court yesterday by Mrs. Effie Elizabeth Jacobs, who is suing Miss Croke for $100,000 damages, charging alienation of the affections of her husband, Monte F. Jacobs. When Mrs. Jacobs filed her suit on July 3 she got an attachment against the house at 301 West Eighty-eighth Street, at West End Avenue, on the ground that Miss Croke was the owner. At that time Mrs. Jacobs said the house had been given to Miss Croke by an admirer who employed her, and that after giving Miss Croke a month's vacation in 1919 and supplying her with funds, Miss Croke spent part of the money on Jacobs and was with him part of the time.

Mr. Whaley did not appear by name in the tangled case until yesterday when he asked Judge Lehman to vacate the attachment against the house, stating that he was the agent and attorney in fact for Mrs. Ina Campbell, now living at Santa Barbara, Cal. Mr. Whaley said he bought the property for Mrs. Campbell as her agent in 1917 by paying $10,000 in cash and giving in exchange the property at 162 West 132d Street. The title was taken in the name of Miss Croke for convenience, he said, and on the same day the latter conveyed the property to Mrs. Campbell, but this deed was not recorded until July 10 last, a few days after the attachment was levied against the house.

In opposing the application Mrs. Jacobs said that before she brought her suit against Miss Croke she called on a number of persons to learn what grounds she had for the action, and among them was Mr. Whaley. He told her, she said, that Miss Croke had been in his employ three years, that their acquaintance had ripened into affection. She said Mr. Whaley told her he agreed with Miss Croke that he would have his wife divorce him and they would wed.

Mrs. Jacobs said that Mr. Whaley told her he gave Miss Croke a $2,200 diamond engagement ring when she returned from her vacation last Fall and that he said when he first put the house in the name of Miss Croke that she would have only temporary possesion, but later said she could keep it, because he didn't want to hold any property in his name on account of domestic difficulties.

Mr. Whaley told Mrs. Jacobs, she said, that he learned Miss Croke had associated with other men and he employed detectives to shadow her, and their reports showed that "May M. Croke was in the company of my husband, Monte F. Jacobs, and was using the money Mr. Whaley gave her upon the said Monte F. Jacobs." Mrs. Jacobs said Mr. Whaley instructed the detectives to give her the evidence they had and on it she based her alienation suit.

In refusing to vacate the attachment Justice Lehman said:

"The petitioner (Mrs. Campbell) has only herself to blame for her failure to put the deed on record, and I know of no authority which would enable her to appear in an action to which she is not a party and compel the plaintiff to show even before judgment that the defendant not only held record title but legal title to the attached property."

Mr. Whaley now lives at the Hotel Breslin. Before he was divorced he lived at 229 West 105th Street.

To Testify Before Trial.

Surrogate Foley signed an order yesterday directing John A. Lewis of the Murray Hill Hotel to testify before trial in a suit brought by Herbert D. Lewis of 270 Riverside Drive to break the will of Rosetta L. Hodgman, his aunt, who died Dec. 16, 1918, giving her entire estate to John A. Lewis, her brother. The nephew contends that his aunt lived in seclusion for years; that she was under the constant care of nurses and physicians, and that she executed the will as the result of undue influence by her brother.
